Expansion Plan for $30 Million

Past and Future of New Paltz College Topic at Ceremonies

Representatives of local government, various organizations, members of the student body, faculty and administration on Wednesday heard elaborate details and reports of a $30 million State University of New York's expansion program planned for its college at New Paltz.

A master plan luncheon at 12:30 p. m. in Parker Dining hall, at which several state and local executives spoke of the past and future of the college at New Paltz, was followed by convocation ceremonies presided over by William J. Haggerty, college president.

The event yesterday opened five days of activities in recognition of the recent expansion and future growth of the college.

Main Speakers

Main speakers at the luncheon, which was presided over by Dutches County Judge John R. Schwartz, chairman of the college council, were Elwin Stevens, assistant vice president of facilities, who gave a message from State University and presented details about the expansion program for New Paltz, and Dr. Haggerty who discussed the master plan in terms of goals and purposes of the college.

Other luncheon speakers were, Henry W. DuBois, mayor of New Paltz, who noted that village officials always have worked in cooperation with the State University, and will continue to do everything possible in the interests of the college, its administrators, faculities and students; Peter J. Savago, New Paltz town supervisor, who noted the advantages gained by the entire town through the college at New Paltz and its expansion that will increase the population of the township.

Lauds Cooperation

Joseph P. Foley, president of the New Paltz Board of Education, spoke of the cooperation that exists between all area institutions of learning. Jay LeFevre, secretary of the college council, congratulated the administrators of the college, and traced the growth of the institution and complimented former Governor Thomas E. Dewey for being instrumental in forming the State University of New York. He spoke of the unlimited possibilities of the college with continued cooperation of all units, state and local. He predicted the enrollment at the college would reach in the neighborhood of 6,000 within the next decade.

Lelan F. Sillin, Jr., president of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., spoke on behalf of the industrial and business leader of the region and outlined the expectations of these groups for future developments of the college. He said that "The industry of the rapidly developing Mid-Hudson Region has been watching with growing approval the dramatic developments at New Paltz and has gained appreciation for the role you have in higher education in years to come. Industry will be looking more and more to you," he said, "for bright and promising men and women who will be needed to fill its requirements."

Explains Expansion

Dr. Haggerty reported the State University's $30 million expansion program for the colege at New Paltz, over the next four and one-half years, will entail the construction of—seven academic and related buildings, dormitory facilities providing an additional 1,400 beds, two new dining halls—each providing 500 seats, a new central heating plant and central service group.

Dr. Haggerty also said that in addition, two existing structures will be converted to classroom buildings and outdoor athletic and recreational areas will be provided. He noted that these new facilities, added to those now in use or under construction, will permit the college to reach its 1970 enrollment goal of 3,500 full-time students, as drawn in the State University of New York master plan for 1960-70.

New Paltz, since last summer, has been experimenting with a four-quarter variation of the year-round calendar and now accepts entering classes at summer, autumn, winter and spring quarters. At the 1963 second quarter registration, which is comparable to September entering classes at other

Long, Hard Viet War Predicted

Group Is Anxious To Hear Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, returning from another trip to South Viet Nam, said today he would be happy to report to a congressional committee on the situation there.

The House Armed Services Committee has indicated it expects McNamara to appear to discuss complaints of obsolete equipment, and to report on the general outlook of the protracted war in the Southeast Asian country.

Plan to Double Force

McNamara was asked by newsmen how long he thinks the war will last.

He replied that it will be "a long war, a hard war—the path to victory will be long."

He said, however, that "I firmly believe that persistent execution" of plans will lead to eventual success.

The Pentagon chief also told newsmen plans are being developed to more than double the personnel of the Viet Nam air force in a few months.

The Vietnamese air force now has about 400 pilots.

To another question, McNamara replied that the size of the U.S. training force in Viet Nam is sufficient at the present, but that if more men are needed to help in the expansion of the ground and air forces and train them, the men can be sent.

McNamara said he and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, discussed with U.S. officials in Viet Nam the program of replacing the present T38 and B26 planes with the Navy-designed Skyraider aircraft.

His Fifth Trip

McNamara said the types of planes sent to Viet Nam were chosen for two reasons — because they would be useful in the guerrilla type war; because they were intended for operation by the Vietnamese.

Returning with McNamara were Taylor and Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

This was McNamara's fifth trip to Viet Nam.

His public optimism as he flew back into Washington was in line with what he had been saying en route.

"I am convinced," McNamara said Wednesday on a stopover at Honolulu, "that the persistent execution of the political and military plans which the South Viet Nam government has and which we are supporting will lead to a successful conclusion of this war."

Notes Marked Progress

President Johnson will want to know the details that support this optimism and presumably will have McNamara report quickly. But whether Johnson will see him today is uncertain because the President is flying to Missouri to attend the funeral of Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo.

Cyprus Mediation Accepted

NATO Determined To Ease Tensions

THE HAGUE (AP)—Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization expressed determination today "to achieve a genuine relaxation" in international relations. They reaffirmed that the German problem can only be settled by the will of the German people.

In a communique ending meeting, the NATO foreign ministers said that "every suitable opportunity should be taken to bring nearer to realization the wish of the German people for reunification in freedom."

To Support U.N. Efforts

The ministers expressed concern at the Greek-Turkish Cypriot fighting in Cyprus and said NATO would fully support United Nations efforts to bring peace to the troubled island.

Some of the concern over Cyprus was eased earlier in the day when Greece and Turkey agreed to accept the mediation of the NATO secretary-general in their bitter dispute over the eastern Mediterranean island.

Stikker Conciliator

The ministers instructed NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker to act as conciliator but there was no reference to this step in the communique.

Officials explained that Stikker would be acting under a 1956 council resolution concerning disputes between member states of the alliance. This resolution authorized the secretary-general to keep in touch with all parties and with the permanent NATO council in such cases.

Greek Foreign Minister Stavros Kostopoulos agreed to mediation on condition that it would not be confined to the Cyprus dispute but would cover all phases of Greek - Turkish relations. Greece is upset by recent Turkish seizure of the property of Greek nationals living in Turkey and expulsion of a number of them.

Turkish Foreign Minister Feridun Cemal Erkin had accepted a mediation role for the North Wednesday. But Kostopoulos until today had argued that the Cyprus dispute was not a NATO matter, the position held by

Would Aid Tax System, Bring Better Living

Vote Is Taken, CORE Asks Working, Living Equality; Council Action Next

Downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project scored almost unanimous approval with an attendance of some 300 at Wednesday night's public hearing in the Common Council chamber, City Hall, during which plans were revealed for possible sponsorship of housing in the project area by union carpenters.

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, said the organization is interested in sponsoring, as builders, construction of apartments on the project site.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., said the aldermen would probably meet next Tuesday night to act on urban renewal.

Boon To Tax Structure

Nearly all in the council chamber stood when it was requested that those in favor of the project stand for a count, and only one of the many who spoke, definitely opposed it.

Alexander Yosman, urban renewal adviser, emphasized that urban renewal treatment for the deteriorating downtown area was badly needed. The program, he said, would benefit not only the immediate area, but the community as a whole, and the city tax structure in general.

Yosman asked: "What is the fate of downtown, if urban renewal treatment is not undertaken?" He commended the program as one worthy of support by the community and passage by the Common Council.

Stresses Main Factors

Yosman also emphasized the two prime factors involved: living conditions and the economic factor, and he emphasized the time spent in developing a program.

Eric Hemphill, newly appointed UR director, was introduced, and among those attending were Nat Parrish and Daniel Shuster, of Raymond & May Associates, city planning consultants. Parrish emphasized that two appraisals are involved in the acquiring of properties.

Would Sponsor Housing

Yerry revealed that the carpenters' union has been interested in sponsoring a building project or projects in the area for some time and it plans to apply for such a sponsorship. He said he had heard comment to the effect that the union is interested only because of the jobs it will provide and emphasized that working people help a community's economy, and "We can see nothing wrong in making more work."

Frank S. Sass, former Seventh Ward alderman, and Common Council majority leader, noted that he had been involved with urban renewal almost from its inception, and that the council on 26 occasions, voted unanimously in favor of urban renewal. He said if he were still in the council, he would again give it his full support.

CORE Attitude

Miss Blythe Miller, representing the Congress of Racial Equality, said CORE was for urban renewal in Kingston, but it would work to see that there is no social discrimination in carrying out the program, and particularly in hiring construction workers for the new development.

James Hughes, of Local 1105, Plumbers Union, said it had admitted two Negro apprentices, as of Wednesday.

Joseph Epstein, lower Broadway merchant, said he was not opposed to the project, but he felt that the people of the area should be told what they are to get for their properties, before the Common Council acts on the project.

The Rev. (Bishop) S. B. Chappell, of 225 East Strand, the only speaker directly opposed, said he feared the Negro community would experience discrimination. He was the only one to stand when the call came for those opposing.

Richard M. Kalish, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce UR Committee, said the project was vital to the downtown area, which has needed rehabititation for years. He urged favorable Common Council action on it.

Others in Favor

Alderman - at - Large Carroll opened the meeting, and City Clerk Walter S. Foster read resolutions adopted by various organizations in favor of the project, and the official notice of the calling of the hearing. Those in favor were asked to talk first, and the call for opposing opinion came after a brief recess.

Among others who spoke for the project were S. Greenspan, representing Miron Lumber, and Ray Cwill, representing the Rondout Area Businessmen's Association, several residents of the area also favored the project. All members of the Common Council attended. The hearing ended at 8:45 p. m.

Gotham May Send Four to Pageant Competition Here

Two contestants and possibly four, will represent New York City in the Miss New York State Pageant here July 9, 10 and 11.

Pageant officials today announced that there will be a Miss Queens and a Miss Manhattan in the State finals and possibly Miss Bronx and Miss Staten Island. An inquiry for a Miss Brooklyn franchise also was reported.

This is the first year that the local group could award territory franchise contracts in New York City. In previous years New York City held a separate franchise to select a contestant eligible to compete directly in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City. This year, for the first time, only one representative from the entire state, selected here, will vie for the title of Miss America.

Hero's Citation Going to Sickler In Creek Rescue

Robert Sickler, 14, of 16 Hunter Street, who rescued Anthony Williams, 6, of 49 Meadow Street, after he had fallen into the Rondout Creek Tuesday, has been commended for his heroism by Major John J. Schwenk, who said Robert is to get a Citizens Citation Award.

The mayor in a letter dated Wednesday wrote:

"As mayor of the City of Kingston, I was proud and happy to hear of your heroism in rescuing a little boy named Anthony Williams from the waters of the Rondout Creek.

"We so often read, these days, of persons being apathetic when others are in danger. This was certainly not so in your case.

"I am sure all the citizens of Kingston join me in commending you for your heroic act.

"It is our desire to present you with a Citizens Citation Award for saving this little boy's life. Please call my office at your convenience so we may arrange a time to make the presentation.

"Congratulations and best wishes."

Robert and others were fishing along the dock beyond ferry street when the Williams boy, who had been playing with other small boys, fell into the creek. Robert ran to the rescue and went down in the deep water twice before bringing the boy to safety. Young Williams, shaken by the experience, is reported doing well at home.

Just the Beginning, Cuban Exiles Claim; Heavy Sugar Loss Reported

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exile forces say their attack on a sugar mill and port in eastern Cuba is just the beginning in their war of sabotage and nerves aimed at toppling Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

The Revolutionary Recovery Movement, a military action group, said in its "first war communique" Wednesday that a combined raid by seaborne commandos and guerrillas already in the hills gained control of the port of Pilon for three hours and left the sugar mill burning. It said other raids would come soon.

Prime Minister Castro in a statement acknowledged the attack, but said it came from a ship standing at sea and not from ground forces.

Castro's angry comment was broadcast by Havana Radio about 15 hours after the attack, which the exiles said took place at 3:50 a.m. Wednesday.

The communique did not give the number of the attacking force but listed commandos, frogmen, combat engineers, signal corps and torpedo units, as well as guerrillas, as participants.

The exiles claimed they suffered no losses but said there was "tenacious fighting" with "a numerically superior Communist army." A spokesman for the invaders said Castro forces suffered considerable losses.

While commandos held Polon, said the communique, engineers set off demolition charges at the mill, then withdrew. Guerrillas returned to the hills, the exiles said. Some townspeople in the area welcomed the attackers, they added.

Castro said the U.S. government, "not satisfied with the economic blockade and other aggressions, is using mercenaries and traitors" to carry out acts of vandalism.

The U.S. State Department denied it.

Castro said the attack caused loss of 70,000 bags of sugar (of 220 pounds each), that many

5 Persons Die as F105 Plunges Into Las Vegas Housing Section

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Five persons died when an F105 fighter plane plunged into a new housing development where housewives were hanging out laundry and children were playing on a sunny afternoon.

Moments after takeoff Wednesday from nearby Nellis Air Force Base, the jet lost altitude, wavered and then knifed into the tract. The plane exploded, spewing flames over a wide area. Seven dwellings were destroyed.

Five blocks away, 800 children were attending classes in Lincoln Elementary School. They were not endangered.

The plane plummeted to earth at the far edge of the development, just short of a cleared area the pilot was fighting to reach.

The dead:

1st. Lt. Raynor L. Hebert, 26, pilot, of Port Arthur, Tex.; Betty Lou Le Dane, 31, and her daughter, Teresa, 3; two children of the Paul Lowry family, Derwent, 3, and Josephine, 3 months. Aside from Hebert, all were residents of the tract.

In five days Hebert would have gone on 27 days leave.

An unidentified truck driver gave this account:

"I was rounding the corner and could see the plane coming in nose up and tail down. It struck the first house with the tail aflame and skidded across the rooftops to other homes."

Two weeks ago, in an interview, Brig. Gen. Boyd Hubbard, Nellis commander, had warned contractors that building homes close to the air base was "courting disaster." The development is seven miles away but in the path of runways, those on the scene said. Its homes are in the $15,000 price range.

Vincent Rohde, another eyewitness, said that when the plane hit "it was like a bubble filled with water. It was just a big splash. I saw two women hanging out clothes where it hit. They disappeared. I heard a woman scream. There was a tremendous heat wave. I'll never forget that scream."

Authorities evacuated a 20-square-block area upon learning the plane carried six small practice bombs and 1,000 20 mm cannon rounds.

Hebert, an Air Force spokesman said, was on an air-to-air gunnery practice mission. The first hint of trouble was Hebert's report to the control tower that his landing gear would not retract, the spokesman said.

He was instructed to head for a desert area near Las Vegas, but replied that he was at only 1,000 feet and added, "I can't hold my altitude."

Then he was told to head for a clear area, just beyond the tract. He couldn't quite make it.

The pilot had no opportunity to jettison his fuel.

"When they're heavy like that," said Gen. Hubbard, "they sink pretty fast. They glide like a brick."

The Lowry home took the brunt of the plane's landing blow. Out-

Street List Given BPW, Winfield Resigns Post

A list of streets submitted by aldermen for a second phase of the 1964 street repair program was referred Wednesday night to the street committee of the Board of Public Works, which directed installation of sidewalk and curbs on lower Delaware Avenue, and accepted with regret the retirement of A. Foster Winfield, administrative assistant.

Aldermen of various wards, in recent years, have submitted their choice of streets for reconstruction or resurfacing. The first phase of this year's program now in progress requires repair of streets unfinished in 1963.

The board voted to notify the owner of a property extending from 280 to 420 Delaware Avenue to install sidewalks and curbing. The owner is listed as the 100 Acres Corp. and the letter was to be addressed to it in care of Robert E. Fabor & Co., 370 Seventh Avenue, New York.

Included in the section of street involved is the sharp curve above Yoemans Street. Fifth Ward aldermen, in recent years, including the incumbent, Anthony J. Alecca, have asked for sidewalks on the lower end of the street.

A. Foster Winfield, in a letter to the board, said he would end his service as administra-

Town of Ulster
May 12, 1964

Ulster Town Hall

Editor, The Freeman:

With the coming of spring a good many motorists have taken to the highways in search of scenic beauty. Over the past weekend it would be conservative to say that hundreds of motorists traveled Albany Avenue Extension and as they went over the railroad overpass, they no doubt looked down at Chambers Elementary School, neat appearing, grounds immaculately kept, a school we can be proud of. Very few of these passing motorists are aware that the Town of Ulster has the proposed plan for a town hall to be erected in front of Chambers Elementary School.

It is difficult for me to understand why the town board of Ulster could even consider erecting a building in this location, in front of such a school. With the town growing as it is, certainly little foresight has been given to future expansion, at present on one side of Albany Avenue Extension across from the school, we have an already too small town barn, on the other side of the road we now have a proposed town hall. Where will the next building go?

The town has a planning board, but they have not been consulted. The town master plan does not show that any building would be erected in front of Chambers School, but on the East Chester By-pass.

Even more difficult to understand is how can our school board not only stand by and let such a thing happen, but actually approve of it. The question arises in my mind, by what authority does the board of education have to donate school property to the Town of Ulster for such construction? Could it be for such reasons as this that people no longer care to get out and vote. It is still not too late for the school board to re-consider and publicly go on record as opposing such buildings in front of the school. It is not too late for the taxpayers to ask the board of education, why this has happened. It's not too late for the people to contact the town officials and ask them why in front of the school. For the people who aren't interested in conserving some beauty in our town, then I suggest they ride out past the Chambers School, take a good look at it because if a town hall is allowed to be built in front of the school, it won't be "What a beautiful school down there," it will be, "There used to be a beautiful school around here somewhere."

Brazil, Exiles His Latest Miseries

Castro Gets Double Dose Of Troubles on Wednesday

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — About every 18 months something happens to give Fidel Castro the miseries. It happened again on Wednesday and this time he got a double dose.

Brazil broke relations with him. And Cuban exiles, their organization reported, raided the port of Pilon in eastern Cuba, got ashore, burned a sugar mill, and then skipped back out to sea.

This was just about 18 months after the Cuban missile crisis, which was just about 18 months after the disastrous Bay of Pigs invasion.

In mid-April 1961, exiles, with American backing, invaded their homeland at the Bay of Pigs but Castro finally smashed them on the beach, to the great embarrassment of the United States.

This country had been willing to back them in getting to Cuba but was unwilling to support them when the going got rough. Never again has the United States tried anything like that.

But in October, 1962—about 18 months after the Bay of Pigs—Soviet Premier Khrushchev got the bright idea of shoving Russian missiles into Cuba, which was a big help to Castro but a great dismay to this country when it found out.

The American government, which caught on through its U2 planes' photographs of what was going on down in Castro's island, then told Khrushchev to get his missiles out, or else. He agreed to remove them.

This country and Russia also agreed that an international inspection team would go into Cuba to make sure the missiles were gone. But Castro wouldn't let such outsiders in.

So the United States did the next best thing. It kept sending its picture-taking U2's over at speeds of 500 miles an hour and elevations of 90,000 feet.

While Russia had removed its big missiles it left in Cuba a batch of troops with powerful antiaircraft missiles which could have shot down the American U2s, but didn't.

Last month word leaked out the Russians were pulling out the last of their troops and just leaving behind several hundred advisers for Castro. This would mean turning the antiaircraft missiles over to Castro. It raised a question.

Would Castro, now that he had control, shoot down the American U2s? President Johnson said the plane flights would continue. Castro called the flights aggressive action. Russia said it would back up Castro if he was attacked.

But the United States hadn't talked of attacking. And Castro didn't quite say he would shoot down the planes. So all that died down a bit.

Then began rumors that Cuban exiles—of whom there are thousands in this country—were getting ready to bang at Cuba again, not in big waves, as at the Bay of Pigs, but in small raids and harassments.

Since the United States long ago had told the exiles they could not make raids on their homeland from American land, it was to be assumed they were making their preparations in some Latin-American country.

Castro would hardly believe that and it did not seem unlikely they were getting American help. And Wednesday they hit and scrambled away again. Whether this was just a solitary attack or the first of a series is not clear.

The Cuban dictator immediately said this was a new act of aggression by the American government. A State Department official said it was nothing of the kind, that the United States knew nothing about it.

Meanwhile, this country has been trying through the years to line up the 20-nation Organization of American States solidly against Castro to freeze him out in some way or other never quite clear.

This has been something short of completely successful. For one thing, while most OAS members broke off relations with Castro these five refused to do so: Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Bolivia and Uruguay.

Brazil retained its relations so long as Joao Goulart was president. But last March the Brazilian army threw out the left-leaning Goulart and set up a right-wing government that began throwing Brazilian Communists into jail.

It was expected that now Brazil would break with Castro. And Wednesday it did.

But where all this leads—in stronger OAS action or exile raids—is for the future.

'Bath Coup' Prevents Set

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The "Bath coup" dates back to the days of whist.

Ernie Rovere gives a good example of it in a new book.

With eight points and a five-card suit, North has a proper raise from one to two no-trump and South goes on to game with 17 points in hand.

West opens the king of spades and South must duck. This play constitutes the Bath coup because if West continues spades South will get two tricks instead of one in the suit.

It also ensures the contract. If West continues spades, South will make two spades, two hearts, four diamonds and two clubs for a total of 10. If West shifts, South will still make nine tricks.

If South makes that first spade, he will have to let East in with a diamond. East will lead a spade through South's jack, and West will collect four spade tricks and set the hand.

Incidentally, I must disagree with Ernie about the naming of the coup. Ernie says that it is named after the Earl of Bath who presumably originated the play. Actually Bath was a favorite seaside resort in England in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth centuries and apparently the play was first made there.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef and turkey are among star price performers at the nation's groceries this weekend.

Both items are on the Department of Agriculture plentiful foods list for May, and many stores are featuring them at special prices.

One national chain offers oven-ready rib roasts at 59 cents a pound in its New York area outlets, for the lowest price it has charged for that since the summer of 1961.

Heavy marketings, which have kept beef on the plentiful list for six straight months, are continuing to affect prices.

Chuck roasts and steaks and serloin steaks are other features.

Turkey, with a large crop in prospect this year, is a widespread attraction. Some northeastern stores feature it at about 35 cents a pound.

Baking hens and broiler-fryers are also good poultry buys in many shops also.

Pork and lamb are regional attractions this weekend. West Coast wholesale prices are off as much as 2 cents a pound on both cured and fresh pork cuts. In the northeast, one chain offers fully cooked hams at a range starting at 29 cents a pound for shank ends.

Spring lamb roasts are ticketed at 59 cents a pound at one chain.

Produce counters, meanwhile, are replete with seasonal offerings. Lettuce, cabbage, celery, corn, green onions. Potatoes and tomatoes are general best buys.

Regional vegetable attractions include asparagus, artichokes, beets, leeks, mushrooms, fresh corn, turnip greens, bell peppers, turnips, okra, squash and sweet potatoes.

Labor Contract Trouble Stops $40-Million Jobs

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An estimated $40-million worth of construction and thousands of workers were idle today in the Rochester area as a result of contract disputes between contractors and 17 unions.

Work stoppages since May 1 have halted construction on schools, churches, factory and hospital additions and two state highways—the outer loop on Rochester's East Side and the Western Expressway between nearby Churchville and Leroy.

Reports of the number of idled workers range from 6,000 to 9,000.

The 102 - member Building Trades Employers Association shut down a large number of projects last week. John J. Richards, executive secretary of the group, said then that the move was brought on by "selective striking by a number of trades against some BTEA members, by selective picketing and by the imminence of other work stoppages and picketing."

Unions have pressed for reduction of their members' work week from 40 hours to 37½, in addition to seeking higher wages and improved fringe benefits. Some company-union contracts have expired, others still are in effect.

Among the unions involved in the dispute are bricklayers, painters, laborers, operating engineers, lathers, roofers, sheetmetal workers and teamsters.

NOT TOO LATE FOR COLLEGE

There was no doubt in anyone's mind that Tom would go to college. After all, he was a better-than-average student in high school, a member of the football and swimming teams and vice president of his class.

Tom took his College Board exams, got satisfactory scores and applied to five or six well-known universities. He was interviewed by college admissions officers. Then he waited.

One by one, cordial letters from the universities arrived. "Sorry," they said, "but we've been swamped with many fine applications like yours. We just have no more room."

No more room. All over the United States thousands of high school students with records as good as Tom's are receiving academic rejection slips — and lack of space or intensity of competition are generally cited as the reasons.

As a result, students for whom college can be the gateway to the future are having the gates slammed in their faces.

Although the cruch at the doors of many colleges is critical — with no relief in sight — a number of fully accredited colleges do need and want qualified students.

These colleges, generally, are not as academically prominent as the Harvards and the Yales and the Stanfords of this country. They may be smaller, less wealthy and lack world-famous scholars. But they are, according to the regional associations which rate them, quality institutions.

And it's still not too late to apply, according to an agency which should know—the College Admissions Center, a non-profit service of the Association of College Admissions Counselors.

This group serves as a clearing house for prospective college students. Student applications sent to the center are studied by representatives of several hundred member colleges who, in turn, directly contact the student. The center doesn't guarantee automatic admission to college for anyone who applies, but it helps.

So high school seniors who have been flatly rejected by the colleges of their choice should take heart. They can still go to college — if they really want to.

Here are some nonprofit agencies which can help:

SHARED RESPONSIBILITIES

The dialogue on that ageless question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" touched off by recent episodes of failure to help persons being attacked is continuing. Another aspect of the matter has been illuminated by the experience of a woman who helped police to capture a psychotic who made obscene telephone calls.

In other pertinent cases, a young woman was murdered and another was assaulted while bystanders apathetically refused to help or even to notify police. Apparently they feared becoming involved. The young woman who received the obscene calls did become involved; she cooperated with police in a harrowing ordeal.

But now that the ordeal is ended, the woman says that if she had to do it all over again she, too, would refuse to become involved to the extent of helping track down the offender. Her reason is one to provoke thought. When the man was caught, after she had suffered months of torture by phone, he was merely sentenced to 90 days in jail and received no psychiatric help. As the woman said, "Now he'll just sit in jail for 90 days and then come out and do it all over again."

The point here made is that society, too, has a responsibility. The individual must indeed be his brother's keeper, but society must do all it can to follow up when the individual sacrifically involves himself. A brief jail term for one who harries a woman with obscenity for months on end is not an adequate response.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE BRIGHT SIDE IN APPALACHIA

Somerset, Pa.—President Lyndon B. Johnson gets high visibility as he skips by air about Appalachia proclaiming its poverty and defilement. But a "low visibility" look at Somerset County, in this southwestern corner of Pennsylvania's portion of Appalachia, tells a much more encouraging story.

I came out to this corner of Appalachia because I had heard they were about to dedicate a golf course made out of a backfilled strip coal mine. Inasmuch as golf greens have to be manicured to the last inch, and fairways have to show at least reasonable smoothness, this seemed about the ultimate that could be demanded of restoration work in ravaged country. Well, the golf course, a nine-holer that will eventually be enlarged to eighteen holes, was there, the creation of the Merrill brothers, Charles and Howard. The fairways were still a little hard on the feet, for southwest Pennsylvania has had a drought, and the new grass was just getting a grip on the restored surface of what was an ugly gash in the earth just a few months ago. The greens, however, were already soft and lovely to the touch.

The idea of turning a worked-out coal seam into a golf course, spectacular though it is, happens to be the icing on the cake so far as Somerset County is concerned. The baking of the cake is another story. This is an important center of strip mine activity, for several coal seams lie close enough to the surface on either side of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to permit mining by the easy method of scraping off the topsoil and overburden rock to get at the coal as it lies exposed to open air. More than golf is involved in making use of the gutted land.

Strip mining got its big impetus here during World War II, when bituminous coal was at a premium and no one worried about what fly-by-night slash-and-strip methods did to make the earth look like a replica of the surface of the moon. Big contractors who had been working on the building of the Pennsylvania Turnpike happened to have their bulldozers and mechanical hoists in the neighborhood when Pearl Harbor came, and they stayed on to strip out the coal. After the war they left, leaving much of the land an esthetic horror.

Local people who had gotten into strip mining in 1940 and 1941, however, had to live on in the place. It seemed senseless to Charles Merrill, whose family had been in Somerset County coal since the Eighteen Eighties, to see so much good potential farm, forest and recreation land ruined by stripping. So Mr. Merrill, though it cost him a bit to backfill and regrade the land to contour as he moved along a coal seam, began restoration on his own. The dividends were large in terms of beauty. But, surprisingly, the restoration also began to pay off in money terms, for farmers discovered that strip mine digging had some of the virtues of deep plowing. It broke up hard pan that had hitherto been impenetrable to Alfalfa roots, and it made mineral nutrients available to plants that had not been available before.

Land that had not even been good for pasturage before strip mining had churned it up is now yielding money-making crops of corn and wheat in Somerset. And one farmer, Cloyd Saylor, who wanted some of his coal-veined acreage filled in to make for himself a private airstrip, decided he could be better served by putting the reclaimed earth into alfalfa and clover. The tax rolls, of course, benefit every time some stripped-out "waste" is returned to use.

The point about Somerset County is that the restoration of the landscape has been done by local initiative. It started long before Pennsylvania had any effective law to compel backfilling and regrading of the earth. The coal capitalists here have been anything but greedy. To the south of the Turnpike, the Merrill family and their disciples have restored acre upon acre of the land and even improved upon the original. To the north of the town of Somerset, in the middle of the county, the new gospel hasn't taken hold to quite the same extent. But further north, there is more good restoration.

None of this good work in Somerset has depended on campaigns against poverty and ugliness conducted from Washington. It is the sort of story that free enterprisers ought to tell both insistently and widely, for it shows how grass-roots people can take care of their own affairs and keep control of their own localities for their own purposes. Incidentally, the work done in Somerset is becoming standard for the sovereign state of Pennsylvania. How this came about is perhaps worth another column.

Hazards on the Golf Course Don't End With Sand Traps

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Golf is not thought of as a dangerous sport. Several million persons enjoy it and profit from the exercise.

According to the National Safety Council, however, thousands of accidents do occur on the golf course and the number is increasing. Each year nearly a million newcomers take up the game and they are responsible for an overwhelming majority of the accidents.

Here are some of the hazards and ways to avoid them: Being struck by a golf ball is the commonest injury. It may result from an unfortunate slice, a ricochet off the trunk of a tree, overcrowding the links, or failure to warn other players of your drive or failure to heed such a warning.

Furthermore, the ball may stray into a neighboring fairway. It may hit another player in the process. Many experts today advocate protective helmets on the golf course.

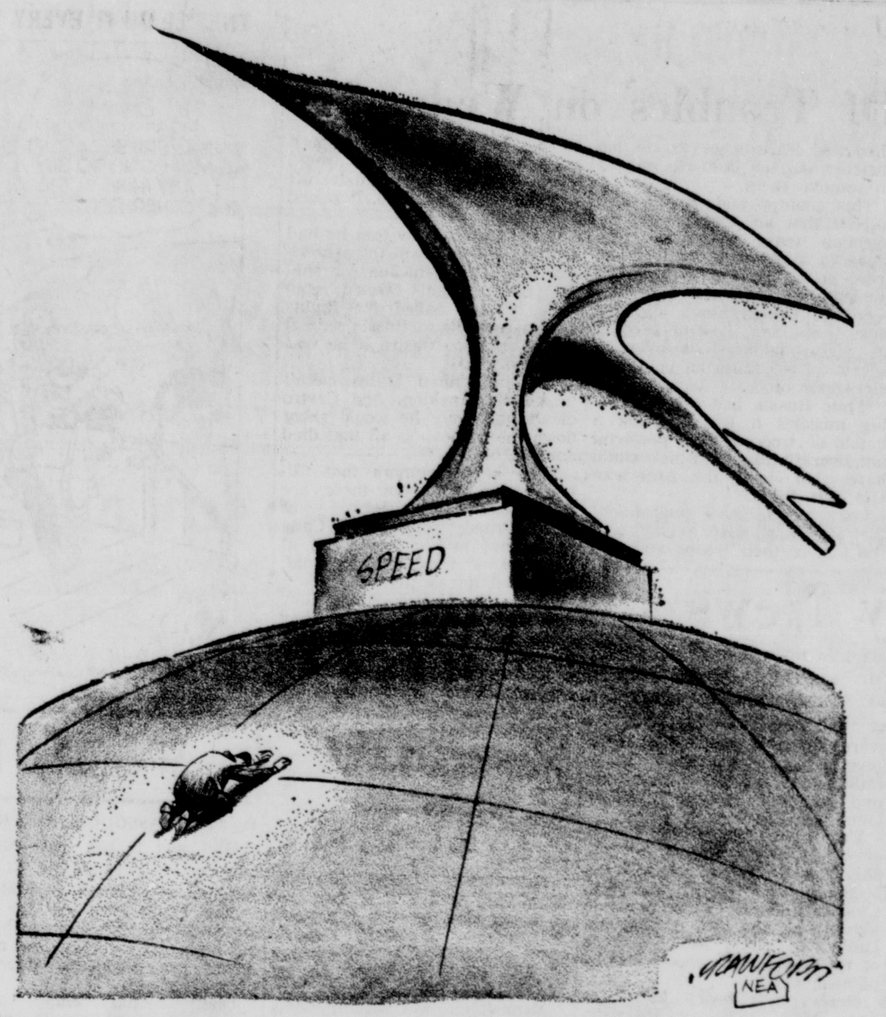
Then there is the matter of the powered golf cart—truly a boon to many elderly players with chronic heart or lung diseases who would otherwise have to give up the game. Since these carts have only three wheels, they may tip easily, especially when a sharp turn is made and when driven on a slope or on rough ground.

Although they go only about 10 miles an hour on level ground, a person who is ejected from a cart traveling at this speed can incur a severe injury to his back or neck and, if his head strikes a tree or a hard surface, he may injure his skull or brain. When the vehicle scoots downhill a greater speed is attained and any injury sustained would be more serious. Because so many of these carts run off narrow bridges, some clubs are widening their bridges and providing them wtih guard rails.

Another hazard—one that claims the lives of many golfers each year, is lightning. few golfers realize that the greatest danger of being struck occurs not during the storm but just preceding it.

When you see a storm approaching, don't wait for it to break and don't seek shelter under a lone tree because lightning always strikes the highest target in an exposed area. If there is a clump of trees, take shelter under one of the smaller ones. Otherwise crouch in a sandtrap or make it to the nearest building. Above all, get away from your clubs and don't use an umbrella. These are invitations to electrocution.

While you are about it, you should protect yourself from sunburn and heat exhaustion. And, if you haven't been playing regularly, work into it gradually to avoid overtiring.



Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Proposals that would radically shift U. S. cold-war tactics with regard to the Soviet Union are being studied at the White House, Pentagon and State Department.

At the very time the United States is roundly attacking the British government for considering long-term credits to Nikita Khrushchev, key aides are quietly studying whether the United States should itself adopt the British strategy.

The secret debate is now going on. Decisions will probably be made piecemeal.

Proposition One—The possibility of U. S. assistance in the development of Soviet agriculture should be explored.

Proposition Two—The U. S. should be prepared to reduce its restrictions on trade with the Soviet Union.

These two proposals aim at getting Khrushchev to raise production for civilian consumption and lower his arms output. Backers of these proposals argue that if the United States would send the Soviet Union factories for the producion of consumer goods, these plants would use raw materials and technicians which would have to be diverted from the Soviet arms effort.

Proposition Three — Explore with the Soviet Union various places, such as Laos and parts of Africa, where the United States and Russia could take joint military action "in their common interest."

The proposers suggest this would reduce points of military confrontation.

Proposition Four — Explore ways in which the United States and Russia could co-operate in economic aid for selected underdeveloped countries.

The planners argue this economic aid would turn into economic rivalry. U. S. and Soviet technicians, they say, would try to outdo each other, thus providing a way to prove U. S. technical and economic methods superior for under-developed countries.

Proposition Five — Seek unwritten agreement with the Soviet Union not to give sophisticated weapons to nations which might plunge the Soviet Union and the United States into war.

The U. S. aim would be to keep powerful new weapons from Cuba's Fidel Castro, Red China's Mao Tse-tung and North Viet Nam's Ho Chi Minh and lessen the chances of guerrilla conflicts escalating into full-scale nuclear wars.

Proposition Six — Push a substantial increase in the exchange of American and Russian scientists.

The proposers argue that if enough U. S. scientists visit the Soviet Union each year, it will be impossible, even with Soviet security precautions, for the Russians to make a scientific breakthrough crucial to defense without the United States learning about it. The Russians, on their side, would have the same advantage. This, the proposers claim, would promote stability.

Proposition Seven — Find ways to send messages to the Soviet elite — those top technicians, scientists, writers, managers and officials who have influence in Russia — telling them exactly what the United States is up to in each major peace move it makes.

This proposal aims at putting Khrushchev and his top aides under some pressure from their own people.

Rights Bill's Job Section Alarms Business Men

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Since the Chamber of Comerce of the United States is the largest body of business men in the country—representing aproximately 3,500,000 constituent members from all kinds of businesses—it is significant that president Walter F. Carey has sent to the 100 Senators a letter severely criticizing certain parts of the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

Up to now, the impression has been conveyed to the nation that most of the people who want to amend the measure are either "extremists" or "racists" or persons who would deny equal opportunity to minority groups because of race or color or religion.

The chamber itself takes no position at all on any other parts of the civil rights bill, but it does specifically single out Title VII—the section dealing with "equal employment opportunity." Behind the scenes in Congress, there is much concern over this particular topic in the civil rights debate. There are rumors that, if a motion for cloture to force a vote on this section were acted on, it would fail. In fact, it is reported that the Administration leaders are hesitant to attempt to shut off the Senate's discussion and may find themselves in the position of having to accept compromises in order to get action on this part of the bill.

The criticism of the "equal employment opportunity" section of the bill expressed in the formal statement by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce is that "the meaning of certain provisions is vague" and that "the authority granted Federadd administrators is excessive." Mr. Carey's statement says:

"These and other deficiencies, which I shall enumerate, could be seriously harmful to the conduct of American business. They also would help defeat the very purpose for which Title VII is being urged — to expedite the elimination of any discrimination in employment based upon race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

"The national Chamber recommends that the powers of the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission . . . be limited to conciliation and persuasion. We are very dubious about the value of court proceedings and orders to accomplish the hoped-for results.

"But in the event Congress decides to retain provisions for court enforcement of actions recommended by the commission, the minimum requirement is that you give careful consideration to the need for seven amendments to Title VII."

One of the amendments proposed by the chamber would specify that only willful acts of discrimination should constitute violations of the law. It is recommended also that "good faith" should be permitted as "a defense for all persons accused of discrimination."

It is further argued that the proposed commission should have no jurisdiction in states which already have laws forbidding discrimination and that accused persons should be granted certain rights of appeal on the issue of jurisdiction.

The record-keeping requirements are described as "onerous." Also, it is contended that the bill as it stands now might even prevent a man who fails in business from abandoning his enterprise. The Chamber's statement, therefore, says:

"The bill should be amended to specify that an employer who chooses to discontinue his business may do so."

The point is made, moreover, that only persons who claim to be aggrieved should be able to file charges, lest questionable cases of alleged discrimination by other than the aggrieved parties be encouraged.

Finally, the Chamber recommends that only the commission itself should be able to institute court proceedings but that, if individuals are allowed to bring court proceedings, two or more of the five members of the commission should be required to approve such proceedings in order to "preclude frivolous cases brought for the purpose of harassment."

Perhaps the most significant recommendation in Mr. Carey's statement — made in letters to the 100 members of the Senate—is the concluding paragraph:

"But in the event no changes or only inconsequential changes are put forward as amendments to Title VII, then I strongly urge you to press for its complete elimination from H. R. 7152 (the House-passed civil rights bill now pending in the Senate)."

The Chamber of Commerce has not become involved in any way in the merits of the other sections of the bill, but its announced position on the "Equal Employment Opportunity" section is a sign of the unrest that has developed among its members in all parts of the country over the proposed law that would put the Federal government in virtual control of hiring and other employe practices. Labor unions have invaded this field from time to time by compeling employers, under threats of strikes, to write contracts granting unions the right to say who shall be employed. There has been some labor-union criticism of this section of the bill, but the most pronounced comment comes from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and it has made a profound impression on members of Congress.

There are intimations from Capitol Hill that the "Equal Employment Opportunity" section, unless materially changed, could actually prolong the debate and that it is really more responsible for criticism than what is known as the "Public Accommodations" section which deals with discrimination in hotels, motels and eating places.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

So much is happening in and around Kingston especially in the last few years. For instance for many years, there was talk about the underpass, perhaps they dreamed about it soon after the West Shore depot opened in the early 1880's. Finally the underpass was built, and like to a gold rush, stores and business establishments rushed up there. Now in 1964, I counted some dozen stores which are empty, not including the large market, on both sides of the street. The traffic circle with all the signs is also interesting, bringing Broadway and Albany Avenue into a new interesting design, yet around there I see some empty stores. I am also surprised at the many "houses for sale" and "for rent" signs on private residences. Some sort of a change is coming over Kingston proper, which does not seem to satisfy those who have lived here for years. Their families before them, seemed contented.

Many years ago, Kingston had three business sections, each for good reasons. Downtown was busy with its railroad depot, ferries and boating, and the D and H Canal which came about in the early 1820's, bringing business from Honesdale, Pa. to Rondout. In the center of town was the railroad depot, which brought people from all over. Hotels clustered around the railroad station, eating places, and cigar stores, and later movie houses. The trolley ran up and down Broadway and Hasbrouck Avenue, combining the three sections. Uptown had its own railroad depot, besides the out-of-town stages which brought folks from the country to shop, and the New Yorkers came through Kingston to the mountains. Boarding house owners did their shopping in Kingston. Now all this is gone, everyone has a car, they shop in liesure and do not wish to tolerate watching a parking meter or feeding it with money.

Private housing projects also have made a change. Acres of land are being bought not in Kingston, but outside, and modern, neat little homes are being built, in Woodstock, in Mt. Marion, in Port Ewen and other places, and shopping centers are easy to get to, as just about everyone drives a car. Children do not come home for lunch, as schools are far away so they are bused to schools, so that the housewife does not have to rush home for lunch. In fact she can have a part-time job. I am just wondering what will happen to little cities like Kingston in years to come, as folks live, work and shop where they please. Miles mean nothing, with many families having several cars to go to work in various parts of the area.

I walked over the Rondout Creek Bridge the other day. I notice many folks do walk through the stone cut, which could be made more convenient for walking. There is at least a foot and a half or more walking space near the rocks where a cement walk could be built so one does not have to walk in the gutter part. It is just a short distance from the Sleightsburgh side of the bridge, and I am sure the important state of New York could find a little cold cash to make a little walking space there. The bridge looks fine when one drives over it, but walking over it, I see where some of the walk needs repair, and you can see the Rondout Creek very clearly through the breaks. They speak about giving people jobs, now it would be a fin time, with all this nice weather, to give some men work scraping and painting the bridge, as rust is winning out. In the early 1920's when it was built, it was proudly spoken of as the 7th longest suspension bridge. The cornerstone was laid in 1920 by Gov. Al Smith.

Terms Cigarettes Harmful in Talk At Marlboro High

"Research and study has proven that cigarette smoking is harmful, contributing to the worsening of the diseases of the respiratory tract." This was noted by Dr. John Scott, physician-speaker in the Smoking Educational Program recently provided for the student assembly at Marlboro Central High School by the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Dr. Scott outlined the leading respiratory diseases including emphysema and chronic bronchitis, and emphasized the deleterious effect of smoking on these conditions.

Emphysema is now second only to heart disease in disability, and recent national figures show an alarming death rate of disease alone. In New York State from 1940 to 1960, deaths due to respiratory disease has doubled. The effect of smoking on the respiratory tract and its diseases is the source of great and serious concern.

Dr. Scott also pointed to the conclusive proofs relating smoking to cancer, and its effects in diseases of the heart. Dr. Scott, prominent Marlboro physician, served in the program on behalf of the association.

The program was developed by E. Robert Johnson, executive director of the TB and Health Association, at the request of Jose Munoz, science teacher, and the school's student committee charged with looking into smoking and tobacco. The committee included Susan Handy, chairman, Janet Squilla and Janet Larkin. Marilyn Eager, also of the committee, introduced the assembly program. Michael Pascale, president of the student council, handled its conclusion. Fred Bement, assistant principal, set up the details of planning the assembly at the school.

Frederic W. Robinson, of Marlboro's First National Bank, a member of the Board of Directors of the TB and Health Association, introduced Dr. Scott. He noted that the program was a part of the association's work in public health education.

The association is the agency in the county dedicated to the work in respiratory diseases and the effects of smoking and air pollution, he noted. "This vital program is built," he added, "on the county-wide citizen support of the traditional Christmas Seal." Gus Cutrone, Marlboro postmaster, also was present for the presentation of the student program. He is Marlboro Township Christmas seal chairman, and with Robinson, is interested in association health and case-finding programs which can benefit the area.

Paul Georgini, supervising principal, noted that the school has concentrated on the required health programs exploring the problems of narcotics, smoking. He expressed appreciation to the TB and Health group for their aid in producing an enlightening program geared to smoking and health, and filling a vital need in school health work.

DONALD J. GAVIS

Former Resident Is Selected for Sloan Fellowship

Former Kingston resident, Donald J. Gavis of IBM's Data Systems Division Development Laboratory at Poughkeepsie, has been selected for an Alfred P. Sloan Fellowship at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Gavis, who is current programming systems manager, was one of 45 businessmen from all over the United States selected for one of the fellowships providing a full year for education in management at MIT.

Sloan Fellowships for participation in this program are considered among the highest honors which can come to young men during their business careers. The fellows selected by MIT are from a group of candidates whose employers nominated them for admission to the program.

The Sloan Fellows will move their families to the Cambridge area in June, to spend 12 months at MIT studying in depth the fundamentals that underlie sound management decisions.

"The men designated as next year's Sloan Fellows are not only among the most promising of our country's young executives," Peter GIL, MIT director of executive development programs, said, "they reflect the increasingly high calibre of men nominated for fellowships."

Gavis, a Kingston High School graduate joined IBM in 1950 at Poughkeepsie. He has held a number of technical and management positions in the Poughkeepsie Product Testing Laboratory and in DS Programming Systems. He was promoted to his current position in 1962.

Gavis, his wife, and their three children live on Merry Hill Road, Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Gavis is the former Janet Piester of Kingston. Gavis' father, Joseph W. Gavis, is a resident of Kingston.

Mental Health Fund Campaign Is Encouraging

Fund raising for Mental Health in Ulster County, is proceeding very encouragingly, the chairman of the current drive, C. Kenneth Taber, stated today.

The larger businesses and industry throughout the county have been contacted by letter, and contributions are already arriving at the association office in Kingston. A number of stores are also being very cooperative in placing collecting canisters near cash registers.

Dr. Paul Perlman of Woodstock, is writing to all dentists in the county, on behalf of the local Association for Mental Health, asking for their financial support of the work of the association.

Dr. Perlman is well acquainted with the accomplishments and needs of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, as his wife Rosalene, has been a member of the board of directors for the last two years.

Arthur B. Ewig, well known Kingston attorney, and member of the board of directors of the association, is planning to contact by letter, all the attorneys in the county, asking for their support of the campaign. Dr. Elbert MacFadden, Kingston pediatrician, and also a member of the board of directors of UCAMH, is enlisting the support of physicians and surgeons in the county.

An example of the type of educational program which the local association carries out, will be the half-day seminar for social workers, public health nurses and others whose responsibility is giving service to people. The seminar is scheduled for June 24 at the Benedictin Hospital, on the subject of "Basic Theory, Methods and Technique of Interviewing," in the normal setting, and also interviewing the emotional disturbed and mentally retarded.

Effective Education

So effective was Oklahoma's first education system, established by its Five Civilized Indian Tribes in the 1830s, that many Cherokees,, Chickasaws, Choctaws, Creeks and Seminoles could read Greek and Latin while white traders and trappers who dealt with them couldn't sign their own names.

Workshop Is Set For June 24 for Social Agencies

A half-day workshop for social workers, county departments of welfare case workers, public health nurses, members of the clergy and legal profession, and others whose responsibility is giving service to people, will be presented in Kingston Wednesday, June 24, at Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing.

In making this announcement today, Miss Rose Marie Feeney, chairman of the planning committee, explained that this program is being publicized well in advance so that county departments and social agencies have plenty of time to schedule this for their staff.

The topic will be Basic Theory, Methods and Techniques of Interviewing. Donald J. Haughton, field training representative of the Massachusetts Department of Public Welfare, will present theory and treatment in the normal setting, and the method and technique of interviewing the emotionally disturbed and the mentally retarded.

Further details will be announced.

The program is being sponsored by Ulster County Association for Mental Health, in cooperation with Ulster County Departments of Welfare, Public Health, Probation Service, and Mental Health Center.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

FADING LANDMARK—Saugerties Lighthouse at the mouth of the Esopus Creek, a landmark dating back to 1835 will be razed by dynamite shortly according to information received from the U. S. Coast Guard. Although some well meaning groups are interested in preserving it or using it as a public building or museum, rough estimates have indicated it would cost many thousands of dollars to make the structure safe for occupancy. The Coast Guard has declared the lighthouse unsafe and a hazard, and will shortly construct a steel tower for the beacon light at the point.

Coast Guard Plans to Raze Local Lighthouse

Saugerties Lighthouse station, a local landmark for many years will be razed, according to information received last week from the U.S. Coast Guard.

The lighthouse has been unoccupied since 1954. In a notice received by Supervisor Peter M. Williams May 6 the lighthouse will be torn down because it has "become a safety hazard."

Capt. G. R. Boyce Jr., chief of operations said a recent survey by the Coast Guard has indicated that the building is in very poor condition with rotted beams, buckling floors and advanced deterioration of inner walls.

Supervisor Williams and Mayor William Ziegler will inspect the building today to determine if it has any value as a public building or museum.

Supervisor Williams has been in contact with the Coast Guard for the past two years regarding the disposition of the light station. The Saugerties supervisor had hoped it could be used as a marine museum, if the property could be acquired from the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard said that when the building is razed, a steel tower would be constructed on the foundation for the beacon light at the mouth of Esopus Creek.

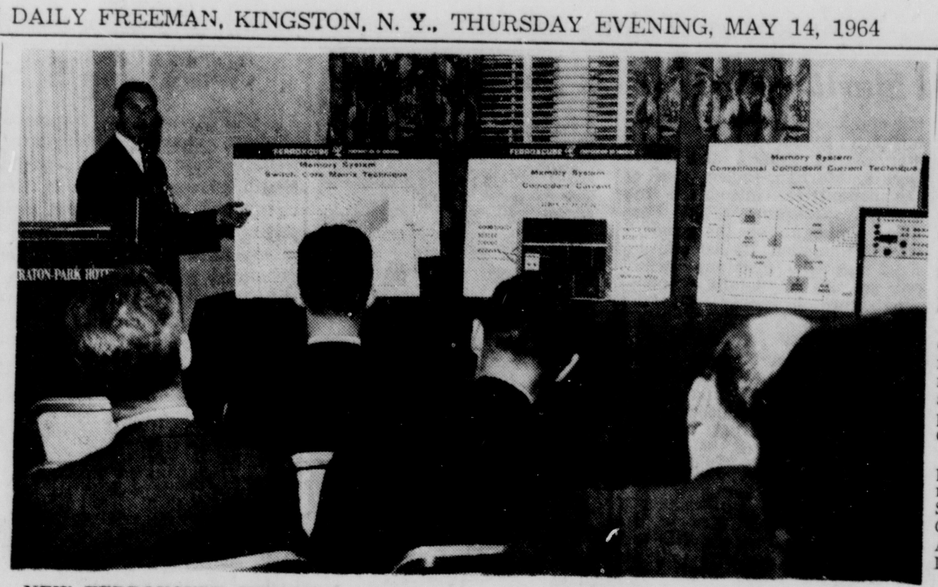
Physical Ed Week

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has named May 10-16 Physical Education Week.

Commenting on the occasion, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of the Saugerties Central Schools, remarked: "A sound mind and a healthy body are goals which everyone should strive to achieve. Habits which help in this achievement can and should be developed in our schools, but we must recognize that the home has an important role to play. Cooperation is the key word as parents and educators work to provide each pupil with the essential skills and understandings for good health.

"In Saugerties Central Schools we combine the efforts of health services, physical education, and athletic program, and related classroom work in many subject areas to accomplish our goals. We are hampered by overcrowded conditions and overtaxed facilities, but completion of our building program will assist greatly in improving the situation.

"We have a fine, capable, and hard-working staff, dedicated to high standards. With public understanding and support we can provide the pupils in Saugerties Central Schools with the kind of program which will start them in the right direction on the road to physical fitness."



NEW FERROXCUBE SYSTEMS—At a recent spring computer conference held in Washington, D. C., Ferroxcube Corporation of America, Saugerties announced new 5 and 6 microsecond memory systems. J. W. Dymecki, a member of the Ferroxcube staff (standing, left) describes significant new features of these systems to more than 20 trade and news editors from leading industrial and technical magazines. Interest ran high on the Ferroxcube systems, components and basic ferrites, it was reported. Dymecki and his family reside at Normandy Court, West Hurley. (Capitol photo)

3 Republican Contenders Plead by Proxy for Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Three Republican presidential contenders make final pleas by proxy for Oregon primary votes today while Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller winds up his nonstop campaign asking: "What do the absent advocate."

That was the New York governor's theme as the six way presidential primary battle boiled toward a showdown at the polls Tuesday.

He drummed it as public opinion pollsters reported other candidates are narrowing the Oregon margin they credit to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in South Viet Nam.

Rocky Encouraged

"I'm very encouraged," Rockefeller said Wednesday. "Lodge is down in the polls. I'm optimistic. Things are getting better."

George Cabot Lodge, son of the favored ambassador who was the 1960 Republican choice for vice president, hurried to Oregon to declare his father would answer "with force and clarity" if the party called upon him to head its 1964 ticket.

Oregon allies of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater talked optimisticallly of their men's chances.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine also are on the GOP ballot. They have staged no campaigns.

Works Whole Month

Rockefeller has spent a month courting Oregon Republicans. With the primary a few hours away, two of his children—Ann Pierson and Rodman C. Rockefeller, both of New York City, came to Portland Wednesday night.

Goldwater's sons Barry Jr. and Michael have been the anchor men of his campaign here. The senator himself has not been in Oregon since April 7. He canceled later campaign trips, saying he had to stay in Washington because the Senate was busy with the civil rights bill.

In a nationwide television address beamed to six Oregon channels Wednesday night, Goldwater said the United States should take the lead in applying economic and political pressure "to change the Communist plan."

"I think we ought to use every peaceful means available for calling freedom's tune," he said.

Eyes Second Ballot

Goldwater said in Philadelphia earlier he sees "a surge now for Nixon" in the battle for the GOP nomination. But the Arizona senator said he expects to win it on the second ballot at San Francisco.

Nixon's Oregon supporters were buoyed by the 1960 nominee's write-in showing in the Nebraska primary Tuesday.

Nixon captured 31 per cent of the Republican vote in Nebraska. Goldwater, alone on the ballot, won that primary with 50 per cent of the turnout.

Rockefeller aimed his strongest words at Goldwater.

He told a cheering crowd of 900 at the University of Portland Wednesday night he fears the Republican party "is in serious danger of being dominated by a narrow, doctrinaire, radical extremism outside of the mainstream of American political thought and action."

He coupled that with a slap at his absent opponents. "Where do the silent stand?" he asked. "Is the primary being replaced by the poll—the public opinion poll?"

Dozen Cars Derailed

WEST DEERFIELD, Mass. (AP)—A dozen cars of a 125-car Boston & Maine Railroad freight train were derailed Wednesday night. No injuries were reported.

The train was bound from Mechanicville, N.Y., to Boston.

Divorced Couple Honored - in Hollywood Style

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Where but in Hollywood would they give a party for a divorced couple?

Universal Studios Tuesday night honored Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, co-stars in the movie thriller, "The Night Walker."

Although divorced a dozen years, "Barbara and I have remained good friends," says Taylor.

Miss Stanwyck, 56, said she was asked "if I would have any objection if Bob appeared in the picture. I said, 'Of course not — but you'd better ask Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.'"

Taylor, 52, said, "It's all right with me if it's all right with her.'"

The present Mrs. Taylor, actress Ursula Thiess, was asked if it was all right with her.

"Not necessarily," she said, smiling enigmatically.

Cleric Halts His 18-day Hunger Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —The Rev. Clayton K. Hewett, a white Episcopalian rector, has ended an 18-day hunger strike.

The Right Rev. Rober L. De Witt, bishop of the Pennsylvania Episcopal diocese, announced the end of the fast shortly after the Rev. Mr. Hewett, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Atonement in suburban Morton, was discharged from a hospital.

The bishop told newsmen the 37-year-old rector had agreed to end the fast because Gov. William W. Scranton's intervention has been responsible for the apparent beginning of real progress in the racial situation at Chester. The bishop wants the Rev. Mr. Hewett to have training to prepare him for additional ministry in civil rights work.

The Rev. Mr. Hewett had been taking only water, juices and vitamin capsules since his arrest in the April 24 demonstrations in Chester.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Confidence is pushing business orders and plans ahead without waiting for consumer sales to catch fire.

Many executives have their eyes on the autumn when they think the consumers will join the parade. This spring the flag is being carried by business itself.

Some firms are starting to build up inventories.

Orders Nicely Ahead

Many factories report new orders nicely ahead of a year ago. And some $50.7 billion of unfilled orders at the end of March assure busy weeks ahead.

Even the steel industry is doing some second guessing. In April it found the big late winter spurt in orders leveling off. Now it reports orders for June delivery above earlier expectations. Many mills now anticipate a much smaller dip in shipments next month than they did a few weeks back.

The auto industry will go into its usual summer slowdown for model changeovers, complicated this year by what could be more than normally heated labor negotiations.

New strength in steel orders is coming from the railroads, appliances, farm implements and construction. The metalworking weekly Iron Age says that some mills are lengthening their delivery promises because of this, although a steel shortage isn't in the picture by any means.

Acts as Drag

Also helping the steel outlook for summer is a change in imports—some are being priced higher and some foreign mills are finding larger markets at home and less urge to sell here.

Lagging retail volume in March acted as a drag on total business sales, the Department of Commerce reports. The total of manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade in March was put at $70.9 billion, compared with February's record $71 billion.

The final days of April showed a pickup, attributable in large part to better weather. And most merchants are looking for good figures in May.

It's the autumn, though, on which their expectations are being built. By then, the retail spokesmen figure, consumers will really be spending that additional $8 billion which the cut in federal income taxes was designed to give them.

Slabsides Open House May 23

The spring Open House Day at Slabsides, rustic cabin of the naturalist John Burroughs at West Park, will be Saturday, May 23 this year. This is an opportunity to see the cabin and to take part in a nature walk conducted by Henry Dunbar to see birds and wild flowers in the area.

The program will begin at 11 with a talk by Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley. All are invited to bring a picnic lunch and join members of the John Burroughs Natural History Society in this spring-time outing.

To reach Slabsides, turn west from 9-W at West Park, cross the railroad tracks, and follow the paved road to the top of the hill, about a half mile. Park where Burroughs Drive begins and walk the rest of the way to the cabin. Do not drive all the way in as there is room for only one car to park by the cabin. The cabin will be open rain or shine on May 23.

4-H Members Start Pheasant Raising Program

Twenty-one Ulster County 4-H Club members are participating in this year's annual pheasant program in cooperation with the New York State Conservation Department.

A total of 910 day-old pheasant chicks were distributed to members on Monday at a training school conducted at the home of Larry Larsen, Stone Ridge. Al Roberts, game protector from Highland presented instruction on the proper care, feeding and management of pheasants and record sheets and reference materials were also given.

Under the cooperative pheasant agreement, each 4-H Club member agrees to raise and care for the chicks for a period of seven weeks. At the conclusion of the period the local game protector releases the birds on unposted land and the member receives one dollar for each bird released.

The purpose of the program is to provide for the 4-H member an opportunity to gain experience in raising and caring for small animals. The member assumes full responsibility for the management of the pheasant chicks. Through this program, the Conservation Department is able to increase the game in local areas. Thus the cooperative agreement provides a worthwhile program for both 4-H members and the Conservation Department according to Carlton M. Conklin, County 4-H Club agent.

Those receiving pheasants are: Frederick M. Bouton, Shokan; Kristin Countryman, High Falls; Gary Owen Halstead, Highland; Dolores Hofler, Hurley; Barbara, Marilyn and David Hanson, Olive Bridge; Larry Larsen, Stone Ridge; Elaine and Loretta Martin, Wallkill; Pat Matteson, New Paltz; Carol Muller, Lucia Wojcio and Linda Wojcio, Lake Katrine; Arthur, Fred and Marie Michel, New Paltz, Robert and Donald Tuthill, Wallkill, Anthony and Stephen Wittek, Flatbush.

Donovan Says N.Y., U.S. Must Share in Integration Costs

NEW YORK (AP) — Higher quality, better integrated education in New York City will cost a lot more money and the state and nation should help pay for it, says James B. Donovan, president of the board of education.

To Ask Special Session

The school system has been sharply criticized by a state advisory committee that said nothing the board has done or planned can halt the trend of increasing de facto segregation in the public schools.

Donovan said Wednesday it will take "several hundred millions of dollars" to put into effect the committee's recommendations and to carry out other, similar programs.

He said he intends to ask Gov. Rockefeller to call a special session of the Legislature this summer to vote additional school aid.

And he said he has talked with Sargent Shriver, head of President Johnson's anti-poverty campaign, who promised that requests for funds "will receive fair and prompt consideration."

The advisory committee recommended a top-to-bottom reorganization of the school system. It indicated that at least $250 million would have to be added to the annual operating budget of $800 million.

Total Plan Impossible

It said total desegregation is impossible and that 131 elementary schools and 25 junior high schools are 90 per cent or more Negro and Puerto Rican—twice the number five years ago.

New York has no legal segregation, but neighborhood racial patterns have led to schools that are predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican or white.

Donovan noted that the state report said more than 700,000 Negroes and Puerto Ricans had moved into the city and 800,000 whites had left since World War II.

It would be just as unfair to expect the city to cope with this problem alone, he said.

Poor Plumbing In Soviet Hotel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Visitors to one of the Soviet Union's newest hotels better bring their own wash basin stoppers and a little extra plumbing.

At least that was the experience of Dr. Leland J. Haworth, director of the National Science Foundation.

Haworth and some traveling companions were the first guests in a new hotel in Dubna, near Moscow.

"We were told," he related in congressional testimony made public today, "that if we wanted water in a tub or basin, we should take sink stoppers."

They got the stoppers, used the wash basin and jerked out the stoppers.

"The water went all over the floor," Haworth said. "The pipe ended without connecting to the pipe below it."

Kerhonkson Man Unhurt

At 1:30 a. m. today a car operated by Martin Somers, 35, of Highland Avenue, Kerhonkson, failed to negotiate a curve on Route 209, Main Street, Accord, as it was being operated south on Route 209. The car struck an embankment, state troopers from the Ellenville station reported, and overturned in a private driveway. Somers was reported uninjured.

Parked Car Struck

On Wednesday the car of David Rososky of Ellenville was parked on Route 209, about a half mile south of Route 55 in the Town of Wawarsing, when it was struck by a car operated by Veronica Terwilliger, Continental Road, Napanoch, which was also headed north. State police from Ellenville who investigated reported no injuries.

Earthworm Population

The earthworm population varies in density from 13,000 to 500,000 per acre in a cultivated field, 2 million an acre in pasture and 3 million per acre in Oxford meadows, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Still Lag Behind Many

Teacher Pay Nearly Doubles 50-51 Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teacher salaries have nearly doubled since the 1950-51 school year, but they still lag far behind most other professional workers, the National Education Association reports.

$5,963 Average Pay

The NEA said the national average salary of classroom teachers this year is $5,963, an increase of $231 over 1962-63.

This year's figure is 97.2 per cent higher than in 1950-51. In that 13-year period, the average salary of elementary-school teachers rose by 106.6 per cent, secondary-school teachers by 81.4 per cent.

Secondary-school teachers this year are making an average of $6,214, elementary-school teachers $5,797.

According to 1960 census figures, the NEA said the average salary for all teachers ranked 15th in a list of 20 professions. Only social and welfare workers, librarians, elementary school teachers, clergymen and dieticians ranked below them.

Salaries of secondary-school teachers ranked slightly higher than the average for all teachers. Physicians and surgeons led the list, with average annual income three times that of teachers. No dollar figures were given

Start at $4,700

The NEA report, "Economic Status of Teachers in 1963-64," said the typical beginning teacher in the largest cities, where the highest salaries are paid, starts at an annual salary of $4,700.

This is estimated to be at least $1,000 less than a male college graduate could expect as a starting wage in virtually any other profession.

The report did not include a state-by-state breakdown of average teacher salaries.

Johnson Aid Bill May Come Out of House Unit Intact

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's $3.4-billion foreign aid bill may come out of the House Foreign Affairs Committee today intact.

If so, this will be the first time that a President's foreign aid request has passed the first barrier on the long congressional road without being sliced at least a little bit.

This would not mean, however, that Johnson is sure to end up with the $3.4 billion he wants.

Only Authorization

The bill now in the committee only authorizes the money. After Congress is finished with that bill, it starts work on another to appropriate the money. The big cuts—if any—would come then.

But Johnson's hopes received a firm boost Wednesday when the committee, in executive session, rejected all attempts to cut the bill. This represented a major victory in the Johnson strategy of giving Congress a bill that he said already was bare to the bone.

Not for Money

And the controversies that lie ahead today do not center on money cuts at all.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said that the committee will take up three money items today—military assistance, the contingency fund and administration costs of foreign aid.

The big amendment pending calls for an increase of $250 million in military assistance and not a decrease. This has been proposed by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., who says that the $1 billion in the bill for military assistance is not enough.

Morgan expects less of a fight over military assistance than over a provision that gives David E. Bell, director of the Agency for International Development, authority to dismiss what he considers "marginal people" from AID's Washington headquarters.

The chairman said there is a dispute between his committee and the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee about which group should have jurisdiction over this problem.

Judge Dismisses Murder Charge Against Girl, 17

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A judge has dismissed a double murder charge against Theresa Robichaud, 17, of Fresno, Calif., on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

Superior Court Judge Warren L. McCarthy overruled Wednesday a justice of the peace who recently ordered Miss Robichaud to stand trial for the slayings of John and Mildred Bertella of Sherrill, N.Y.

Miss Robichaud returned to Fresno two weeks ago after being released on $5,000 bond.

Ex-convict Herbert Shockey, 30, reportedly admitted the killings to Maricopa County Sheriff L. C. (Cal) Boies, but did not implicate the girl.

The Bertellas were found beaten and stabbed in the desert about 40 miles east of Phoenix, near the Superstition Mountains, on Feb. 23.

Shockey and Miss Robichaud were arrested near Austin, Nev., in the slain couple's camper truck. Shockey is to go on trial June 8.

FUN AT NURSERY SCHOOL—Enjoying outdoor play at Fair Street Nursery School are Holly Prentice of Kingston and Mark Thompson of Woodstock who are among the 85 children enrolled at the school this year. Children come to the school from as far away as Saugerties, Stone Ridge, Woodstock and Rhinebeck although the bulk of the enrollment is from the Kingston area. Registration for next fall's term will be held at the school May 26 and 27. Early registration of three and four year olds is necessary to insure a place in next fall's classes. TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Thursday, May 14, the 135th day of 1964. There are 231 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1804, Capt. Meriwether Lewis and Capt. William Clark, after a winter spent on the east bank of the Missouri River, set out on their expedition to get firsthand knowledge of the territory the United States had acquired in the Louisiana purchase.

On this date

In 1814, Paraguay gained its independence from Spain.

In 1913, the Rockefeller Foundation was established.

In 1940, Nazi planes poured death and destruction on Rotterdam as the armies of the Netherlands were about to capitulate.

In 1942, Congress authorized the establishment of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

In 1945, American forces on Okinawa made fresh gains with the capture of two key points—Conical Hill and the Yonabaru Airfield.

Ten years ago — The Grand National Assembly of Turkey reelected pro-Western Celal Bayar president.

Five years ago—Secretary of State Christian Herter presented a Western plan to the Big Four foreign Ministers at Geneva, calling for the uniting of East and West Berlin through free elections.

One year ago—The General Assembly voted to admit Kuwait as the 111th member of the United Nations.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In all the dust kicked up by the three-cornered battle of words over the television Emmy, an important television move has been obscured.

The producer of two of television's five dramatic series which are shot in New York, has picked up his staff and cast and moved to California. The shows are CBS' "The Defenders" and "The Nurses." The emergency move was forced by a strike of a local independent union of scenic and costume designers, making it impossible to continue shooting fall episodes on schedule.

Could Be End for New York

The strike also halted production of CBS' new series, "The Reporter." Two other New York based series were unaffected simply because they were not in production, CBS' "Mr. Broadway," and ABC's "Patty Duke Show."

Michael Dann, CBS programming vice president, said he believed that if the New York made shows were forced to go to California to make their programs on schedule, "it will be the end of New York production of dramatic shows."

"I think that if they have once moved out there, and get their standing sets built, it will be too expensive for them to pick up and move back again," he said.

Chuck Connors, who had contracts with Universal and Revue studios, has terminated both "by mutual agreement," as they always say.

Connors was under Revue contract for "Arrest and Trial," which recently died miserably and undeservedly in a bad Sunday night ABC time spot, and was under a seven-year contract to make one theater film a year.

Connors is an attractive, popular performer and already has interesting offers from David Susskind and Goodson-Todman, the game show people who apparently have not been discouraged by two tenative steps into the dramatic field — "The Rebel," a half-hour Western that didn't last long, and "The Richard Boone Show," an expensive casualty of this season.

Levitt Issues 1963 Data

School Taxes Jump Faster in Upstate

School taxes in New York State districts outside of New York City — including Ulster, Greene, Delaware, Orange, Dutchess and Columbia Counties — have been rising twice as fast as those for the City of New York.

This was noted in a compilation of 1963 school data issued by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The data, part of the Financial Data for School Districts in New York State, for the year ending June 30, 1963, indicates that New York City school taxes rose to $493 million in 1963 from a level of $266 million in 1954.

Wide Spread

The total school property in the rest of the state rose from $245 million to $660 million during this same period.

Full value, the reports shows, of taxable property per student, for instance, varies from $11,903 in Tioga County to $64,653 in Hamilton County. Another important factor shown in Levitt's report is the variation in the number of enrolled students per 1,000 population.

Levitt's compilation gives key data per enrolled pupil for area counties as follows: (figures in order are—real property taxes, state aid, full value, current operations)—

Ulster - $369 - $338 - $28,688 - $603; Greene - $244 - $402 - $26,756 - $606; Delaware - $186 - $503 - $16,432 - $610; Columbia - $206 - $409 - $19,106 - $583; Dutchess - $345 - $323 - $25,387 - $580; Orange - $290 - $370 - $21,949 - $621.

Just Slight Increase

Although state aid for education increased more rapidly upstate during this same period, this increase—at 231 per cent—was only slightly higher than the New York City increase of 210 per cent. "These school tax increases," Comptroller Levitt said, "are in addition to other increases required for county, city, village and town purposes. The problem of these burgeoning property taxes require close study by leaders in every community of our state."

A new feature introduced in this edition of this annual publication is an analysis for each county and each major school district of fiscal data per enrolled pupil reveals important differences among the various counties.

Variations Inevitable

Property taxes per pupil varied in 1963 from a low of $140 in Schuyler County to a high of $702 per pupil in Hamilton County. State aid was lowest in Westchester County, at $251, and highest in Lewis County, at $526. Current operating expenditures per pupil ranged from $502 in Chemung County to $991 in Hamilton County.

Levitt pointed out that these variations were inevitable in any system which attempted to produce uniform and high level educational facilities in communities with varying levels of need for public education and different abilities to support this need through local resources.

Izvestia Raps Wrappings

MOSCOW (AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia criticized Soviet factories Wednesday night for putting so many of their products in unattractive wrappings.

For example:

1. Candy in wrappers showing two chickens fighting over a worm.

2. Wrist watches in boxes with decorations similar to those on insect powder containers.

"To sell under conditions of shortages is easy," said Izvestia, "but now we have more and more goods and it is clear to us that selling today is not a simple business."

NATO . . .

President Makarios of Cyprus.

The agreement avoided a major crisis in the alliance. The festering quarrel between threatened to undermine the alliance's whole southeastern flank.

The agreement was reached after several ministers, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Paul Martin of Canada, urged Greece and Turkey to permit NATO to act under a December, 1956, resolution covering the alliance's internal affairs.

Rusk Warns Both

Rusk warned the two nations an armed conflict between them over Cyprus must not be allowed to happen.

Secretary - General Dirk U. Stikker was authorized to contact the Greek and Turkish governments to promote better relations between Athens and Ankara. He is to keep NATO's permanent council informed.

This work will be continued by Stikker's successor, Mnalio Brosio of Italy, who takes office Aug. 1.

The Greek-Turkish agreement provided the only major accomplishment of the spring meeting revealed thus far. On other major political problems facing the 15 allied powers in Europe, America and Asia, the foreign ministers succeeded only in defining their differences.

Herkimer Woman On State U. Board

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Margaret T. Quackenbush of Herkimer has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the State University's Board of Trustees, Gov. Rockefeller's office announced today.

Mrs. Quackenbush, a Republican, was named to succeed Boyd E. Golder, a former Democratic mayor of Utica, who retired from the university board Dec. 31, 1962.

Her term in the non-salaried post will run through June 30, 1966. Senate confirmation of the appointment is required, but Mrs. Quackenbush may serve meanwhile.

VIKING ON THE ROCKS—Joergen Waring, 28-year-old Danish sculptor, stands with steel statue of a comic Viking on harbor rocks where Copenhagen's Little Mermaid perched until she recently lost her head. A police patrol spotted the figure soon after dawn and hauled it away. The head of the Little Mermaid was sawed off by a vandal and is being fitted with a new head. "I felt sorry for all the tourists who came down to the harbor looking for a ghost who isn't here," said Waring. (AP Wirephoto)

Texas Town Is Jittery After Rattlers Escape

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Residents of this lower Rio Grande Valley town were jittery today at the thought of 10 to 20 hungry rattlesnakes wandering near schools in town.

An estimated 25 to 35 of the reptiles were released from a box Wednesday — apparently as a joke — and only 15 were killed in a massive snake hunt which lasted until 1 a.m. and was resumed at dawn.

Roger Miller, an Edinburg mechanic, was collecting the snakes to sell to a Laredo firm which pays 75 cents a pound.

Miller kept the snakes in a wood box placed in an old car body. He discovered when he returned from work Wednesday someone had pried the top off the box. The snakes had escaped out a window of the car he left cracked for ventilation.

"One was crawling out the window, and another was wrapped around the headlight when I came out," he said. "I killed them, but the rest of them were gone."

Police, volunteer firemen and area residents joined the hunt. By 10 p.m., more than 150 persons were searching, with flashlights, guns, sticks and two-way radios.

Police Chief Leroy Easton expressed concern for students. Miller's home is across the street from Pan American College, and is near two public schools.

Denies Part in Raid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department denied today any United States involvement in the anti-Castro raid Wednesday on a sugar mill in Cuba.

A department spokesman also denied that any CIA money was used to finance the raid.

Some officials, obviously seeking to dissociate the Washington government from the new anti-Castro refugee activity, said authorities here generally disapproved use of U.S. teritory for announcement and discussion of the action by its

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

TURNABOUT: The Johnson administration has the International Development Association bill it wants today, thanks to a sharp turn-around in the House.

The House passed the measure Wednesday, authorizing a $312-million U.S. participation in the 17-nation pool of capital to lend to underdeveloped countries.

Passage was by voice vote, but a motion to kill the bill by sending it back to committee was knocked down by a 115-vote margin. The last time the House voted on IDA, Feb. 26, a similar motion carried by 20 votes.

But President Johnson and key Cabinet members worked hard in the interim to reverse the decision and Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was President when the United States helped set up IDA, helped with a letter to Republicans.

DRAFT: The Defense Department has ordered that 8,000 men be drafted in July for the Army.

The quota is 2,000 more than June's but 4,000 less than the April and May draft calls.

The Marine Corps, the Navy and the Air Force will not dip into the Selective Service pool for their manpower needs in July, the Pentagon said.

SHOT DELAYED: The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has ordered another delay in the trouble-plagued Ranger moon program.

It set back until the July-September period the launching of the seventh Ranger craft, Ranger B, whose mission will be to take television pictures of the moon's surface and relay them back to earth.

NASA said the postponement, from a hoped-for June date, was based on "the desire to assure the most careful possible check and review of the many tests being made on the Ranger B space craft."

The delay was recommended by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory Pasadena, Calif., which manages the Ranger program.

ICC Is Petitioned To Abandon Rail Line in Delaware

News from Washington reveals a petition by the New York Central Railroad to the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon 20 miles of railroad between Bloomville and Oneonta.

This 20 miles is a portion of the former Ulster & Delaware Railroad, now officially known as the Catskill Mountain Branch of the New York Central System, located in Delaware County.

Present rail traffic on the line, running from Kingston to Oneonta, is a freight train up one day and down the next, with no Sunday service. The railroad claims an operating loss on this portion from Bloomville to Oneonta.

The former Ulster & Delaware Railroad operated a total of 103 miles from Kingston Point to Oneonta where it connected with the Delaware & Hudson Railroad. In days past, many coal trains from the coal fields in Pennsylvania were hauled over the Delaware & Hudson Railroad to Oneonta where they were transferred to the Ulster & Delaware tracks and brought down to tidewater at Kingston —there to have the coal loaded on barges and taken up and down the Hudson River. This business was very extensive in bygone days, along with carloads of milk destined for New York City which came over the Ulster & Delaware into Kingston and down the West Shore line to New York.

In recent years this coal and milk business has ceased to exist as rail traffic, and most of the freight business has been on-line traffic going to or from small communities along the 103 miles of rail line up through the Catskills. Passenger traffic ceased some years ago.

Decision on the abandonment of the 20 miles from Bloomville into Oneonta has not been made by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Pa. Solons Eye Funds

HARRISBURG (AP)— Money to run most Pennsylvania state government programs in the fiscal year beginning July 1 was the chief object of attention in the Legislature today.

The $1.067 billion general appropriation bill and $58 million worth of state grants to private collleges, universities and hospitals were ready for final action in the House. The Senate was in position to give final consideration to $20 million in government housekeeping appropriations.

To Meet on Compact

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Interstate Advisory Committee on the Susquehanna River Basin will meet Monday in Cooperstown, N.Y., to start work on an interstate-federal compact.

Major item on the agenda is the creation of a special task force of specialists from New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland to start preparing the compact.

"This compact is important," said Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania secretary of forests and waters and chairman of the advisory committee.

Covers Resignation

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — Patrolman Alexander Adams Jr. "covered" his own resignation from the police force. He submitted the resignation to the City Commission then wrote the story for his new employer, the Evensville, Ind., Courier.

Official's Son, Coed Arrested in College Drug Case

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The son of a college official and a 20-year-old coed are free in bail after their arrest in what police say is a continuing probe of narcotics traffic in this college community.

Charged Wednesday with giving or selling marijuana were Gordon Light, 23, of Ithaca, son of Ben Light, Ithaca College secretary, and Mona A. Silverman, 20, of The Bronx.

The younger Light and Miss Freeman are students at Ithaca College.

Miss Silverman appeared before City Judge Edward J. Casey who ordered the case presented to a grand jury.

Light appeared before Justice of the Peace Richard LaFave and asked, through his attorney, for a dismissal. LaFave reserved decision on the motion.

Light and Miss Silverman posted bail.

Police said they were arrested on the Ithaca campus after they allegedly sold or gave marijuana to Detective Edward Manet of the New York City Police Department's Narcotics Bureau. Manet is on special assignment to the Ithaca police.

A large quantity of marijuana was seized, police said. They declined to say where or how much.

Dear Abby . . .

One Mother's Heartache!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please print this. Maybe it will spare some other mother the heartbreak I suffered. I am the mother of a retarded son. When he was very young, my family and my doctor tried to get me to put the boy in an institution, but I loved him so dearly I could not bear the thought of putting him away. I thought I could give him the care he needed, so I kept him at home. I didn't know how wrong it was. As the years passed, he developed normally physically, and he began to take notice of the girls. One day he grabbed a little 11-year-old neighbor girl and tried to rape her. The outcome was so terrible for our family. My boy is now in an institution, branded as a "rapist." If I had only listened to my family, this would not have happened. Please advise mothers of retarded children to learn all they can about their problem.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Thank you for your letter. If it helps just one mother, it will be well worth the space it is given in this newspaper. For information regarding the problems of retarded children, write to: National Association for Retarded Children: Dep't. TW, 386 Park Avenue South, N. Y. 16, N. Y.

DEAR ABBY: How many times should you invite a couple to dinner when they have never had you back? I invited a certain couple to my home for small dinner parties on three separate occasions in this past year, and they never invited us back. I am planning another party and my husband suggested I invite this couple. I told him I would not invite them again until they returned the invitation. My husband says I shouldn't be so "touchy." Abby, these people have entertained many times that I know about, and my intuition tells me they could have invited us if they had wanted to. What do you say?

"TOUCHY"

DEAR "TOUCHY": I'll go along with your woman's intuition. Don't invite them again until they have invited you.

DEAR ABBY: Unfortunately I go to the same beauty shop as the woman who owns and manages the apartment building I live in. My problem is that this woman tells the beauty operator all my business while she gets her wash and set. It's a neighborhood shop, and many of my friends go there, too, and they all listen in while this landlady blabs all my personal business and especially about the family arguments she hears. The beauty operator not only eats it up, but pumps her for more. What can be done about this?

ANTI-BUSYBODIES

DEAR ANTI: You can't shut up your landlady, but you can move. You can also find a beauty shop where the operator doesn't feast on the domestic scraps of others.

CONFIDENTIAL TO F. G. B.: Your letter was a dandy, but too long to print. I agree with you. To sum it up: "What we don't spend on education today we will spend on penal institutions tomorrow!"

Chyrel Remains Silent on Charge, So Judge Pleads

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Chyrel Jolls, accused of killing a 3-year-old boy, refused to enter a plea to a charge of first-degree murder, so a judge pleaded innocent on her behalf.

Judge Frederick M. Marshall of Erie County Court also pleaded innocent Wednesday for her to a charge of kidnaping another boy.

Chyrel, 18, remained silent before Marshall on the advice of her lawyer, who contends the court lacks jurisdiction in the case.

She is accused of kidnaping and drowning Andrew Ashley and kidnaping five - year old Richard Edgington. The Ashley boy's bound body was pulled from a park lake on June 25, 1961. Richard was found bound and gagged, but otherwise unharmed, later that month.

Chyrel was judged by psychiatrists in March as being capable of standing trial after spending more than two years in a mental hospital.

Deaths

LONDON (AP) — Diana Wynyard, 58, one of Britain's greatest actresses and a top movie star in Hollywood in the 1930s, died Wednesday of a kidney ailment.

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Josephine Sugden Murphy, 77, widow of Frederick Duncan Murphy, who was founder and president of the Art Gravure Corp., died Tuesday of a heart attack. Mrs. Murphy was the mother of Mrs. Herman Henry Ridder of Long Beach, Calif., president of Ridder Publications.

Javits Suggests Impact Hearings On Base Closings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., has asked the joint economic committee to evaluate the economic impact on communities when military bases are closed.

He made public today a letter to Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of both the full committee and the defense procurement subcommittee, urging such a study.

Javits urged hearings by the subcommittee in the near future "to get first hand information from the affected communities' point of view" by interviewing community leaders.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

OES Observes Mothers Day

ELLENVILLE — At a recent meeting of the Ellenville Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star held at the Undercroft of the Episcopal Church, Ellenville, Mothers Day was commemorated with appropriate ceremonies.

The program was opened by the reading of a poem in honor of mothers by Worthy Matron Clara Eck.

The worthy matron called to the attention of the members that one of the present officers who had become a member of the Star in 1920 was also the oldest mother of a Star member present that night. She chose her to represent all mothers of the Star for the evening's program. She directed Conductress Gertrude Phillips and Associate Conductress Dorothy Billquist to conduct the Chapter Chaplain, Mabel C. Schoonmaker to the East for a seat of honor.

A degree was then presented by the rest of the officers entitled, Lighting the Way for Mothers.

Associate Matron, Christine Gobel presented Sister Schoonmaker with a basket of pink and white carnations. Each member was also presented with a begonia plant. Miss Debbie Geary, daughter of Sister Gladys Geary sang a solo dedicated to mothers.

The junior choir of the Episcopal Church, under the direction of Mrs. Donald Bradford presented several choral selections.

After the business meeting had been resumed, it was announced that anyone desiring to give a gift for the annual pilgrimage day to Oriskany, July 25, should leave it with Conductress Gertrude Phillips on or before June 1 so that she could prepare the gifts for presentation.

The Eastern Star members will be guests of honor at the annual ladies night of the Master Masons Thursday at the undercroft of the Episcopal Church.

Following the meeting refreshments were served and a social hour was held. Decorations for the Mothers Day celebration were arranged under the supervision of Miss Frances Eck.

The next meeting of the Eastern Star will be held Monday evening, May 18, at which time the annual ceremony of the Draping of the Altar will be observed.

Tough Jackrabbits Near Texas Air Base

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —Southwesterners boast about the size and strength of jackrabbits like other people talk about big fish. At least one bunny turned battler.

A jackrabbit attacked a sentry dog guarding Sheppard Air Force Base here a few days ago. The marksmanship of the guard accompanying the dog broke up the fight.

Air base officials said they feared the bunny was rabid and had tests run. The reply today was "not rabid."

"Just a tough jackrabbit," commented an air base official.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Wednesday, May 20, from 9 to 10 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diptheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

In 1963 more than 25 million corncobs turned up as the result of the harvest. Taking advantage of a large number of these is a manufacturer in Decatur, Ill. He is now marketing a face powder made primarily of microporous cellulose derived from the ground inner core of the cob. According to the company's tests, women say they like it because it is smooth and less irritating to hypersensitive skins.

'Torch' Orders Pour In

Kennedy Books Top Best-Seller Lists

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The biggest and best sellers in the publishing industry are books about the life, times and assassination of John F. Kennedy.

They range from a thesis he wrote as an undergraduate at Harvard to the book that won him a Pulitzer Prize. One runs only several hundred words and sells by the tens of thousands. Some sell by the millinos.

How many of the Kennedy books have been sold is hard to determine. The publishers aren't releasing sales figures. It's against their policy, they say.

Largest Not on List

But the largest seller is one that hasn't made the best seller lists, The Associated Press book on the assassination, "The Torch Is Passed." By early May it had sold 3,612,000 copies and orders were still coming in for about 35,000 volumes a week. Almost all have been sold through member newspapers of the news cooperative rather than book stores, which is why the volume is not at the top on best seller lists. Slightly more than 300,000 copies have also been sold overseas in Spanish, Korean, Japanese, Italian, Dutch, Danish and Swedish editions.

Western Publishing Co., which printed "The Torch Is Passed," says the press run is the largest they know of in terms of units produced and sold in so short a period.

Another multimillion seller is "Four Days," a joint effort of United Press International and American Heritage. "Four Days" has also been distributed in book stores through Simon and Schuster. Sales total just over two million through UPI papers and broadcasting stations and an additional 350,000 to date via book stores. The latter figure has put "Four Days" atop the nonfiction best seller list for a number of weeks. A press run of 40,000 in a Dutch version has been ordered.

Life magazine printed three million copies of a memorial Kennedy edition combining their issues of the assassination and funeral of the late president. A total of 2.85 million copies has sold.

Look Mum on Sales

Look magainze also put out a memorial Kennedy edition but declined to disclose sales.

Two Kennedy books were high among sales totals for 1963. One was "Profiles in Courage," Kennedy's own Pulitzer Prize winner. Long a top selller after publication in the 1950s it had gone through 30 printings. It sold "fantastically well" after the assassination in November, according to Harper & Row, the publishers.

Harper is not releasing figures but Publisher's Weekly notes "Profiles" was third behind "Security Is a Thumb and a Blanket" for 1963 which sold 356,000 copies. Harold Lasky's "JFK-the Man and the Myth," a critical book on the late president, was No. 4 for the year in nonfiction even though it was withheld for a time after the assassination.

Random House is one of the publishing firms that has released sales figures. Within a month of publication it has sold 105,565 copies of Jim Bishop's "A Day in the Life of President Kennedy."

"Why England Slept," written by Kennedy in 1940 as an enlarged version of a thesis he did at Harvard, has sold 43,943 copies since its original publication by Wilfred Funk and 8,022 of those were sold during the first four months of 1964. Sales of a paperback version put out by Doubleday totalled 18,000 in November and early December.

Farrar Straus & Co. has printed 130,000 copies of "The John F. Kennedys-a Family Portrait" by photographer Mark Shaw.

Second Printing in Works

Benjamin Bradlee wrote a memorial of Kennedy in Newsweek of several hundred words which Lippincott has illustrated with photographs. The short booklet, titled "That Special Grace," has sold over 100,000 copies since April 27. A second printing is in the works.

One author of a Kennedy book, William Manchester, has been named by the president's widow to write an account of the days surrounding the assassination. Jacqueline Kennedy selected him on the basis of his "Portrait of a President," a book about her husband published by Little, Brown & Co. in 1962. They are not disclosing sales other than to say "there was a spurt" after the assassination.

50 Club Honors Juanita Worf For Hospitality

The 50 Club Tuesday night authorized a resolution honoring Mrs. Juanita Worf for her continued hospitality toward the downtown organization which has met in the John Worf restaurant, 97 Abeel Street since 1947.

The resolution of thanks said the late John Worf was one of the seven organizers of the 50 Club and was offered by the five remaining members, who started the club in March 1947.

They include Thomas Coughlin, Peter Murphy, Jack Sass, Richard Smith and Tibor Tomshaw.

President Murphy presented Mrs. Worf with a bouquet of roses and the membership responded with a three minute standing ovation.

Thomas Coughlin, perennial chairman of the Children's July 4th Field Day said plans are progressing for the 15th annual affair. He cautioned however that much work remains to be accomplished in the form of ads and donations to insure a successful program. The "50" Club sponsored basketball team was also honored and invited to the roast beef dinner after the conclusion of the business meeting. A committee was appointed to investigate and report at the June meeting the suggestion of sponsoring a bus trip to Palisade Park for the children.

Attendance at this meeting was the highest in the 17 year history of the club.

School's Special Service Is Topic for Social Group

Special Service programs in the Kingston Consolidated School Systems was the topic of Dr. Wendell W .Hoover, superintendent of schools, when he addressed the business-luncheon meeting of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies Tuesday at the YWCA.

An important phase the trainable classes for the Mental Handicapped children, he said. There are three of these classes held at the Emma Wygant School, Flatbush, with 39 children attending. These classes specialize in making useful citizens, self-care and social adjustments and physical co-ordination, the curriculum must be educational and simple, the speaker added.

There also is a program for the physical handicapped children in the community, there are 21 physical handicapped children enrolled in this class, 3 of them in wheelchair and for children who can not come to school there are home-study courses available and also a classroom to home telephone instructions where the child participates with the children in the classroom at school. One of these home study students will graduate with high honors from Kingston High School class of 1964, Dr. Hoover said.

There are special classes for children with an I.Q. of 50 to 75. In this group there are enrolled at present 132 with not more than 15 to each class.

There also is a special curriculum for the children who are slow in the learning. These children need a special program and teachers who have the patience so they will not become drop-outs and from drop-outs to juvenile delinquents.

There is another program for the special gifted children, preparing them for college. Dr. Hoover's talk followed with a question and answer period.

Dr. Hoover was introduced to the group by Mrs. Charlotte Peck. Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Jr., Council president, presided for the business and she announced that the June meeting will be the annual meeting at which time the nominating committee will bring in the new slate of officers. Serving on this committee are Chairman Miss Rosemary Feeney, Miss Kathrine Murphy and Albert Kurdt.

Guest speaker for the June meeting will be Dr. Dale B. Lake from the Ulster County Community College.

YMCA Announces Swim Classes for Women and Girls

The YMCA will offer two evenings a week for women's swimming, starting Wednesday, June 17, and continuing until Sept. 2, Louis H. Schafer, executive secretary said today.

Women who cannot swim will have two instruction classes every Wednesday at 7 and 8 p. m. Women who know how to swim will use the pool Friday night. Besides recreation swimming on Friday, advanced strokes will be demonstrated and taught along with spring board diving. Friday classes also will be at 7 and 8 p. m. Instructions will only be given according to the desire of the swimmer. Women interested in the Wednesday night beginners class or the Friday night recreation swim should sign as soon as possible. The pool is small and the first come will be the first served. Those interested may call the YMCA or stop in at the main office on Broadway.

The grammar school vacation swim will be held every Wednesday and Friday, both morning and afternoon, starting Wednesday morning June 24. This first morning will be a registration and class placement session. All girls who do not know how to swim should be at the YMCA at 9 a. m. for the registration session.

Girls who know how to swim will have recreation swimming Wednesday and Friday from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m. Advanced swimming strokes and water safety will be taught from 2:30 to 3:15 p. m.

Special honor awards and merit cards will be given all girls who learn to swim. The beginners are called pollywags and they will work on water adjustment, floating face down before they advance to the minnow class, which has 10 swimming skills, ending with a 40-foot swim the length of the YMCA pool in water from three to 7½ feet deep. There are three other swimming skill groups, namely: the Fish, Flying Fish and the Shark. Each of them have nine stroke skills and water safety ideas besides ending with a long distance swim. The Fish group must swim 100 yards, the Flying Fish group must swim 220 yards and the Sharks must swim 440 yards, (¼ mile).

Ninety-two girls were taught to swim in the YMCA pool last summer and it is the desire of secretary Shafer and Bud Sims that well over 100 will be taught this year. There were close to 275 different girls who took advantage of this swimming service offered by the local YMCA. The YMCA could handle more girls, as well as boys if they had the proper facilities and a larger swimming pool.

Parents interested in the YMCA swimming program for girls or for boys may contact the YMCA by phone or call at the Y office.

Judge Disallows Trusteeship for Lakes Race Track

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A government request that a court trusteeship be allowed to oversee the operation of the bankrupt Finger Lakes Race Track has been turned down by a federal judge.

In ruling Wednesday against the Securities & Exchange Commission, Judge Harold P. Burke said the track could operate under the present management.

Finger Lakes, the only thoroughbred horse-racing track in Western New York, lost $2,855,000 in its first two seasons.

Last Dec. 19, the track and its creditors petitioned, in a bankruptcy suit, for permission to continue in business under present management while trying to pay its debts.

The track, at Canandaigua, is scheduled to operate this year from May 27 through Oct. 19.

Bankrupted

As a result of the San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906, several European insurance companies went bankrupt in their attempts to cover the losses, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Artist Jailed By Reds After Escape to West

BERLIN (AP)—An East German trapeze artist who crawled a high tension line to West Berlin 17 months ago was lured back by his wife and is now in a Red prison, a close relative said today.

The wife has divorced him and married another man.

The relative said the circus performer, Horst Klein, went back to East Berlin last July, after receiving letters from his wife, Sylvia, who said she could not go on living without him.

"As soon as Horst got back, he was arrested and last December he was sentenced to 30 months at hard labor," the relative, who asked not to be named, said in an interview.

"The worst thing is, Horst's wife obtained a divorce in February and last month she remarried."

Klein, who was 38 Wednesday, escaped to West Berlin in December 1962, after he was forbidden to work in a circus because he was too outspokenly anti-Communist.

Kline climbed a pylon supporting power cables spanning the barbed wire barricades and the Teltow Canal.

He did not know that the 110,000 volt line no longer was in use. Fearful of being electrocuted, he used his acrobatic agility to leap from the pylon to insulators and then from the insulators to the cable.

Face Task of Getting Support on Amendments To Crack CR Stalemate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders face the task today of winning support for a batch of compromise amendments aimed at cracking the long civil rights stalemate.

Key Republican and Democratic senators agreed on the compromise package Wednesday after their sixth meeting with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The next step willl be an effort by the leaders to sell the proposed changes to their rank-and-file members at party caucuses—on Tuesday for the Republicans, and probably for the Democrats, too.

The big question is whether the amendments, which restrict the scope of the House bill, will make it possible to win over enough senators to invoke cloture and thus shut off the Southern oratory blocking action on the measure.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen appears to have the tougher task since he conceded he must produce 25 of the 33 Republican senators if cloture is to be achieved.

The Democratic leaders must produce either 41 or 42 of their 67 members. There are 18 Southern Democrats and one Republican—Texan John C. Tower—in the group oppposed to the bill.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, the bill's floor manager, pointed out that cloture could be achieved with 41 from his side if only 99 senators vote, as seems likely. Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., is ill and is not expected to be on hand.

To impose cloture requires the votes of two-thirds of the senators present.

Humphrey said that, even if the package wins wide acceptance at the conference next week, an attempt will not be made to invoke cloture immediately.

"We will first have to take the floor and explain the amendments carefully," he said.

Humphrey said he now believes that the amendments would be offered in the form of a substitute for the entire House-passed bill. This would have the advantage of acting on them with one vote.

The Southerners have demonstrated their ability to prevent any votes they do not agree to. And today—the 55th day of debate—they had orators ready to continue on a team led by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala.

Dirksen declined to go into details of the final agreements on the package.

U. N. Will Hear Cambodia Case On Violations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council is expected to meet Monday to take up charges by Cambodia that its territory has been violated by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Cambodia's request for a council meeting gave details of two alleged crossings of the border. Foreign Minister Hout Sambath also charged that the United States and South Viet Nam had repeatedly violated Cambodian territory, murdered civilians, and threatened peace and stability in Southeast Asia.

The Cambodians asked that a U.N. inquiry group be sent to Cambodia.

South Vietnamese and U.S. officials say the Viet Cong guerrillas regularly find sanctuary in Cambodia. South Viet Nam admitted that one armored personnel carrier crossed the border May 8 but said it was a mistake. The Vietnamese government apologized.

U.S. Places Embargo on Cuba Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department announced today it is placing an embargo on the sale of food and medicine to Cuba.

The order means that every item sent to Cuba from the United States will have to receive government approval. The only exception will be gift parcels.

It was disclosed Wednesday that Cubans have approached U.S. companies about the possible purchase of millions of dollars worth of drugs.

The department said the order requiring specific export licenses for shipments of food and medicines "does not mean that such shipments are precluded, but that the department wishes to be informed of all intended trade with Cuba and thereby be in a position to act according to the national interest of the United States. Each decision will be made in the light of all relevant circumstances."

3rd Showdown Ends Tensely In Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — The third showdown in three days between racial demonstrators and National Guard troops in Cambridge ended tensely but without violence or arrests.

More than 100 integrationists marched through the streets singing freedom songs Wednesday night. They dispersed 20 minutes later after twice meeting with guardsmen poised with bayoneted rifles.

Several hours later, however, tension grew as about 150 Negroes and 300 white residents gathered on opposite sides of a phalanx of troops at an intersection.

A dozen or so bottles were thrown, breaking in the street. No one was injured. Eventually, both crowds drifted away—the Negroes urged to disperse by their leaders, the whites by the guardsmen.

Heightening the tension was the death Tuesday night of a 2-month-old Negro child, Rudolph A. Perry Jr. The infant lived in a house within 100 yards of the spot where troops put down a demonstration Monday night with tear gas.

One Negro leader blamed the gas for the death.

Nile Diverted As NIK, Nasser Press Button

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — Triumphantly pushing a button, Premier Khrushchev and President Nasser altered the course of the Nile today and sent it surging into a diversion channel around the site of the Soviet-financed Aswan High Dam.

Joining the leaders in the ceremony marking completion of the first stage of the $1.3-billion irrigation and hydroelectric project were Presidents Abdel Salam Aref of Iraq and Abdullah Sallal of Yemen.

Khrushchev jubilantly joined hands with the Arab leaders as they gazed down on the rushing waters from a richly carpeted pavilion.

The button set off a 352-pound dynamite charge that blew out a plug of rock and earth and allowed the Nile to flow into the channel cut through granite. Fireworks shot into the sky. Some of them formed the flags of the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic.

The ceremony, before more than 35,000 spectators, marked a milestone in the project begun four years ago and for which the Soviet Union has loaned more than $270 million in credits and supplied several thousand engineers and technicians. It is Moscow's greatest aid venture in Africa.

Diversion of the Nile will permit work to go forward on the dam itself, a rock fill structure 2.6 miles long and 436 feet. To be completed in another five years, it will harness the Nile for power development, flood control and increased irrigation.

Laidlaws Present Travelogue at Kingston Rotary

A travelogue of a Mediterranean cruise and an extended visit to Greece, Israel and Rome by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw was enjoyed by members of Kingston Rotary Club and their Rotary Anns Wednesday following the regular luncheon-meeting.

Laidlaw, a former superintendent of Kingston Schools, who has a profound interest in history, was the photographer and Mrs. Laidlaw, who has a predilection for languages, was the narrator. The result was a professional presentation of colored slides portraying the ageless, historical wonders of the Old World together with the modern achievements as exemplified in the State of Israel.

Special guests at the luncheon were former school administrative associates of the educator. The Laidlaws reside in Orlando, Florida.

Man Loses Life As Boat Tips in Choppy Waters

ROUSES POINT, N.Y. (AP)—One man perished and two others were rescued early today after clinging to their overturned boat for about an hour in choppy waters of Lake Champlain.

Amid heavy rain and high winds, State Police dragged the lake for the body of Donald Murray, about 40, of Rouses Point.

Troopers rescued his companions, Frederick P. Martin, 21, and John J. Pelkey, 24, also of Rouses Point.

The three had been camping near Cooperville, south of here, near the mouth of the Great Chazy River. Police said the men went out late Wednesday night in a 14-foot, plywood boat with an outboard motor.

The survivors told police that they decided to return to shore when they discovered how rough the lake was but that the boat was swamped as they turned it around.

They said that they hung onto the boat but that Murray made several attempts to swim to shore and they hauled him back. Murray finally went down. The survivors said they did not know whether he had suffered a heart attack or simply lost his grip.

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton is making a strong bid to project himself as the Upstate Democrats' choice to run for U.S. senator this year.

The 47-year-old congressman from Amsterdam maintains publicly that he is not a candidate, but privately he is in hot pursuit of the nomination to oppose the incumbent Republican, Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester.

Group Hard at Work

Stratton's organization has been hard at work—with an occasional direct assist from Stratton himself — lining up pledges of support from Upstate Democratic leaders.

During the last three weeks, the Stratton camp has announced commitments from 22 county organizations. Stratton personally lined up at least two of them.

These commitments include some populous counties, such as Onondaga (Syracuse), Oneida (Utica) and Schenectady.

According to Stratton's unofficial campaign manager George V. Palmer of Schenectady, the 22 pledges will be good for 127 votes at the Democratic nominating convention to be held Aug. 31 or Sept. 1.

This is far short of the 573 votes needed to nominate a candidate. But it is 127 more votes than any other Senate hopeful is claiming at this stage.

Trying to Avoid Rebuff

Stratton has withheld an announcement of his candidacy because he does not want to risk the kind of open rebuff he suffered at the hands of party leaders when he sought the nomination for governor in 1962.

He has said only that he might be willing to run if the party can agree on his candidacy well before the convention and give him time to mount a strong campaign against Keating.

Whether Stratton will get the nod is much in doubt.

So far two other men have declared themselves available —Anthony B. Akers, former ambassador to New Zealand, and Louis B. Nizer, the lawyer who wrote the best-selling book "My Life in Court."

Other Possibilities

Among others who have been considered possible nominees are New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner, U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and former Gov. W. Averell Harriman, now an undersecretary of state.

Wagner and Stevenson have declared themselves unwilling to run. Harriman is believed available on a "draft" basis.

There have been recent reports also that U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy might move into the state in order to run against Keating. Apparently there is nothing in the law that would bar such a maneuver.

Aside from the possible competition, Stratton faces the handicap of having displeased the New York City power bloc that dominates the Democratic Party of New York State.

See Poor N.Y. Run

Wagner is said to be still smarting from "bossism" charges leveled by Stratton two years ago when Wagner virtually handpicked Robert Morgenthau to run for governor. Other party "regulars" have been irked by Stratton's flirtation with reform Democrats in the city.

Those who would deny Stratton the nomination contend that he would run poorly in New York City—the principal source of Democratic votes—because he is almost unknown there.

The Stratton camp's answer is to point to his reputation as a buzz-saw campaigner and to his winning record in heavily Republican territory Upstate.

They say he would make himself known in New York City in short order and pull a big vote Upstate, to boot.

Brazil Severs Ties With Cuba

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's new government has severed diplomatic relations with Cuba, accusing the Castro regime of trying to spread communism in Latin America's biggest nation.

The break had been expected since rightist military and political leaders ousted left-wing President Joao Goulart April 1. Goulart's government had warmed up to Cuba and other Communist countries.

The action Wednesday left only four Latin-American nations—Bolivia, Chile, Mexico and Uruguay—with diplomatic ties with Cuba.

Board to Weigh Need for Extra Police Patrol

The question of extra police protection and a midnight to dawn patrol for Woodstock was taken under advisement by the Town Board, following Tuesday night's special meeting at town hall.

The board took no definite action after listening to arguments pro and con from a group of about 50 persons. The meeting was the outgrowth of one held several days ago in which a group headed by Joseph Holdridge met with Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux and requested that a midnight to dawn patrol be instituted for the saturated part of the township from the Bearville post office to the Town House.

In opening the meeting, Holdridge reminded Supervisor Mollyneaux that the supervisor had indicated that something would have to be done and that he would take up the matter with the town board.

While the pros and cons of the patrol were debated, Supervisor Molyneaux said there is now a night patrol and the local constabulary is working in close harmony with state police and the sheriff's office.

Cites Statistics

The supervisor also claimed that the incidence of crime in the township is not excessive and is lower than in other areas of the county. He said published reports of a crime wave in Woodstock were not supported by the statistics.

A check of the local police blotter for a two-year period, Molyneaux said, revealed the following statistics: robberies and attempts, 52; obscene phone calls, 5; suicide attempts, 2; vandalism, 15; missing persons, 7; stolen cars, 11; public intoxication, 13; narcotics, 1; sexual deviates, 6. Fourteen of the robbery cases are still "open," he said.

Board members generally expressed doubt that even a midnight to dawn patrol would curb crime to any appreciable degree.

Two board members—Councilmen Gottlob Wagner and William West—taking note that institution of the patrol would cost between $8,000 and $10,000 took firm stands against it. Gottlob said he felt the plan would not work and it would be impossible to cover the whole township. Councilman West said he would be in favor of spending the extra money if he felt the patrol would do the work, but he seriously doubted it would provide that much extra protection.

Holdridge, Hand Firm

Holdridge and William Hand, the two most outspoken advocates of the midnight to dawn patrol, vigorously defended their position. They insisted that the patrol was an absolute necessity and would be worth whatever the cost of operation. Both also insisted the patrol would be a very strong deterrent against crime in the community.

Warren Hutty, local real estate broker, injected an interesting statistics, claiming that over the past four years every third house on the Glasco Turnpike had been "hit" by vandals and burglars. He said that insurance policies have been cancelled on many homes, since the home owners policy are not available to summer residences.

The bulk of the crime in Woodstock are committed by outsiders, largely adults, Molyneaux said. The statement was corroborated by Justice of the Peace Rudi Baumgarten. The statement was designed to refute the popular belief that teenagers are the worst offenders.

In conclusion, Supervisor Molyneaux said the police department was doing a good job and had been augmented when state police reduced coverage of the area. He said the patrol works to midnight and often much later, often on a volunteer basis.

Attorney Franklin P. Gavin also had high praise for the police department, which he said was doing a good job. He also singled out Justices of the Peace Baumgarten and Farley for the exemplary conduct of their offices.

Library Fair Has New Date and Several Changes

The 37th annual Woodstock Library Fair is bursting with all the promise and excitement of a huge surprise party. It will be more colorful, more brilliant and the mood of gaiety the highest in many years.

The most immediate change in the Library Fair policy is, of course, the change in date. Traditionally it has been held on the last Thursday in July. This year it will be held on the last Saturday in July and will open one hour earlier—10 a. m.—and continue until 5 p. m.

There will be a new department called "Attic Antiques" that that will feature all the items in a family house from boots to earrings and tools to tea pots. Here the items will be marked from $3 down and contributors are asked to pay the suggested price on clean and usable clothing donated for the sale.

Then there will be a treasure department where the word "junk" is strictly taboo and one will find items such as furs, jewelry, clothing, antiques and many other delights including a second hand television set in excellent condition. This new department is entitled "Gifts" and here items will be marked specifically for prices. These treasures that will offer the buyer exceptional finds are made possible by those who wish to contribute to their library by donating items of value. These sought after contributions will be registered and here, too, the contributor will have a suggested price.

Old Items Retained

However, fair goers are not to get the impression that there will be no items in the dime and quarter bracket, for always the library fair is a place where one dollar will buy items happily brought home.

The fair is made possible by Woodstockers who annually contribute saleable items to the library for its annual fund and fun day. This has been going on for 37 years and all kinds of articles are still needed. There is also a need for volunteers who could spare some time to help in preparation and work of the fair. Volunteers should contact Verner L. May, fair chairman.

Persons who have articles they wish to donate to the fair are asked to either contact Special Office Services for pickup or may leave their contributions at the fair building starting June 1, from 10 a. m. to noon and from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

The overall committee of the fair consists of approximately 20 separate commmittees who are in constant contact with the 1964 chairman, May and co-chairman, Michael Boyle. Other committee chairmen will be announced this week.

Important Topic For CC Meeting

The Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce has alerted its membership to an important meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at Deanie's.

The meeting notice states that the reduction of peddlers fees to $2.00 from an original $25.00 is detrimental to the merchants and residents of the town. It urges a large attendance of Chamber members to plan Chamber action. A public hearing on the peddlers ordinance has been set for May 20 by the Town Board.

Other matters to be discussed are operating policies for the new information center and a proposal to publish a regular Chamber newsletter.

Senior Citizens

The monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens of Woodstock will be held Tuesday evening, May 19, at the Overlook Methodist Church hall. All persons 60 years and over are welcome.

Parades Among Meeting Topics For Firemen

Parades, parade uniforms, house numbering, and plans for a fund drive were discussed at the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 serving the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady area.

The subject of participation in the Memorial Day parade in Woodstock, with four units sponsored by the fire company, was explored, with Firemen A. Smith and C. McCleary in charge of the final arrangements. One or two members signified their intentions of participation in the county and valley parades during the summer.

A discussion was heard on the matter of parade uniforms, with the company deciding to set aside the sum of $75 each year for parade uniforms or service equipment, depending upon the demand for either type of clothing.

The house numbering program, which was instituted a year ago, was found to be in need of revisions, due to new residences being built in the territory and some changes in the current dwellings. Captain Alfred Ostrander stated that the necessary revisions would be made to bring the system up-to-date.

The fund drive, in charge of Lieutenant Paul Shultis, was scheduled to get underway in the near future. This is the first appeal for funds that Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 has made in several years. Necessary equipment and the cost of operation makes it necessary to conduct such a drive, said Lieutenant Shultis, who pointed out that the last such drive had culminated in the acquision of a portable pump and a tank truck for increased fire protection for the district.

Confirmation Rite Set at Christ Lutheran

The rite of Confirmation will be observed at Christ Lutheran Church in Woodstock Sunday. Seven young adults will rectify baptismal vows and receive the Sacrament of Holy Communion for the first time. Their names are: Steve Bryant, Deborah Deede, Joseph Dunn, David Holumzer, Susan Moseman, Rita Stonehouse and Dawn Tyler.

Certificates of recognition will be given to the following young adults who have completed the first year of catechetical instruction: Ellen Fuchs, Peter Gerdts, Cindy Peterson, Carol Ann Schussler, Kevin Tyler, James Weider and Jessie Wolf.

A special meeting of the congregation will be held Tuesday, May 19, at 8 p. m. at the church and will have as its purpose the consideration of the next step in the building program.

Wiltwyck Steel Band OnJohnnyCarsonShow

On Monday night, May 11, the Wiltwyck Steel Drum Band, under the direction of Barbara Moncure of Woodstock, performed on the Johnny Carson show, along with guest stars Patti Page and Harry Belafonte.

Belafonte expressed keen interest in the Wiltwyck School and is helping to raise money for the new Wiltwyck School which is under construction in Yorktown Heights.

The band played "The Happy Wanderer" and the calypso number "Mathilda" in honor of Belafonte, who is probably most widely known for his calypso singing.

The Wiltwyck African band, under the direction of Godwin Oyewole of Nigeria, will be performing in a very exciting scene in the Coach House Players sixth annual production "The Secret of Sordan", to be given at the George Washington School on May 22 and May 23.

Christian Science: Mortal, Immortals

Mortality is a dream from which we need to be awakened. This is the theme of the Bible Lesson to be heard at Christian Science churches on Sunday. The subject will be "Mortals and Immortals," and the Golden Text is from Ephesians (5:14): "Awake thou that sleepest and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this: "Mortal existence is a dream; mortal existence has no real entity, but saith 'It is I.' Spirit is the Ego which never dreams, but understands all things; which never errs, and is ever conscious; which never believes, but knows; which is never born and never dies" (p. 250).

Sunday services in Woodstock are held at 11 a. m.

Five Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Pennsylvania counties have been designated by the Department of Agriculture as disaster areas eligible for emergency conservation aid because of March floods and heavy rains.

They are Armstrong, Bradford, Clinton, Susquehanna and Wyoming.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who made the announcement Wednesday, also reported that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has approved a $70,000 payment to the Pennsylvania Stabilization Conservation Committee to help farmers in the five counties.

Youth Symphony

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Ninety Kentucky teenagers in this area dedicate as much time to playing classical music as many of their peers do listening to rock'n'roll. The Central Kentucky Youth Symphony is now in its 16th year.

Sees Moon Trip Before 1970 If Funds Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — This country still has a fighting chance to explore the moon before 1970, if Congress provides enough money, says James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Webb made the statement in testimony to a House Appropriations subcommittee April 7. It was released today.

Webb said NASA had to make revisions in its timetable after cuts in its proposed budget last year. But, he said, with approval of funds NASA now is asking, it can still set important target dates and have a fighting chance to complete the manned space flights planned and proceed to the lunar exploration in this decade.

"We hope that Congress will give us this fighting chance," he said.

Later, Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y., asked Webb if he honestly felt there was a reasonable chance of making the moon target in this decade.

"Yes, sir," Webb replied. "If it takes more than 15 Saturn flights we will not make it in this decade. Our judgment is that we can do it within the 15 and we can do the 15 flights within this decade."

The Saturn is the rocket planned to launch the moon flight.

NASA has asked $2.67 billion in the coming year for its moon program, known as Apollo.

Population Called Primary Factor In Representation

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—The New York State League of Women Voters contends that population should be a primary consideration in representation in the State Legislature, but other factors should be weighed.

Mrs. Robert Richman of Scarsdale, chairman of the league's apportionment committee, said in a consensus report Wednesday the league believed that "population should be the only basis of representation in one house."

"In the second house," she said, "population should be a factor, but we have not determined as yet what weight should be given it, or what other factors should be included."

About 300 delegates attended the two-day meeting, which ended Wednesday.

The report did not indicate which house—Senate or Assembly—should be apportioned solely on the basis of population.

Both houses currently are apportioned in accordance with a 70-year-old formula that emplys a combination of geographical and population factors to determine the representation of each county.

Army Removing Last of Creaky Viet Choppers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has virtually completed withdrawal of creaky, old "flying banana" helicopters from South Viet Nam and has replaced them with new turbine powered choppers.

Informed sources told The Associated Press today that the last of the old and combat-battered CH21 helicopters, called flying bananas because of their shape, should be out of Viet Nam within 60 days.

The changeover has been in progress quietly for months and more than 100 of the UH-1 turbine engine helicopters already are in South Viet Nam.

It was understood that the old choppers no longer were being flown on combat missions.

Pentagon sources said the more dependable, more maneuverable UH-1 machines have been shipped to South Viet Nam brand new and that a significant portion of the Army's helicopter buy is earmarked for that war.

This information became available as controversy swirled about the Pentagon. Congressional critics contend obsolete equipment is being used by U.S. forces supporting the South Vietnamese in their war against the Communist guerrillas.

Only a Few Minutes from Wherever You Live

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The wild shock of hair is thinner, the frame seems slighter than it did when covered by satin robes. But the hands of Blackstone the magician remains as supple and steady as when they baffled audiences from coast to coast.

At 78, Harry Blackstone lives in Hollywood and still keeps in touch with his magical art.

Noe Retired—Just Tired

"I'm not retired—just tired," he cracks.

Blackstone is the sole survivor of the great era of American magic that also produced such names as Houdini, Keller and Thurston. All mounted big shows that played theaters and vaudeville houses in the first few decades of this century. Blackstone was the last to leave the field.

"I quit eight years ago," he said. "I lost $35,000 one year, $60,000 the next and $90,000 the next.

"I just couldn't buck television. People didn't want to pay $5.50 a seat to watch magic when they could stay at home for nothing and watch television and drink beer."

His 200 major tricks were put into storage in Hollywood, New York City, Philadelphia, York, Pa., and his longtime home at Colon, Mich.

Many are major productions; he figures his girl-in-levitation stunt cost $17,008 to conceive. Of late he has been selling the tricks to professional and amateur magicians—one famous Hollywood figure has bought several.

Split-Second Timing

Blackstone timed those tricks to the split-second and cherished each one, yet he parts with them without regret. He looks cheerfully back on a life and career that were full and gratifying.

He was infected with the magic virus in 1898, when he saw a performance of the great Keller in Chicago. The boy sneaked out his bedroom window to see the show again and his return was discovered by his father. When young Harry confessed where he had gone, his father said, "Why didn't you tell me? I'd have gone with you."

Father and son saw the show every night for a week, and Harry met Keller backstage. The trouper's advice on how to be a magician: "By using that part of your anatomy from your neck up."

Blackstone began in amateur shows, then was able to leave his steel foundry job for his first professional date: playing a St. Paul hotel with a brand-new movie, "The Great Train Robbery."

In his prime he traveled with a troupe of 37 and earned as much as $6,600 a day during a Norfolk date in the 1920s.

He lives with his cheery wife in a Hollywood apartment containing mementoes of his past. He often appears at the nearby Magic Castle, club for magic men and their guests, and will make appearances "for anyone foolish enough to hire me."

About 300 delegates, representing 46,600 Methodists and 265 churches, were scheduled to attend the four-day session.

Bishop W. Ralph Ward of the Syracuse area of the Methodist Church was to preside.

Included on today's agenda was the election of conference officers.

When Staying in Someone's House, Rise Early

Q—When I do not have to go to the office, I like to sleep late. Would it be proper to do this when a guest in someone else's house?

A—Unless you are staying with very close relatives or friends who do not mind your sleeping late and getting your own breakfast when you arise, a guest is expected to conform to the schedule of the family with which he or she is staying—rising when they do and taking his or her meals at their hour.

Wife Excluded in Note of Sympathy

Q—My husband received a note of sympathy from a couple who are friends of both my husband and me; yet this note was addresses to him alone and began, "Dear John . . ." I think is should have read, "Dear John and Sue" and should have been addresses to Mr. and Mrs. Am I right? The deceased was my husband's brother.

A—The death of your husband's brother was essentially your husband's loss and addressing the note of sympathy to him alone was not wrong and in no way slighting to you.

A Widow Announces Her Engagement

Q—I am a widow and will soon become engaged to a man who was also married before. I was planning to send an announcement of my engagement to the newspaper but have been told that this is not in good taste when the parties involved have been married before. Is this so?

A—The engagement of a widow is generally and properly announced by both her and her fiance telling friends and relatives shortly before the wedding. However, she may, if she chooses, give the announcement to the newspaper.

Pinch Home Run Ignites Rally In 6th Inning

John Eccleston led off with a pinch hit home run to right field to trigger a three-run sixth inning rally, as Kingston High defeated Saugerties High, 8-5, in a non-league baseball game Wednesday at Dietz Stadium.

Eccleston's liner over the right fielder's head broke a 5-5 tie Saugerties had created with two runs in the top half of the sixth.

Vince Fisher, the winning pitcher, Lou Perry and Nick Berardi followed Eccleston's slam with singles. Paul Gruner flied deep to center and Jack Schatzel singled to complete the three-run rally.

The win was the seventh in nine decisions for Coach Al Gruner's Maroons, who had a crucial DUSO League engagement today at Port Jervis.

Fisher, who pitched the last 5 innings for Kingston, was the winner. Joe Schabot was relieved after yielding three runs in the first two innings. Art Sperl and Bruce Owens pitched for Saugerties, the latter getting tagged with the loss.

Walks Help Maroons

Five bases on balls figured in Kingston's first five runs. With one out in the second, Sperl loaded the bases on successive walks to Ed Mills, Marshall Suskie and Gary Johnson. Schabot's single up the middle scored Mills and Suskie.

In the Kingston fourth, Sperl loaded the bases with none out on Mike Canning's double and walks to Mills and Suskie. Owens came in and got Johnson and Fisher on popups. He seemed to be out of the woods but Perry slashed a single scoring Canning and Mills and Berardi's hit delivered Suskie.

A double by Martin and Bonack's single behind a walk to leadoff Mike Brady gave Saugerties a temporary 2-0 lead in the first inning. With two out in the second, Sperl singled to right, reached second on a passed ball and scored on Brady's single to put the Sawyers ahead, 3-2.

Ronnie Maye tripled Steve Bonack home in the Saugerties sixth and scored the tying run when Gruner miscued on Ed Hurley's liner to left.

Perry and Berardi collected two hits each for Kingston. Bonack hit two singles for the Sawyers.

Joe Louis Is 50; Rates Conn Bout His Toughest

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "How does it feel to be 50?," a man asked Joe Louis. He got a typical Louis answer.

"I don't know. This is the first time I've been 50."

The old Brown Bomber wasn't being a wise guy. He was in character. Just like the night he said "He can run, but he can't hide" before his second fight with Billy Conn after the war.

"I feel pretty good," Louis said at a birthday party held appropriately enough on the 50th floor of a hotel in midtown. "If I feel half as good at 100 I'll feel fine."

Louis lives in Los Angeles most of the time with his third wife, Martha, a lawyer. He has two children by his first wife. They live in Chicago. His daughter, Jacqueline Louis Barrow, is 21 and his son, Joe Louis Barrow, will be 18 this month and getting rready to go to college next fall in Pennsylvania or Connecticut.

Likes Golf

The Brown Bomber of old keeps himself busy making personal appearances, doing public relations work, refereeing and doing a little promoting.

Still reasonably fit at 235 pounds, 22 more than he weighed for his last fight in 1951 with Rocky Marciano, Louis plays golf as often as possible. They say he is a five-handicap golfer.

"My toughest fight was the first Billy Conn fight," he told newsmen. That was in 1941.

"Billy Conn was the best man I ever fought. The fighters of those days — Jersey Joe Walcott, Jimmy Bivins, Abe Simon —about 15 of them could beat today's crop."

Of the present crop, Louis still rates Sonny Liston the best.

"He got whipped fighting a guy with one arm," said Louis of the Liston-Cassius Clay fight. "I still think Liston is the best fighter in the world today. I think, if he gets a chance, he'll win it back. Clay is a good enough fighter, but unfortunately he belongs to the Black Muslims. A heavyweight champion represents all the people."

Rosendale Ski Club Set to Host State Meet Feb. 7

The Rosendale Nordic Ski Club Inc. has been tentatively awarded the New York State championship cross country race, a sanctioned cross country meet and junior cross country competition, it was announced today.

William P. Curran, club president, said the club was tentatively awarded the state 15 kilometer cross country championship race—scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 7, 1965 at Rosendale—at the 43rd Annual Convention of the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association over the past weekend at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake. He also announced at a special meeting of the club this week at Williams Lake Hotel, Rosendale, that the Rosendale Ski Club will host and sponsor the championship race, at which more than 60 of the best cross country skiers in the eastern part of the country will compete. He said that a day earlier the Eastern Championship will be held in Salisbury, Conn.

Rosendale has also been selected as the tentative site for a sanctioned cross country meet on Jan. 24, 1965 for a 15 kilometer men's Class A and B competition and women's 5-7 kilometers to be sponsored by the Rip Van Winkle Council at the Rosendale Cross Country Course on Feb. 22, 1965.

Curran and Walter E. Williams, delegate to the U.S.E.A.S.A. convention, said that the championship meet will be held at the Rosendale Cross Country Trail at Williams Lake.

They said that C. Allison Merrill, ski coach at Dartmouth University, past winter coach of the U. S. Olympic skiing team and newly-elected president of the U.S.E.A.S.A., assured them that he would make every effort to have the various college competitors skiing in the Feb. 6 Eastern championship competition at Salisbury to participate the following day in the state championship competition at Rosendale. They said that the only Eastern college skiers who will possibly miss the Rosendale tournament will be the combined cross country participants who will be jumping the following day at the Salisbury tourney for the Eastern combined championship.

Indian Triples Edge Yanks 10-9

A bases-loaded triple by Tony Baptiste followed by a game-winning three bagger by Dan Sonnenberg gave the Indians a dramatic 10-9 victory over the Yankees in the Woodstock Little League.

Ironically, the fifth and final inning in which they lost the ball game, was the only frame in which the home team Yanks failed to score.

The Indians came up with two tallies in the opening inning but the Yankees bounced back with five. The home nine racked up two more in the bottom of the second. The Indians had four-run splurge in the third but the Yanks added single runs in their half of both the third and fourth for a 9-6 advantage. After Baptiste cleared the bags and scored on back-to-back triples by himself and Sonnenberg, who took over the pitching chores, Sonnenberg held the Yanks scoreless in the final frame and sewed up the game.

Sonnenberg shared the pitching duty with Baptiste and was credited with the win. They gave up 13 hits to the Yanks. The losers' T. Graham and F. Turck allowed only five hits to the Braves. Turck and P. Johnson slammed 3-for-4 each for the Yanks while teammates C. Horsey slammed a triple and Turck and W. Jameson rapped a two-bagger, each.

Texas Pro Fires Seven Under Par In Okie City Open

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A Texas golf professional served notice to Arnold Palmer and other top pros in the $40,000 Oklahoma City Open, which got under way with a field of 158 Thursday, that he is to be reckoned with.

Chunky Miller Barber, 33, of San Antonio, carded a seven-under-par 65 over Quail Creek Country Club's water-soaked 7,042-yard course Wednesday for individual honors in the pro-amateur event.

Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., finished second to Barber with a 66.

There are nine amateurs in the 72-hole competition.

A windy, dry and warm day was forecast. Players carried cards listing the Times Air Force jets will break the sound barrier overhead, setting off loud booms that could prove costly. The sonic booms are part of the Federal Aviation Agency program to learn their effects on people and property.

Defending champion Don Fairfield, who tied for fourth place in the Tournament of Champions two weeks ago at Las Vegas, is back this year seeking first prize money of $5,800.

Indians Win No. 2 In Esopus League

Indians were outhit 9-7 but took a 10-4 win over the Braves in an Esopus Legion Little League game at the Braves' home diamond.

The visitors held a 4-2 margin until the top of the fifth when they erupted with four tallies. They added two more in their half of the final frame, when the Braves came up with two runs but fell short of a chance for victory.

Rick Albright belted a double and two singles out of four trips to the plate for the winners while teammates Ralph Deve had a double and single in four trips and Gary Leone slammed a triple. Pete Wenzel, Ron White and Billy Gray each rapped a double for the losers. Catcher Gray and teammate Vince Provenzano went 2-for-3 for the Braves, Russ McElrath the winning pitcher, and Jim Wood, the loser each went the distance.

No-Hit Ace Is Finally A Winner

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ken Johnson has given everyone the no-hit Willies again, including Mays.

Johnson, the hard-luck Houston right-hander who hadn't won in a month despite pitching a no-hitter, found the ball bouncing his way for a change Wednesday night and wound up the winner as the Colts made the most of two bad-hop hits in a 2-1 victory over National League leading San Francisco.

For six innings, Johnson was even better than he was April 23 when he set the Cincinnati Reds down without a hit but lost 1-0 on two errors in the ninth inning. This time, Johnson was leading 1-0 and working on a perfect game.

So perfect, in fact, that Willie Mays hadn't hit the ball fair in two trips to the plate, fouling out and striking out. Then, in the seventh, Jesus Alou smacked Johnson's first pitch for a double and Matty Alou followed with a single—bringing up Mays.

Mays Handcuffed

Mays, however, couldn't get it out of the infield this time either, hitting a grounder as Jesus Alou was trapped in a rundown between second and third. Johnson then got out of the jam and got a couple of breaks in the bottom of the inning.

With two out, a shot by Bob Aspromonte ricocheted past first baseman Orlando Cepeda for a double and Rusty Staub sent him to third by lining a drive that skipped past shortstop Jose Pagan. Ron Herbel came on in relief of Bob Hendley at this point and proceeded to wild-pitch the decisive run across.

Johnson left in the eighth, but eventually wound up with his first victory since April 18.

And Mays, faced with his first hitless performance since the third game of the season, eventually wound up with his only hit in four trips, singling off Hal Woodeshick in the ninth. That extended his hitting streak to 20 games, although his batting average dropped 10 points to .468.

Mets Top Braves

Only one other National League game was played, the New York Mets defeating Milwaukee 5-2. Three games were rained out—Los Angeles at Chicago, St. Louis at Philadelphia and Cincinnati at Pittsburgh.

In American League action, the Chicago White Sox whipped Minnesota 5-1, Cleveland defeated Boston 3-0 in a game held to six innings by rain and in a twi-nighter the Los Angeles Angels won the opener from Kansas City 9-0 before the A's took the nightcap 2-0.

The New York Yankees and Detroit were locked in a 1-1 tie after six innings when rain postponed their game. Baltimore and Washington also were washed out.

Diehards Can't Ignore Mays; Willie Do It?

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays has wiped out all remaining doubt concerning his place among the all-time baseball greats. He is the acknowledged king of center fielders today. There is hardly a dissenting voice.

Even the diehards among the veteran coterie, always loyal to their contemporaries, agree that the San Francisco Special rates high among the all-time great center fielders.

This was put into greater focus by Mays' tremendous getaway this season, a scorching start that promises to bring new and greater honors to the player who has been the heartbeat of the Giants through 12 brilliant seasons.

At his current pace, Willie, ever the spectacular fielder and base runner, threatens not only to become baseball's first .400 hitter in 23 years but has an outside chance to surpass the home run records of Babe Ruth and Roger Maris.

Septuagenarian Casey Stengel, who has seen all the great center fielders of the last 50 years, speaks of Mays in the same breath with Tris Speaker and Joe DiMaggio.

"I had Mickey Mantle," said Stengel, "but I've got to say who is better than Mays today?

"Next to DiMaggio and Speaker, Mays has got to be the best center fielder and I've seen some 15 good ones. Fellows like Edd Roush, Max Carey, Terry Moore, Happy Felsch and Jigger Statz.

"Mays has a chance to wind up with DiMaggio and Speaker. He's got all the points. He can field, throw, run, hit and hit with power. . . and he makes it look easy. There was never a player who made it look easier than DiMaggio.

"Mantle belongs with those fellows, too. He might even be better than Mays if he could keep from getting hurt. I would like to have seen how far Mantle could go without those injuries."

Frankie Frisch, a staunch defender of the past, said he found it difficult to choose between DiMaggio and Mays for top rating among the center fielders.

"I can't make a choice between them," he said. "DiMaggio could do everything. So can Mays. Joe had that something extra. So does Mays. I'd break my neck to have either one on my team."

Hubbell also called it a photo finish between DiMaggio and Mays.

Leontyne Price to Star in Atlanta

Ticket Demand Heavy To Hear Negro Soprano

EDITOR'S NOTE — Racial lines have been erased in much of Atlanta's cultural life — the theater, movies, art galleries and concerts — as well as in governmental and business affairs. Underscoring these changes is an appearance by Leontyne Price, the Negro opera star, before an integrated audience.

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Ticket demands have been overwhelming for tonight's Metropolitan Opera performance of "Don Giovanni," starring Leontyne Price, the Negro soprano.

Everybody, it seems, selected tonight and the seats have been sold out for a long, long time," said Alfred D. Kennedy, president of the Atlanta Music Festival Association Inc.

Warm Home Reception

Miss Price, who started her climb to stardom as Bess in the 1952 revival of "Porgy and Bess," got warm receptions from integrated audiences in her hometown of Laurel, Miss., in two appearances there — the latest about a year and one-half ago.

Integration of cast and audience here is not one of Kennedy's worries. He moans over the ticket crush and the one-week Atlanta opera season. All performances have been sold out.

He said special arrangements were made for Dr. and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. for the performance. King is head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a civil rights organization.

No Trouble Yet

Opera audiences in Atlanta were desegregated three years ago and there has been no trouble.

Concerts, theaters, art galleries, all major moviehouses and some nightclubs—including clubs operated by Negroes—have removed segregation bars in the past few years.

White patrons often dine with Negroes in many restaurants. Major hotels and motels downtown also are integrated.

All city-owned facilities, including recreational facilities, are desegregated.

"There are so many cultural activities that have opened up—and so many Negroes are not taking advantage of them," said Mrs. King. "It just takes time. "But Atlanta is making progress."

Two Are Accused In Frying-Pan Death of Woman

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Two unemployed laborers are accused of first-degree murder in the frying-pan beating of a woman 17 months ago.

The body of Mrs. Zelma W. Moore, 60, was found Nov. 21, 1962, in her living room in an apartment house she owned.

Police said she had been beaten on the head and killed with a skillet that was found broken under a kitchen table.

Roy Williams, 27, and Frank E. Christon, 38, both of Syracuse, were arrested Wednesday and charged with the crime.

Police said the two had been questioned frequently and kept under surveillance since discovery of the body.

Robbery appeared to be the motive, police said. A fur coat and wrist watch, believed missing from the apartment have not been located, they said, and it has not been determined whether any money was taken.

Christon and Williams are Negroes, as was Mrs. Moore.

Bids Japan Join Call

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev proposed today that Japan and the Soviet Union join in calling on all nuclear nations to stop underground nuclear tests immediately.

The proposal was made in a letter delivered to Premier Hayato Ikeda by Soviet First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan shortly after his arrival for a 14-day visit.

Khrushchev pointed out that international tensions have slackened with the limited nuclear test ban, the U.S.-Soviet agreement not to shoot nuclear weapons into orbit, and the recent decision by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain to reduce production of nuclear materials for armaments.

Past and Future of Paltz College

units on a two-semester plan, the college's full-time enrollment totaled 2,563.

Payment to Help

It was noted by speakers at the luncheon that the monies to be spent on the expansion program, will be reimbursed in a large measure by tuitions and dormitory payments from students over the course of years.

Dr. Haggerty pointed out that year-round operation seeks to raise full-time enrollment through increased utilization of existing facilities. He noted that the construction total announced Wednesday afternoon does not include the cost of three other buildings which are also part of the master plan program. Occupancy of the new Fine Arts Building, which cost $2.5 million, was begun in January, 1963. Under construction are a health and physical education building costing $1,885,000, and a new science building, costing $2,422,000.

Big Change by 1970

The college president stated that in 1970, the campus of the College at New Paltz, will bear little resemblance to the one now in use.

The fine arts building and the science building under construction will be important segments of a greatly expanded academic core, which will be constructed in a generally rectanguler form on a north-to-south line from Plattekill Avenue. Dr. Haggerty reported.

Other buildings comprising the core will be the humanities-social science building, lecture hall, library, a second science building connecting to one under construction, and the Student Union, Dr. Haggerty said.

Invocation at the luncheon was given by the Rev. Joseph W. Hickey, and the program concluded with benediction by the Rev. Frederick S. Wandall.

Members of Board

Among members of the college board introduced were Mrs. Vincent Connelly (Bertha Herwig) president of the Alumni Association; George V. D. Hutton and Lawrence A. Quilty, all of Kingston, Senator Ogden E. Bush was presented to the luncheon audience of about 300 persons.

After the luncheon, about 2,500 students faculty and guests gathered for a college convocation in a large tent. President Haggerty presided and Mrs. Connelly brought greetings from the Alumni.

Other speakers at yesterday's event were, Clifton Flather, of the State Dormitory Authority, and David W. Traub, general manager of State University Construction Fund.

Miss Jane Little, associate dean of students, conducted the ceremonies for the filling of cornerstone boxes for three domitories—Scudder, Bliss and Gage Halls. Dr. Loren D. Campbell, chairman of the physical education division was in charge of cornerstone ceremonies for Elting gymnasium, and Dr. James C. Gray, chairman of the science and mathematics division, conducted similar activities related to the Coykendall science building.

Representing the faculty at the ceremonies was Dr. Roland Will, professor of education who has been a member of the faculty for 32 years. Judge Schwartz presented and extended greetings from the Council of the College.

Secretary 30 Years

College Council Secretary LeFevre, who has held that office the past 30 years and is chairman of the council's committee on naming buildings, announced the names for the gymnasium, science building and the five new dormitories and dining hall being planned.

He explained that Elting gymnasium was named after the Elting family, one member of whom served on the Board of Trustees of the New Paltz Academy, the institution that preceeded the State Normal School in 1885. The Coykendall science building, LeFevre said, was named for Edward Coykendall who served on the College Board of Visitors from 1938 until his death in 1949. The Coykendall family, he pointed out, is also the donor of a large set of prints and pictures which are now a part of the College Art Collection.

Following the convocation, the audience was invited to participate in the laying of cornerstones for the five buildings. The Smiley Building, College Theatre, College Art Gallery and Elting Gymnasium were then opened for inspection by the visitors.

The invocation at the Convocation was given by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom. Greetings were extended on behalf of the students of the college by John Wirchansky, president of the Student Government Association.

Filling of the cornerstone boxes for Scudder, Bliss and Gage Halls was in charge of Miss Jane Little, associate dean of students. Dr. Loren D. Campbell, chairman of the physical education division, presided at the Elting gymnasium cornerstone box filling event, and Dr. James C. Gray, chairman of the science and mathematics division, was in charge of the cornerstone box filling ceremony at the Coykendall science building.

Greetings by Dr. Will

Greetings on behalf of the college faculty were extended by Dr. Roland Will, professor of education, and Judge Schwartz spoke for the College council.

Laying of the cornerstones was followed by benediction by the Rev. Gerret J. Wullschleger.

The College Art Gallery will be open to visitors today from 7 to 8 p. m., and a faculty music recital will be presented in the College theatre at 8 p. m. This will be the inauguration of the College Theatre for music.

On Friday the college art gallery will be open from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., and a student presentation of Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing, is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the College Theatre. This will mark the inauguration of the College Theatre for drama.

Saturday Program

Saturday's program will include visitations at the College Art Gallery from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m., and the second student presentation about Much Ado About Nothing, is slated for 2:30 in the theater. An all-college dance is scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Parker Dining hall, and at 8:30 p. m. the third presentation of Much Ado About Nothing is scheduled.

The five-day event will conclude on Sunday, with open house for parents of all students from 1 to 5 p. m. All college buildings will be open for inspection.

The President's reception for parents will be held from 2 to 3:30 p. m. in the Convocation tent, and the College Art Gallery opening tea will be served from 3 to 5 p. m. The fourth presentation of Much Ado About Nothing will be given in the college theater at 8:30 p. m.

Long, Hard

Before leaving Saigon, McNamara said marked progress had been made in implementing plans to increase the strength and firepower of the Vietnamese air force.

But in Honolulu he sidestepped a question of whether structural failure had led to the losses of some planes used in the war—a possibility, Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert conceded in a letter to Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee released in Washington Wednesday.

The war effort will be long and drawn out, "we should not delude ourselves on this score," McNamara said. At the same time he said he had never estimated the possible length of the war.

Some earlier reports from Saigon (not Associated Press) quoted him as saying the war would last five to 10 years.

"I was misquoted in Saigon," McNamara declared at Pearl Harbor.

Gotham May Send

zations interested in conducting local Pageants and sending a contestant to the State Pageant. To date 23 contestants are assured but the number may reach 26 or 27. A limit of 28 contestants can be accommodated in the 1964 Miss New York State Pageant. The final date for accepting contestants in the State Pageant is June 6. Three local groups who now hold territory franchise contracts are not certain at the present time, if they will send a contestant to the state competition this year.

Final plans for the state pageant are now taking shape. The plans to finance the cost of staging the 3-day show, through the sale of patron tickets at a nominal price, will be announced shortly.

Retired, Family Grown, Should He Invest More?

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I retired early with pension, annuity and Social Security totaling about $8,500 annually. My family consists of a wife and 4 children. The two oldest are college graduates, third in college, and fourth in private school. I own 800 Sperry Rand 50 Chase Manhattan, 60 Armour, 60 Hugoton Production, 200 Panhandle/Eastern Pipe Line, and have $40,000 in savings bank. Do you think I should put some of my savings in the stock market? What would you advise?" — C. W.

A) I should like first to commend you for the excellent way in which you've managed your finances and educated your family.

In view of the relatively high level of the market and your present stake in it, I would withdraw no more than $10,000 out of savings to put into stocks.

I suggest strong growth issues of the caliber of Corn Products and Texaco, both of which have a consistent record of increasing dividends annually in recent years.

Q) "At present I hold shares of General Electric and some mutual funds. I would like to sell my stocks and with the proceeds and some other funds purchase $4,500 in municipal or state tax-exempts. My tax bracket is low, but I want to have less headaches with income tax. I also want to plan a future for my children. What do you advise?" — J. B.

A) Much as I like tax-exempts, I don't believe that in your position I would sell my few stocks to buy them. Furthermore, tax-exempts in blocks of less than $5,000 are sometimes difficult to market—except at a discount from the normal price — if you need to raise funds.

Tax-exempts, like all fixed income securities, cannot grow in principal but your stocks can and I believe will — to provide you with inflation protection and to benefit your children in later years.

"I have enjoyed the work all these years," he worte, "although sometimes the going was rough. But I tried to please the public, so they would leave the office or hang up the receiver with some kind of smile. It has been a great pleasure working with you all, and I thank you."

The board directed Mayor John J. Schwenk, as board president, to express its regrets, and he wrote:

"The commissioners of the Board of Public Works have directed me to express their sincere regret that you will be leaving the board as of June nineteenth, 1964, and to extend to you their deepest gratitude for the 30 years of outstanding service you have given our city.

"Since your appointment in 1933 as auditor, your promotion to assistant secretary in 1936, and your appointment in 1938 as administrative assistant, you have played a part in most of the important steps toward progress in the City of Kingston.

"And, in addition to your service as a key civic official, your devotion to the city's fire protection, culminating in your present position as Deputy Fire Chief of the volunteers, serves as a testimony to your extraordinary sense of civic responsibility.

"I am sure that the other mayors under whom you have served, namely Mayors Carey, Walker, Heiselman, Edelmuth, Newkirk, Stang, and Radel, join me in my conviction that Kingston has been fortunate to have such a devoted civil servant as you for more than three decades.

"In closing, may I express the best wishes of the commissioners, your fellow municipal employees, and the people of Kingston, as well as my own hope that you will enjoy many happy and fruitful years of retirement."

Pauline Frazier was hanging clothes when the doomed plane whined in, its nose high. "When I saw it go through the telephone lines, I ran in the house and screamed for my husband," she said.

Six other houses suffered minor damage from the shower of flaming debris.

Police first reported seven killed. Later Chief Nick Janise said two bodies proved to be those of animals, presumably pets.

Storms Hit Upstate

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains and high winds raked parts of New York State today, knocking out electricity in a broad area, hampering travel, and contributing to the death toll.

Two persons perished during the overnight storm, which came on top of a stiff storm last weekend.

Nearly an inch of rain had fallen and the storm continued.

Near Liverpool, a suburb of Syracuse, 2,400 homes were without power for nearly two hours today when heavy rain caused a short in a high voltage transmission line. Tree limbs blown down by winds knocked out power to hundreds of homes in Rome and the Madison County community of Chittenango.

This fee will go toward engineer investigation and other costs incident to acceptance of a development plan. The regulations had been presented at a public hearing held by the Planning Board Monday at which time no opposition was expresed.

McNamara Now

Lodge Employs Escort Plan He Used for Nikita

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge escorted Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara safely into Saigon from the airport Tuesday with a technique he used in getting Soviet Premier Khrushchev from the United Nations building in New York in 1960.

This was the reason, informed sources said today, that the vehicle bringing McNamara and Lodge into Saigon left the main convoy at an intersection and made its way into town along a crowded, unguarded thoroughfare.

Lodge reportedly made the choice because of the successs of such tactics in getting Khrushchev safely to his residence from the United Nations after his widely reported shoe-banging episode there.

"It worked with Khrushchev. So why not with McNamara?" Lodge was reported as saying as he directed his driver away from the heavily guarded motorcade. Many American security men were unaware that Lodge was taking the unguarded route.

Prior to McNamara's arrival, American security had selected three routes into Saigon, two of them heavily secured. Two days prior to the McNamara visit three Communist Viet Cong agents had been surprised mining a bridge on the main route.

By selecting the unguarded thoroughfare, Lodge figured that Viet Cong agents planning anything would be caught off guard, informed sources said.

New Paltz Man Held Following 'Cycle Accident

David Burger, 23, of RD 3, Box 154, New Paltz, was booked on two charges after a motorcycle he rode veered across Pearl Street Wednesday and struck a shrub tree on the property of Mrs. John Ward, 119 Pearl Street.

Burger, who indicated he was living temporarily at 37 Elmendorf Street, was charged with lacking proof of insurance and operating an unregistered vehicle. He suffered an injury of the right leg and was taken by A & A ambulance to Kingston Hospital where his condition was reported satisfactory today. He is due in city court after he leaves the hospital.

Police were notified of the mishap at 5:27 p. m. Their report said the driver "lost control" of the cycle while it was in a driveway at 116 Pearl Street. Officers Anthony Turck and Weston Hoffay investigated.

Handbills Hit Vote

PANAMA (AP) — Handbills circulated in Panama City Wednesday night charging fraud in the presidential election and calling for a general strike.

The unsigned leaflets reported a charge by supporters of ex-President Arnulfo Arias that returns had been rigged in Sunday's vote to elect government candidate Marco Robles.

The National Electoral Tribunal announced Wednesday night that final returns gave Robles 134,627 votes and Arias 123,186.

There was no public response Wednesday night to the anonymous strike call. The National Guard remained on the alert and searched cars of Arias supporters, apparently for arms.

Four injured men were taken to the Josiah B. Thomas Hospital.

Policeman Louis P. Girolimon, who was on an ambulance run, was one of the first to reach the scene.

Won't Dictate Choice for GOP, Eisenhower Says

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today he will not attempt to dictate a choice for the Republican presidential nomination, nor try to block any of the most prominently mentioned candidates.

"I, by no means, believe that it is proper for me to say 'This is the man,' and expect all the Republicans, just like a herd of sheep, to run that way," Eisenhower said.

"I just don't think that is either practical or wise," he told a trainside news conference after returning from a five-month vacation in Southern California.

Eisenhower, talking freely and apparently enjoying the session with the newsmen, refused to be pinned down on his personal choice, or be budged from his position of neutrality.

Expansion Plan for $30 Million

Past and Future of New Paltz College Topic at Ceremonies

Representatives of local government, various organizations, members of the student body, faculty and administration on Wednesday heard elaborate details and reports of a $30 million State University of New York's expansion program planned for its college at New Paltz.

A master plan luncheon at 12:30 p. m. in Parker Dining hall, at which several state and local executives spoke of the past and future of the college at New Paltz, was followed by convocation ceremonies presided over by William J. Haggerty, college president.

The event yesterday opened five days of activities in recognition of the recent expansion and future growth of the college.

Main Speakers

Main speakers at the luncheon, which was presided over by Dutches County Judge John R. Schwartz, chairman of the college council, were Elwin Stevens, assistant vice president of facilities, who gave a message from State University and presented details about the expansion program for New Paltz, and Dr. Haggerty who discussed the master plan in terms of goals and purposes of the college.

Other luncheon speakers were Henry W. DuBois, mayor of New Paltz, who noted that village officials always have worked in cooperation with the State University, and will continue to do everything possible in the interests of the college, its administrators, faculities and students; Peter J. Savago, New Paltz town supervisor, who noted the advantages gained by the entire town through the college at New Paltz and its expansion that will increase the population of the township.

Lauds Cooperation

Joseph P. Foley, president of the New Paltz Board of Education, spoke of the cooperation that exists between all area institutions of learning. Jay LeFevre, secretary of the college council, congratulated the administrators of the college, and traced the growth of the institution and complimented former Governor Thomas E. Dewey for being instrumental in forming the State University of New York. He spoke of the unlimited possibilities of the college with continued cooperation of all units, state and local. He predicted the enrollment at the college would reach in the neighborhood of 6,000 within the next decade.

Lelan F. Sillin, Jr., president of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., spoke on behalf of the industrial and business leader of the region and outlined the expectations of these groups for future developments of the college. He said that "The industry of the rapidly developing Mid-Hudson Region has been watching with growing approval the dramatic developments at New Paltz and has gained appreciation for the role you have in higher education in years to come. Industry will be looking more and more to you," he said, "for bright and promising men and women who will be needed to fill its requirements."

Explains Expansion

Dr. Haggerty reported the State University's $30 million expansion program for the colege at New Paltz, over the next four and one-half years, will entail the construction of—seven academic and related buildings, dormitory facilities providing an additional 1,400 beds, two new dining halls—each providing 500 seats, a new central heating plant and central service group.

Dr. Haggerty also said that in addition, two existing structures will be converted to classroom buildings and outdoor athletic and recreational areas will be provided. He noted that these new facilities, added to those now in use or under construction, will permit the college to reach its 1970 enrollment goal of 3,500 full-time students, as drawn in the State University of New York master plan for 1960-70.

New Paltz, since last summer, has been experimenting with a four-quarter variation of the year-round calendar and now accepts entering classes at summer, autumn, winter and spring quarters. At the 1963 second quarter registration, which is comparable to September entering classes at other

Group Is Anxious To Hear Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, returning from another trip to South Viet Nam, said today he would be happy to report to a congressional committee on the situation there.

The House Armed Services Committee has indicated it expects McNamara to appear to discuss complaints of obsolete equipment, and to report on the general outlook of the protracted war in the Southeast Asian country.

Plan to Double Force

McNamara was asked by newsmen how long he thinks the war will last.

He replied that it will be "a long war, a hard war—the path to victory will be long."

He said, however, that "I firmly believe that persistent execution" of plans will lead to eventual success.

The Pentagon chief also told newsmen plans are being developed to more than double the personnel of the Viet Nam air force in a few months.

The Vietnamese air force now has about 400 pilots.

To another question, McNamara replied that the size of the U.S. training force in Viet Nam is sufficient at the present, but that if more men are needed to help in the expansion of the ground and air forces and train them, the men can be sent.

McNamara said he and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, discussed with U.S. officials in Viet Nam the program of replacing the present T38 and B26 planes with the Navy-designed Skyraider aircraft.

His Fifth Trip

McNamara said the types of planes sent to Viet Nam were chosen for two reasons — because they would be useful in the guerrilla type war; because they were intended for operation by the Vietnamese.

Returning with McNamara were Taylor and Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

This was McNamara's fifth trip to Viet Nam.

His public optimism as he flew back into Washington was in line with what he had been saying en route.

"I am convinced," McNamara said Wednesday on a stopover at Honolulu, "that the persistent execution of the political and military plans which the South Viet Nam government has and which we are supporting will lead to a successful conclusion of this war."

Notes Marked Progress

President Johnson will want to know the details that support this optimism and presumably will have McNamara report quickly. But whether Johnson will see him today is uncertain because the President is flying to Missouri to attend the funeral of Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo.

Cyprus Mediation Accepted

NATO Determined To Ease Tensions

THE HAGUE (AP)—Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization expressed determination today "to achieve a genuine relaxation" in international relations. They reaffirmed that the German problem can only be settled by the will of the German people.

In a communique ending meeting, the NATO foreign ministers said that "every suitable opportunity should be taken to bring nearer to realization the wish of the German people for reunification in freedom."

To Support U.N. Efforts

The ministers expressed concern at the Greek-Turkish Cypriot fighting in Cyprus and said NATO would fully support United Nations efforts to bring peace to the troubled island.

Some of the concern over Cyprus was eased earlier in the day when Greece and Turkey agreed to accept the mediation of the NATO secretary-general in their bitter dispute over the eastern Mediterranean island.

Stikker Conciliator

The ministers instructed NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker to act as conciliator but there was no reference to this step in the communique.

Officials explained that Stikker would be acting under a 1956 council resolution concerning disputes between member states of the alliance. This resolution authorized the secretary-general to keep in touch with all parties and with the permanent NATO council in such cases.

Greek Foreign Minister Stavros Kostopoulos agreed to mediation on condition that it would not be confined to the Cyprus dispute but would cover all phases of Greek - Turkish relations. Greece is upset by recent Turkish seizure of the property of Greek nationals living in Turkey and expulsion of a number of them.

Turkish Foreign Minister Feridun Cemal Erkin had accepted a mediation role for the North Wednesday. But Kostopoulos until today had argued that the Cyprus dispute was not a NATO matter, the position held by

Gotham May Send Four to Pageant Competition Here

Two contestants and possibly four, will represent New York City in the Miss New York State Pageant here July 9, 10 and 11.

Pageant officials today announced that there will be a Miss Queens and a Miss Manhattan in the State finals and possibly Miss Bronx and Miss Staten Island. An inquiry for a Miss Brooklyn franchise also was reported.

This is the first year that the local group could award territory franchise contracts in New York City. In previous years New York City held a separate franchise to select a contestant eligible to compete directly in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City. This year, for the first time, only one representative from the entire state, selected here, will vie for the title of Miss America.

Would Aid Tax System, Bring Better Living

Vote Is Taken, CORE Asks Working, Living Equality; Council Action Next

Downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project scored almost unanimous approval with an attendance of some 300 at Wednesday night's public hearing in the Common Council chamber, City Hall, during which plans were revealed for possible sponsorship of housing in the project area by union carpenters.

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, said the organization is interested in sponsoring, as builders, construction of apartments on the project site.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., said the aldermen would probably meet next Tuesday night to act on urban renewal.

Boon To Tax Structure

Nearly all in the council chamber stood when it was requested that those in favor of the project stand for a count, and only one of the many who spoke, definitely opposed it.

Alexander Yosman, urban renewal adviser, emphasized that urban renewal treatment for the deteriorating downtown area was badly needed. The program, he said, would benefit not only the immediate area, but the community as a whole, and the city tax structure in general.

Yosman asked: "What is the fate of downtown, if urban renewal treatment is not undertaken?" He commended the program as one worthy of support by the community and passage by the Common Council.

Stresses Main Factors

Yosman also emphasized the two prime factors involved: living conditions and the economic factor, and he emphasized the time spent in developing a program.

Eric Hemphill, newly appointed UR director, was introduced, and among those attending were Nat Parrish and Daniel Shuster, of Raymond & May Associates, city planning consultants. Parrish emphasized that two appraisals are involved in the acquiring of properties.

Would Sponsor Housing

Yerry revealed that the carpenters' union has been interested in sponsoring a building project or projects in the area for some time and it plans to apply for such a sponsorship. He said he had heard comment to the effect that the union is interested only because of the jobs it will provide and emphasized that working people help a community's economy, and "We can see nothing wrong in making more work."

Frank S. Sass, former Seventh Ward alderman, and Common Council majority leader, noted that he had been involved with urban renewal almost from its inception, and that the council on 26 occasions, voted unanimously in favor of urban renewal. He said if he were still in the council, he would again give it his full support.

CORE Attitude

Miss Blythe Miller, representing the Congress of Racial Equality, said CORE was for urban renewal in Kingston, but it would work to see that there is no social discrimination in carrying out the program, and particularly in hiring construction workers for the new development.

James Hughes, of Local 1105, Plumbers Union, said it had admitted two Negro apprentices, as of Wednesday.

Joseph Epstein, lower Broadway merchant, said he was not opposed to the project, but he felt that the people of the area should be told what they are to get for their properties, before the Common Council acts on the project.

The Rev. (Bishop) S. B. Chappell, of 225 East Strand, the only speaker directly opposed, said he feared the Negro community would experience discrimination. He was the only one to stand when the call came for those opposing.

Richard M. Kalish, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce UR Committee, said the project was vital to the downtown area, which has needed rehabilitation for years. He urged favorable Common Council action on it.

Others in Favor

Alderman - at - Large Carroll opened the meeting, and City Clerk Walter S. Foster read resolutions adopted by various organizations in favor of the project, and the official notice of the calling of the hearing. Those in favor were asked to talk first, and the call for opposing opinion came after a brief recess.

Among others who spoke for the project were S. Greenspan, representing Miron Lumber, and Ray Cwill, representing the Rondout Area Businessmen's Association, several residents of the area also favored the project. All members of the Common Council attended. The hearing ended at 8:45 p. m.

Hero's Citation Going to Sickler In Creek Rescue

Robert Sickler, 14, of 16 Hunter Street, who rescued Anthony Williams, 6, of 49 Meadow Street, after he had fallen into the Rondout Creek Tuesday, has been commended for his heroism by Major John J. Schwenk, who said Robert is to get a Citizens Citation Award.

The mayor in a letter dated Wednesday wrote:

"As mayor of the City of Kingston, I was proud and happy to hear of your heroism in rescuing a little boy named Anthony Williams from the waters of the Rondout Creek.

"We so often read, these days, of persons being apathetic when others are in danger. This was certainly not so in your case.

"I am sure all the citizens of Kingston join me in commending you for your heroic act.

"It is our desire to present you with a Citizens Citation Award for saving this little boy's life. Please call my office at your convenience so we may arrange a time to make the presentation.

"Congratulations and best wishes."

Robert and others were fishing along the dock beyond ferry street when the Williams boy, who had been playing with other small boys, fell into the creek. Robert ran to the rescue and went down in the deep water twice before bringing the boy to safety. Young Williams, shaken by the experience, is reported doing well at home.

5 Persons Die as F105 Plunges Into Las Vegas Housing Section

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Five persons died when an F105 fighter plane plunged into a new housing development where housewives were hanging out laundry and children were playing on a sunny afternoon.

Moments after takeoff Wednesday from nearby Nellis Air Force Base, the jet lost altitude, wavered and then knifed into the tract. The plane exploded, spewing flames over a wide area. Seven dwellings were destroyed.

Five blocks away, 800 children were attending classes in Lincoln Elementary School. They were not endangered.

The plane plummeted to earth at the far edge of the development, just short of a cleared area the pilot was fighting to reach.

The dead:

1st. Lt. Raynor L. Hebert, 26, pilot, of Port Arthur, Tex.; Betty Lou Le Dane, 31, and her daughter, Teresa, 3; two children of the Paul Lowry family, Derwent, 3, and Josephine, 3 months. Aside from Hebert, all were residents of the tract.

In five days Hebert would have gone on 27 days leave.

An unidentified truck driver gave this account:

"I was rounding the corner and could see the plane coming in nose up and tail down. It struck the first house with the tail aflame and skidded across the rooftops to other homes."

Two weeks ago, in an interview, Brig. Gen. Boyd Hubbard, Nellis commander, had warned contractors that building homes close to the air base was "courting disaster." The development is seven miles away but in the path of runways, those on the scene said. Its homes are in the $15,000 price range.

Vincent Rohde, another eyewitness, said that when the plane hit "it was like a bubble filled with water. It was just a big splash. I saw two women hanging out clothes where it hit. They disappeared. I heard a woman scream. There was a tremendous heat wave. I'll never forget that scream."

Authorities evacuated a 20-square-block area upon learning the plane carried six small practice bombs and 1,000 20 mm cannon rounds.

Hebert, an Air Force spokesman said, was on an air-to-air gunnery practice mission. The first hint of trouble was Hebert's report to the control tower that his landing gear would not retract, the spokesman said.

He was instructed to head for a desert area near Las Vegas, but replied that he was at only 1,000 feet and added, "I can't hold my altitude."

Then he was told to head for a clear area, just beyond the tract. He couldn't quite make it.

The pilot had no opportunity to jettison his fuel.

"When they're heavy like that," said Gen. Hubbard, "they sink pretty fast. They glide like a brick."

The Lowry home took the brunt of the plane's landing blow. Out-

Just the Beginning, Cuban Exiles Claim; Heavy Sugar Loss Reported

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exile forces say their attack on a sugar mill and port in eastern Cuba is just the beginning in their war of sabotage and nerves aimed at toppling Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

The Revolutionary Recovery Movement, a military action group, said in its "first war communique" Wednesday that a combined raid by seaborne commandos and guerrillas already in the hills gained control of the port of Pilon for three hours and left the sugar mill burning. It said other raids would come soon.

Prime Minister Castro in a statement acknowledged the attack, but said it came from a ship standing at sea and not from ground forces.

Castro's angry comment was broadcast by Havana Radio about 15 hours after the attack, which the exiles said took place at 3:50 a.m. Wednesday.

The communique did not give the number of the attacking force but listed commandos, frogmen, combat engineers, signal corps and torpedo units, as well as guerrillas, as participants.

The exiles claimed they suffered no losses but said there was "tenacious fighting" with "a numerically superior Communist army." A spokesman for the invaders said Castro forces suffered considerable losses.

While commandos held Polon, said the communique, engineers set off demolition charges at the mill, then withdrew. Guerrillas returned to the hills, the exiles said. Some townspeople in the area welcomed the attackers, they added.

Castro said the U.S. government, "not satisfied with the economic blockade and other aggressions, is using mercenaries and traitors" to carry out acts of vandalism.

The U.S. State Department denied it.

Castro said the attack caused loss of 70,000 bags of sugar (of 220 pounds each), that many

Street List Given BPW, Winfield Resigns Post

A list of streets submitted by aldermen for a second phase of the 1964 street repair program was referred Wednesday night to the street committee of the Board of Public Works, which directed installation of sidewalk and curbs on lower Delaware Avenue, and accepted with regret the retirement of A. Foster Winfield, administrative assistant.

Aldermen of various wards, in recent years, have submitted their choice of streets for reconstruction or resurfacing. The first phase of this year's program now in progress requires repair of streets unfinished in 1963.

The board voted to notify the owner of a property extending from 280 to 420 Delaware Avenue to install sidewalks and curbing. The owner is listed as the 100 Acres Corp. and the letter was to be addressed to it in care of Robert E. Fabor & Co., 370 Seventh Avenue, New York.

Included in the section of street involved is the sharp curve above Yoemans Street. Fifth Ward aldermen, in recent years, including the incumbent, Anthony J. Alecca, have asked for sidewalks on the lower end of the street.

A. Foster Winfield, in a letter to the board, said he would end his service as administra-

Ulster Town Hall

Editor, The Freeman:

With the coming of spring a good many motorists have taken to the highways in search of scenic beauty. Over the past weekend it would be conservative to say that hundreds of motorists traveled Albany Avenue Extension and as they went over the railroad overpass, they no doubt looked down at Chambers Elementary School, neat appearing, grounds immaculately kept, a school we can be proud of. Very few of these passing motorists are aware that the Town of Ulster has the proposed plan for a town hall to be erected in front of Chambers Elementary School.

It is difficult for me to understand why the town board of Ulster could even consider erecting a building in this location, in front of such a school. With the town growing as it is, certainly little foresight has been given to future expansion, at present on one side of Albany Avenue Extension across from the school, we have an already too small town barn, on the other side of the road we now have a proposed town hall. Where will the next building go?

The town has a planning board, but they have not been consulted. The town master plan does not show that any building would be erected in front of Chambers School, but on the East Chester By-pass.

Even more difficult to understand is how can our school board not only stand by and let such a thing happen, but actually approve of it. The question arises in my mind, by what authority does the board of education have to donate school property to the Town of Ulster for such construction? Could it be for such reasons as this that people no longer care to get out and vote. It is still not too late for the school board to re-consider and publicly go on record as opposing such buildings in front of the school. It is not too late for the taxpayers to ask the board of education, why this has happened. It's not too late for the people to contact the town officials and ask them why in front of the school. For the people who aren't interested in conserving some beauty in our town, then I suggest they ride out past the Chambers School, take a good look at it because if a town hall is allowed to be built in front of the school, it won't be "What a beautiful school down there," it will be, "There used to be a beautiful school around here somewhere."

Brazil, Exiles His Latest Miseries

Castro Gets Double Dose Of Troubles on Wednesday

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — About every 18 months something happens to give Fidel Castro the miseries. It happened again on Wednesday and this time he got a double dose.

Brazil broke relations with him. And Cuban exiles, their organization reported, raided the port of Pilon in eastern Cuba, got ashore, burned a sugar mill, and then skipped back out to sea.

This was just about 18 months after the Cuban missile crisis, which was just about 18 months after the disastrous Bay of Pigs invasion.

In mid-April 1961, exiles, with American backing, invaded their homeland at the Bay of Pigs but Castro finally smashed them on the beach, to the great embarrassment of the United States.

This country had been willing to back them in getting to Cuba but was unwilling to support them when the going got rough. Never again has the United States tried anything like that.

But in October, 1962—about 18 months after the Bay of Pigs—Soviet Premier Khrushchev got the bright idea of shoving Russian missiles into Cuba, which was a big help to Castro but a great dismay to this country when it found out.

The American government, which caught on through its U2 planes' photographs of what was going on down in Castro's island, then told Khrushchev to get his missiles out, or else. He agreed to remove them.

This country and Russia also agreed that an international inspection team would go into Cuba to make sure the missiles were gone. But Castro wouldn't let such outsiders in.

So the United States did the next best thing. It kept sending its picture-taking U2's over at speeds of 500 miles an hour and elevations of 90,000 feet.

While Russia had removed its big missiles it left in Cuba a batch of trooops with powerful antiaircraft missiles which could have shot down the American U2s, but didn't.

Last month word leaked out the Russians were pulling out the last of their troops and just leaving behind several hundred advisers for Castro. This would mean turning the antiaircraft missiles over to Castro. It raised a question.

Would Castro, now that he had control, shoot down the American U2s? President Johnson said the plane flights would continue. Castro called the flights aggressive action. Russia said it would back up Castro if he was attacked.

But the United States hadn't talked of attacking. And Castro didn't quite say he would shoot down the planes. So all that died down a bit.

Then began rumors that Cuban exiles—of whom there are thousands in this country—were getting ready to bang at Cuba again, not in big waves, as at the Bay of Pigs, but in small raids and harassments.

Since the United States long ago had told the exiles they could not make raids on their homeland from American land, it was to be assumed they were making their preparations in some Latin-American country.

Castro would hardly believe that and it did not seem unlikely they were getting American help. And Wednesday they hit and scrambled away again. Whether this was just a solitary attack or the first of a series is not clear.

The Cuban dictator immediately said this was a new act of aggression by the American government. A State Department official said it was nothing of the kind, that the United States knew nothing about it.

Meanwhile, this country has been trying through the years to line up the 20-nation Organization of American States solidly against Castro to freeze him out in some way or other never quite clear.

This has been something short of completely successful. For one thing, while most OAS members broke off relations with Castro these five refused to do so: Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Bolivia and Uruguay.

Brazil retained its relations so long as Joao Goulart was president. But last March the Brazilian army threw out the left-leaning Goulart and set up a right-wing government that began throwing Brazilian Communists into jail.

It was expected that now Brazil would break with Castro. And Wednesday it did.

But where all this leads—in stronger OAS action or exile raids—is for the future.

Labor Contract Trouble Stops $40-Million Jobs

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An estimated $40-million worth of construction and thousands of workers were idle today in the Rochester area as a result of contract disputes between contractors and 17 unions.

Work stoppages since May 1 have halted construction on schools, churches, factory and hospital additions and two state highways—the outer loop on Rochester's East Side and the Western Expressway between nearby Churchville and Leroy.

Reports of the number of idled workers range from 6,000 to 9,000.

The 102 - member Building Trades Employers Association shut down a large number of projects last week. John J. Richards, executive secretary of the group, said then that the move was brought on by "selective striking by a number of trades against some BTEA members, by selective picketing and by the imminence of other work stoppages and picketing."

Unions have pressed for reduction of their members' work week from 40 hours to 37½, in addition to seeking higher wages and improved fringe benefits. Some company-union contracts have expired, others still are in effect.

Among the unions involved in the dispute are bricklayers, painters, laborers, operating engineers, lathers, roofers, sheet-metal workers and teamsters.

'Bath Coup' Prevents Set

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The "Bath coup" dates back to the days of whist.

Ernie Rovere gives a good example of it in a new book.

With eight points and a five-card suit, North has a proper raise from one to two no-trump and South goes on to game with 17 points in hand.

West opens the king of spades and South must duck. This play constitutes the Bath coup because if West continues spades South will get two tricks instead of one in the suit.

It also ensures the contract. If West continues spades, South will make two spades, two hearts, four diamonds and two clubs for a total of 10. If West shifts, South will still make nine tricks.

If South makes that first spade, he will have to let East in with a diamond. East will lead a spade through South's jack, and West will collect four spade tricks and set the hand.

Incidentally, I must disagree with Ernie about the naming of the coup. Ernie says that it is named after the Earl of Bath who presumably originated the play. Actually Bath was a favorite seaside resort in England in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth centuries and apparently the play was first made there.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef and turkey are among star price performers at the nation's groceries this weekend.

Both items are on the Department of Agriculture plentiful foods list for May, and many stores are featuring them at special prices.

One national chain offers oven-ready rib roasts at 59 cents a pound in its New York area outlets, for the lowest price it has charged for that since the summer of 1961.

Heavy marketings, which have kept beef on the plentiful list for six straight months, are continuing to affect prices.

Chuck roasts and steaks and serloin steaks are other features.

Turkey, with a large crop in prospect this year, is a widespread attraction. Some northeastern stores feature it at about 35 cents a pound.

Baking hens and broiler-fryers are also good poultry buys in many shops also.

Pork and lamb are regional attractions this weekend. West Coast wholesale prices are off as much as 2 cents a pound on both cured and fresh pork cuts. In the northeast, one chain offers fully cooked hams at a range starting at 29 cents a pound for shank ends.

Spring lamb roasts are ticketed at 59 cents a pound at one chain.

Produce counters, meanwhile, are replete with seasonal offerings. Lettuce, cabbage, celery, corn, green onions. Potatoes and tomatoes are general best buys.

Regional vegetable attractions include asparagus, artichokes, beets, leeks, mushrooms, fresh corn, turnip greens, bell peppers, turnips, okra, squash and sweet potatoes.

NOT TOO LATE FOR COLLEGE

There was no doubt in anyone's mind that Tom would go to college. After all, he was a better-than-average student in high school, a member of the football and swimming teams and vice president of his class.

Tom took his College Board exams, got satisfactory scores and applied to five or six well-known universities. He was interviewed by college admissions officers. Then he waited.

One by one, cordial letters from the universities arrived. "Sorry," they said, "but we've been swamped with many fine applications like yours. We just have no more room."

No more room. All over the United States thousands of high school students with records as good as Tom's are receiving academic rejection slips — and lack of space or intensity of competition are generally cited as the reasons.

As a result, students for whom college can be the gateway to the future are having the gates slammed in their faces.

Although the cruch at the doors of many colleges is critical — with no relief in sight — a number of fully accredited colleges do need and want qualified students.

These colleges, generally, are not as academically prominent as the Harvards and the Yales and the Stanfords of this country. They may be smaller, less wealthy and lack world-famous scholars. But they are, according to the regional associations which rate them, quality institutions.

And it's still not too late to apply, according to an agency which should know—the College Admissions Center, a non-profit service of the Association of College Admissions Counselors.

This group serves as a clearing house for prospective college students. Student applications sent to the center are studied by representatives of several hundred member colleges who, in turn, directly contact the student. The center doesn't guarantee automatic admission to college for anyone who applies, but it helps.

So high school seniors who have been flatly rejected by the colleges of their choice should take heart. They can still go to college — if they really want to.

Here are some nonprofit agencies which can help:

SHARED RESPONSIBILITIES

The dialogue on that ageless question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" touched off by recent episodes of failure to help persons being attacked is continuing. Another aspect of the matter has been illuminated by the experience of a woman who helped police to capture a psychotic who made obscene telephone calls.

In other pertinent cases, a young woman was murdered and another was assaulted while bystanders apathetically refused to help or even to notify police. Apparently they feared becoming involved. The young woman who received the obscene calls did become involved; she cooperated with police in a harrowing ordeal.

But now that the ordeal is ended, the woman says that if she had to do it all over again she, too, would refuse to become involved to the extent of helping track down the offender. Her reason is one to provoke thought. When the man was caught, after she had suffered months of torture by phone, he was merely sentenced to 90 days in jail and received no psychiatric help. As the woman said, "Now he'll just sit in jail for 90 days and then come out and do it all over again."

The point here made is that society, too, has a responsibility. The individual must indeed be his brother's keeper, but society must do all it can to follow up when the individual sacrifically involves himself. A brief jail term for one who harries a woman with obscenity for months on end is not an adequate response.

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE BRIGHT SIDE IN APPALACHIA

Somerset, Pa.—President Lyndon B. Johnson gets high visibility as he skips by air about Appalachia proclaiming its poverty and defilement. But a "low visibility" look at Somerset County, in this southwestern corner of Pennsylvania's portion of Appalachia, tells a much more encouraging story.

I came out to this corner of Appalachia because I had heard they were about to dedicate a golf course made out of a backfilled strip coal mine. Inasmuch as golf greens have to be manicured to the last inch, and fairways have to show at least reasonable smoothness, this seemed about the ultimate that could be demanded of restoration work in ravaged country. Well, the golf course, a nine-holer that will eventually be enlarged to eighteen holes, was there, the creation of the Merrill brothers, Charles and Howard. The fairways were still a little hard on the feet, for southwest Pennsylvania has had a drought, and the new grass was just getting a grip on the restored surface of what was an ugly gash in the earth just a few months ago. The greens, however, were already soft and lovely to the touch.

The idea of turning a worked-out coal seam into a golf course, spectacular though it is, happens to be the icing on the cake so far as Somerset County is concerned. The baking of the cake is another story. This is an important center of strip mine activity, for several coal seams lie close enough to the surface on either side of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to permit mining by the easy method of scraping off the topsoil and overburden rock to get at the coal as it lies exposed to open air. More than golf is involved in making use of the gutted land.

Strip mining got its big impetus here during World War II, when bituminous coal was at a premium and no one worried about what fly-by-night slash-and-strip methods did to make the earth look like a replica of the surface of the moon. Big contractors who had been working on the building of the Pennsylvania Turnpike happened to have their bulldozers and mechanical hoists in the neighborhood when Pearl Harbor came, and they stayed on to strip out the coal. After the war they left, leaving much of the land an esthetic horror.

Local people who had gotten into strip mining in 1940 and 1941, however, had to live on in the place. It seemed senseless to Charles Merrill, whose family had been in Somerset County coal since the Eighteen Eighties, to see so much good potential farm, forest and recreation land ruined by stripping. So Mr. Merrill, though it cost him a bit to backfill and regrade the land to contour as he moved along a coal seam, began restoration on his own. The dividends were large in terms of beauty. But, surprisingly, the restoration also began to pay off in money terms, for farmers discovered that strip mine digging had some of the virtues of deep plowing. It broke up hard pan that had hitherto been impenetrable to Alfalfa roots, and it made mineral nutrients available to plants that had not been available before.

Land that had not even been good for pasturage before strip mining had churned it up is now yielding money-making crops of corn and wheat in Somerset. And one farmer, Cloyd Saylor, who wanted some of his coal-veined acreage filled in to make for himself a private airstrip, decided he could be better served by putting the reclaimed earth into alfalfa and clover. The tax rolls, of course, benefit every time some stripped-out "waste" is returned to use.

The point about Somerset County is that the restoration of the landscape has been done by local initiative. It started long before Pennsylvania had any effective law to compel backfilling and regrading of the earth. The coal capitalists here have been anything but greedy. To the south of the Turnpike, the Merrill family and their disciples have restored acre upon acre of the land and even improved upon the original. To the north of the town of Somerset, in the middle of the county, the new gospel hasn't taken hold to quite the same extent. But further north, there is more good restoration.

None of this good work in Somerset has depended on campaigns against poverty and ugliness conducted from Washington. It is the sort of story that free enterprisers ought to tell both insistently and widely, for it shows how grass-roots people can take care of their own affairs and keep control of their own localities for their own purposes. Incidentally, the work done in Somerset is becoming standard for the sovereign state of Pennsylvania. How this came about is perhaps worth another column.

Hazards on the Golf Course Don't End With Sand Traps

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Golf is not thought of as a dangerous sport. Several million persons enjoy it and profit from the exercise.

According to the National Safety Council, however, thousands of accidents do occur on the golf course and the number is increasing. Each year nearly a million newcomers take up the game and they are responsible for an overwhelming majority of the accidents.

Here are some of the hazards and ways to avoid them: Being struck by a golf ball is the commonest injury. It may result from an unfortunate slice, a ricochet off the trunk of a tree, overcrowding the links, or failure to warn other players of your drive or failure to heed such a warning.

Furthermore, the ball may stray into a neighboring fairway. It may hit another player in the process. Many experts today advocate protective helmets on the golf course.

Then there is the matter of the powered golf cart—truly a boon to many elderly players with chronic heart or lung diseases who would otherwise have to give up the game. Since these carts have only three wheels, they may tip easily, especially when a sharp turn is made and when driven on a slope or on rough ground.

Although they go only about 10 miles an hour on level ground, a person who is ejected from a cart traveling at this speed can incur a severe injury to his back or neck and, if his head strikes a tree or a hard surface, he may injure his skull or brain. When the vehicle scoots downhill a greater speed is attained and any injury sustained would be more serious. Because so many of these carts run off narrow bridges, some clubs are widening their bridges and providing them wtih guard rails.

Another hazard—one that claims the lives of many golfers each year, is lightning. few golfers realize that the greatest danger of being struck occurs not during the storm but just preceding it.

When you see a storm approaching, don't wait for it to break and don't seek shelter under a lone tree because lightning always strikes the highest target in an exposed area. If there is a clump of trees, take shelter under one of the smaller ones. Otherwise crouch in a sandtrap or make it to the nearest building. Above all, get away from your clubs and don't use an umbrella. These are invitations to electrocution.

While you are about it, you should protect yourself from sunburn and heat exhaustion. And, if you haven't been playing regularly, work into it gradually to avoid overtiring.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Proposals that would radically shift U. S. cold-war tactics with regard to the Soviet Union are being studied at the White House, Pentagon and State Department.

At the very time the United States is roundly attacking the British government for considering long-term credits to Nikita Khrushchev, key aides are quietly studying whether the United States should itself adopt the British strategy.

The secret debate is now going on. Decisions will probably be made piecemeal.

Proposition One—The possibility of U. S. assistance in the development of Soviet agriculture should be explored.

Proposition Two—The U. S. should be prepared to reduce its restrictions on trade with the Soviet Union.

These two proposals aim at getting Khrushchev to raise production for civilian consumption and lower his arms output. Backers of these proposals argue that if the United States would send the Soviet Union factories for the producion of consumer goods, these plants would use raw materials and technicians which would have to be diverted from the Soviet arms effort.

Proposition Three — Explore with the Soviet Union various places, such as Laos and parts of Africa, where the United States and Russia could take joint military action "in their common interest."

The proposers suggest this would reduce points of military confrontation.

Proposition Four — Explore ways in which the United States and Russia could co-operate in economic aid for selected underdeveloped countries.

The planners argue this economic aid would turn into economic rivalry. U. S. and Soviet technicians, they say, would try to outdo each other, thus providing a way to prove U. S. technical and economic methods superior for under-developed countries.

Proposition Five — Seek unwritten agreement with the Soviet Union not to give sophisticated weapons to nations which might plunge the Soviet Union and the United States into war.

The U. S. aim would be to keep powerful new weapons from Cuba's Fidel Castro, Red China's Mao Tse-tung and North Viet Nam's Ho Chi Minh and lessen the chances of guerrilla conflicts escalating into full-scale nuclear wars.

Proposition Six — Push a substantial increase in the exchange of American and Russian scientists.

The proposers argue that if enough U. S. scientists visit the Soviet Union each year, it will be impossible, even with Soviet security precautions, for the Russians to make a scientific breakthrough crucial to defense without the United States learning about it. The Russians, on their side, would have the same advantage. This, the proposers claim, would promote stability.

Proposition Seven — Find ways to send messages to the Soviet elite — those top technicians, scientists, writers, managers and officials who have influence in Russia — telling them exactly what the United States is up to in each major peace move it makes.

This proposal aims at putting Khrushchev and his top aides under some pressure from their own people.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Since the Chamber of Comerce of the United States is the largest body of business men in the country—representing aproximately 3,500,000 constituent members from all kinds of businesses—it is significant that president Walter F. Carey has sent to the 100 Senators a letter severely criticizing certain parts of the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

Up to now, the impression has been conveyed to the nation that most of the people who want to amend the measure are either "extremists" or "racists" or persons who would deny equal opportunity to minority groups because of race or color or religion.

The chamber itself takes no position at all on any other parts of the civil rights bill, but it does specifically single out Title VII—the section dealing with "equal employment opportunity." Behind the scenes in Congress, there is much concern over this particular topic in the civil rights debate. There are rumors that, if a motion for cloture to force a vote on this section were acted on, it would fail. In fact, it is reported that the Administration leaders are hesitant to attempt to shut off the Senate's discussion and may find themselves in the position of having to accept compromises in order to get action on this part of the bill.

The criticism of the "equal employment opportunity" section of the bill expressed in the formal statement by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce is that "the meaning of certain provisions is vague" and that "the authority granted Federadd administrators is excessive." Mr. Carey's statement says:

"These and other deficiencies, which I shall enumerate, could be seriously harmful to the conduct of American business. They also would help defeat the very purpose for which Title VII is being urged — to expedite the elimination of any discrimination in employment based upon race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

"The national Chamber recommends that the powers of the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission . . . be limited to conciliation and persuasion. We are very dubious about the value of court proceedings and orders to accomplish the hoped-for results.

"But in the event Congress decides to retain provisions for court enforcement of actions recommended by the commission, the minimum requirement is that you give careful consideration to the need for seven amendments to Title VII."

One of the amendments proposed by the chamber would specify that only willful acts of discrimination should constitute violations of the law. It is recommended also that "good faith" should be permitted as "a defense for all persons accused of discrimination."

It is further argued that the proposed commission should have no jurisdiction in states which already have laws forbidding discrimination and that accused persons should be granted certain rights of appeal on the issue of jurisdiction.

The record-keeping requirements are described as "onerous." Also, it is contended that the bill as it stands now might even prevent a man who fails in business from abandoning his enterprise. The Chamber's statement, therefore, says:

"The bill should be amended to specify that an employer who chooses to discontinue his business may do so."

The point is made, moreover, that only persons who claim to be aggrieved should be able to file charges, lest questionable cases of alleged discrimination by other than the aggrieved parties be encouraged.

Finally, the Chamber recommends that only the commission itself should be able to institute court proceedings but that, if individuals are allowed to bring court proceedings, two or more of the five members of the commission should be required to approve such proceedings in order to "preclude frivolous cases brought for the purpose of harassment."

Perhaps the most significant recommendation in Mr. Carey's statement — made in letters to the 100 members of the Senate —is the concluding paragraph:

"But in the event no changes or only inconsequential changes, are put forward as amendments to Title VII, then I strongly urge you to press for its complete elimination from H. R. 7152 (the House-passed civil rights bill now pending in the Senate)."

The Chamber of Commerce has not become involved in any way in the merits of the other sections of the bill, but its announced position on the "Equal Employment Opportunity" section is a sign of the unrest that has developed among its members in all parts of the country over the proposed law that would put the Federal government in virtual control of hiring and other employe practices. Labor unions have invaded this field from time to time by compeling employers, under threats of strikes, to write contracts granting unions the right to say who shall be employed. There has been some labor-union criticism of this section of the bill, but the most pronounced comment comes from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and it has made a profound impression on members of Congress.

There are intimations from Capitol Hill that the "Equal Employment Opportunity" section, unless materially changed, could actually prolong the debate and that it is really more responsible for criticism than what is known as the "Public Accommodations" section which deals with discrimination in hotels, motels and eating places.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

So much is happening in and around Kingston especially in the last few years. For instance for many years, there was talk about the underpass, perhaps they dreamed about it soon after the West Shore depot opened in the early 1880's. Finally the underpass was built, and like to a gold rush, stores and business establishments rushed up there. Now in 1964, I counted some dozen stores which are empty, not including the large market, on both sides of the street. The traffic circle with all the signs is also interesting, bringing Broadway and Albany Avenue into a new interesting design, yet around there I see some empty stores. I am also surprised at the many "houses for sale" and "for rent" signs on private residences. Some sort of a change is coming over Kingston proper, which does not seem to satisfy those who have lived here for years. Their families before them, seemed contented.

Many years ago, Kingston had three business sections, each for good reasons. Downtown was busy with its railroad depot, ferries and boating, and the D and H Canal which came about in the early 1820's, bringing business from Honesdale, Pa. to Rondout. In the center of town was the railroad depot, which brought people from all over. Hotels clustered around the railroad station, eating places, and cigar stores, and later movie houses. The trolley ran up and down Broadway and Hasbrouck Avenue, combining the three sections. Uptown had its own railroad depot, besides the out-of-town stages which brought folks from the country to shop, and the New Yorkers came through Kingston to the mountains. Boarding house owners did their shopping in Kingston. Now all this is gone, everyone has a car, they shop in liesure and do not wish to tolerate watching a parking meter or feeding it with money.

Private housing projects also have made a change. Acres of land are being bought not in Kingston, but outside, and modern, neat little homes are being built, in Woodstock, in Mt. Marion, in Port Ewen and other places, and shopping centers are easy to get to, as just about everyone drives a car. Children do not come home for lunch, as schools are far away so they are bused to schools, so that the housewife does not have to rush home for lunch. In fact she can have a part-time job. I am just wondering what will happen to little cities like Kingston in years to come, as folks live, work and shop where they please. Miles mean nothing, with many families having several cars to go to work in various parts of the area.

I walked over the Rondout Creek Bridge the other day. I notice many folks do walk through the stone cut, which could be made more convenient for walking. There is at least a foot and a half or more walking space near the rocks where a cement walk could be built so one does not have to walk in the gutter part. It is just a short distance from the Sleightsburgh side of the bridge, and I am sure the important state of New York could find a little cold cash to make a little walking space there. The bridge looks fine when one drives over it, but walking over it, I see where some of the walk needs repair, and you can see the Rondout Creek very clearly through the breaks. They speak about giving people jobs, now it would be a fin time, with all this nice weather, to give some men work scraping and painting the bridge, as rust is winning out. In the early 1920's when it was built, it was proudly spoken of as the 7th longest suspension bridge. The cornerstone was laid in 1920 by Gov. Al Smith.

Terms Cigarettes Harmful in Talk At Marlboro High

"Research and study has proven that cigarette smoking is harmful, contributing to the worsening of the diseases of the respiratory tract." This was noted by Dr. John Scott, physician-speaker in the Smoking Educational Program recently provided for the student assembly at Marlboro Central High School by the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Dr. Scott outlined the leading respiratory diseases including emphysema and chronic bronchitis, and emphasized the deleterious effect of smoking on these conditions.

Emphysema is now second only to heart disease in disability, and recent national figures show an alarming death rate of disease alone. In New York State from 1940 to 1960, deaths due to respiratory disease has doubled. The effect of smoking on the respiratory tract and its diseases is the source of great and serious concern.

Dr. Scott also pointed to the conclusive proofs relating smoking to cancer, and its effects in diseases of the heart. Dr. Scott, prominent Marlboro physician, served in the program on behalf of the association.

The program was developed by E. Robert Johnson, executive director of the TB and Health Association, at the request of Jose Munoz, science teacher, and the school's student committee charged with looking into smoking and tobacco. The committee included Susan Handy, chairman, Janet Squilla and Janet Larkin. Marilyn Eager, also of the committee, introduced the assembly program. Michael Pascale, president of the student council, handled its conclusion. Fred Bement, assistant principal, set up the details of planning the assembly at the school.

Frederic W. Robinson, of Marlboro's First National Bank, a member of the Board of Directors of the TB and Health Association, introduced Dr. Scott. He noted that the program was a part of the association's work in public health education.

The association is the agency in the county dedicated to the work in respiratory diseases and the effects of smoking and air pollution, he noted. "This vital program is built," he added, "on the county-wide citizen support of the traditional Christmas Seal." Gus Cutrone, Marlboro postmaster, also was present for the presentation of the student program. He is Marlboro Township Christmas seal chairman, and with Robinson, is interested in association health and case-finding programs which can benefit the area.

Paul Georgini, supervising principal, noted that the school has concentrated on the required health programs exploring the problems of narcotics, smoking. He expressed appreciation to the TB and Health group for their aid in producing an enlightening program geared to smoking and health, and filling a vital need in school health work.

DONALD J. GAVIS

Former Resident Is Selected for Sloan Fellowship

Former Kingston resident, Donald J. Gavis of IBM's Data Systems Division Development Laboratory at Poughkeepsie, has been selected for an Alfred P. Sloan Fellowship at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Gavis, who is current programming systems manager, was one of 45 businessmen from all over the United States selected for one of the fellowships providing a full year for education in management at MIT.

Sloan Fellowships for participation in this program are considered among the highest honors which can come to young men during their business careers. The fellows selected by MIT are from a group of candidates whose employers nominated them for admission to the program.

The Sloan Fellows will move their families to the Cambridge area in June, to spend 12 months at MIT studying in depth the fundamentals that underlie sound management decisions.

"The men designated as next year's Sloan Fellows are not only among the most promising of our country's young executives," Peter GIL, MIT director of executive development programs, said, "they reflect the increasingly high calibre of men nominated for fellowships."

Gavis, a Kingston High School graduate joined IBM in 1950 at Poughkeepsie. He has held a number of technical and management positions in the Poughkeepsie Product Testing Laboratory and in DS Programming Systems. He was promoted to his current position in 1962.

Gavis, his wife, and their three children live on Merry Hill Road, Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Gavis is the former Janet Piester of Kingston. Gavis' father, Joseph W. Gavis, is a resident of Kingston.

Effective Education

So effective was Oklahoma's first education system, established by its Five Civilized Indian Tribes in the 1830s, that many Cherokees,, Chickasaws, Choctaws, Creeks and Seminoles could read Greek and Latin while white traders and trappers who dealt with them couldn't sign their own names.

Mental Health Fund Campaign Is Encouraging

Fund raising for Mental Health in Ulster County, is proceeding very encouragingly, the chairman of the current drive, C. Kenneth Taber, stated today.

The larger businesses and industry throughout the county have been contacted by letter, and contributions are already arriving at the association office in Kingston. A number of stores are also being very cooperative in placing collecting canisters near cash registers.

Dr. Paul Perlman of Woodstock, is writing to all dentists in the county, on behalf of the local Association for Mental Health, asking for their financial support of the work of the association.

Dr. Perlman is well acquainted with the accomplishments and needs of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, as his wife Rosalene, has been a member of the board of directors for the last two years.

Arthur B. Ewig, well known Kingston attorney, and member of the board of directors of the association, is planning to contact by letter, all the attorneys in the county, asking for their support of the campaign. Dr. Elbert MacFadden, Kingston pediatrician, and also a member of the board of directors of UCAMH, is enlisting the support of physicians and surgeons in the county.

An example of the type of educational program which the local association carries out, will be the half-day seminar for social workers, public health nurses and others whose responsibility is giving service to people. The seminar is scheduled for June 24 at the Benedictin Hospital, on the subject of "Basic Theory, Methods and Technique of Interviewing," in the normal setting, and also interviewing the emotional disturbed and mentally retarded.

Workshop Is Set For June 24 for Social Agencies

A half-day workshop for social workers, county departments of welfare case workers, public health nurses, members of the clergy and legal profession, and others whose responsibility is giving service to people, will be presented in Kingston Wednesday, June 24, at Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing.

In making this announcement today, Miss Rose Marie Feeney, chairman of the planning committee, explained that this program is being publicized well in advance so that county departments and social agencies have plenty of time to schedule this for their staff.

The topic will be Basic Theory, Methods and Techniques of Interviewing. Donald J. Haughton, field training representative of the Massachusetts Department of Public Welfare, will present theory and treatment in the normal setting, and the method and technique of interviewing the emotionally disturbed and the mentally retarded.

Further details will be announced.

The program is being sponsored by Ulster County Association for Mental Health, in cooperation with Ulster County Departments of Welfare, Public Health, Probation Service, and Mental Health Center.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

FADING LANDMARK—Saugerties Lighthouse at the mouth of the Esopus Creek, a landmark dating back to 1835 will be razed by dynamite shortly according to information received from the U. S. Coast Guard. Although some well meaning groups are interested in preserving it or using it as a public building or museum, rough estimates have indicated it would cost many thousands of dollars to make the structure safe for occupancy. The Coast Guard has declared the lighthouse unsafe and a hazard, and will shortly construct a steel tower for the beacon light at the point.

Coast Guard Plans to Raze Local Lighthouse

Saugerties Lighthouse station, a local landmark for many years will be razed, according to information received last week from the U.S. Coast Guard.

The lighthouse has been unoccupied since 1954. In a notice received by Supervisor Peter M. Williams May 6 the lighthouse will be torn down because it has "become a safety hazard."

Capt. G. R. Boyce Jr., chief of operations said a recent survey by the Coast Guard has indicated that the building is in very poor condition with rotted beams, buckling floors and advanced deterioration of inner walls.

Supervisor Williams and Mayor William Ziegler will inspect the building today to determine if it has any value as a public building or museum.

Supervisor Williams has been in contact with the Coast Guard for the past two years regarding the disposition of the light station. The Saugerties supervisor had hoped it could be used as a marine museum, if the property could be acquired from the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard said that when the building is razed, a steel tower would be constructed on the foundation for the beacon light at the mouth of Esopus Creek.

Antique Show, Sale May 22-23 Offers Variety

An antique hunter's paradise will be offered during the second annual antique show and sale on May 22 and May 23 at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street, Saugerties, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Carnival glass, German bisque dolls, antique jewelry, bric-a-brac, oddities, primatives, etc., will be among the featured items displayed by 12 dealers.

Sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, this year's show promises a day of enjoyment. A nominal admission fee is charged. Refreshments will be available.

All profits will be used in the Auxiliary's hospital and rehabilitation work, according to Mrs. Kay Helm, chairman of the event.

To add to the interest, floral displays by the Flower Garden and Overbaugh's Florist will be incorporated with the antiques.

Dealers participating include: Mrs. Anna Tice of Katsbaan; Mrs. Margaret Ruth Smith of Saugerties; Mrs. Violet Martin of Saugerties; William Igoe of Veteran; Mrs. Kay Helm of Quarryville; Mrs. Rose Netburn of Kingston; Mrs. Lea Rapp of Athens; Mrs. Marianne Boeckel of Poughkeepsie; Mrs. and Mrs. Wilbur Schermerhorn of Ravena; Jerry Mooney of Ravena; Mrs. Margaret DeCelle of Lynbrook, L. Theta Rho Girls Set Official Visit June 5

Arrangements for the official visit of Gail Adams, assembly president were announced at a recent meeting of Tonda Theta Rho Girls Club 26 at Odd Fellows Hall.

Gail Adams is a member of the local club and the official visit will be held here June 5. The girls also planned a games party for August.

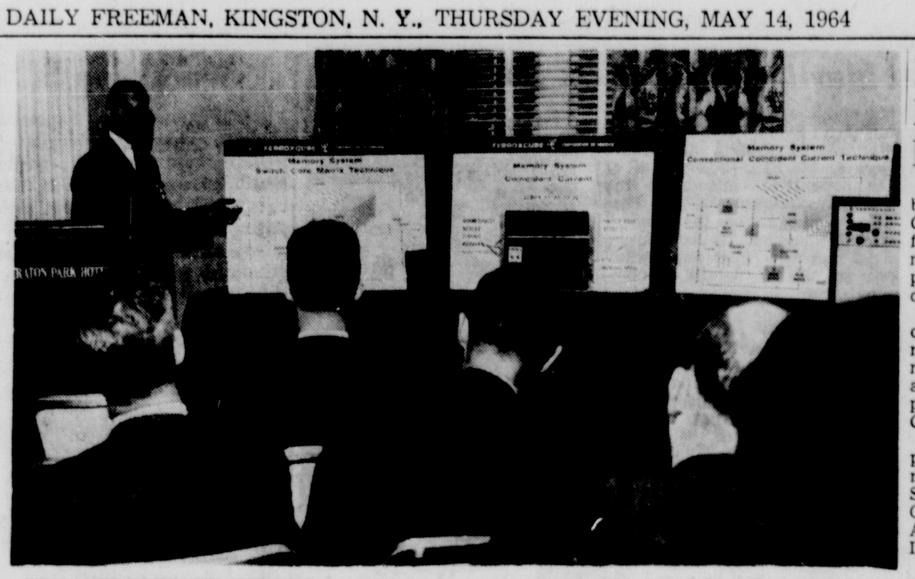
Physical Ed Week

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has named May 10-16 Physical Education Week.

Commenting on the occasion, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of the Saugerties Central Schools, remarked: "A sound mind and a healthy body are goals which everyone should strive to achieve. Habits which help in this achievement can and should be developed in our schools, but we must recognize that the home has an important role to play. Cooperation is the key word as parents and educators work to provide each pupil with the essential skills and understandings for good health.

"In Saugerties Central Schools we combine the efforts of health services, physical education, and athletic program, and related classroom work in many subject areas to accomplish our goals. We are hampered by overcrowded conditions and overtaxed facilities, but completion of our building program will assist greatly in improving the situation.

"We have a fine, capable, and hard-working staff, dedicated to high standards. With public understanding and support we can provide the pupils in Saugerties Central Schools with the kind of program which will start them in the right direction on the road to physical fitness."



NEW FERROXCUBE SYSTEMS—At a recent spring computer conference held in Washington, D. C., Ferroxcube Corporation of America, Saugerties announced new 5 and 6 microsecond memory systems. J. W. Dymecki, a member of the Ferroxcube staff (standing, left) describes significant new features of these systems to more than 20 trade and news editors from leading industrial and technical magazines. Interest ran high on the Ferroxcube systems, components and basic ferrites, it was reported. Dymecki and his family reside at Normandy Court, West Hurley. (Capitol photo)

Plan Memorial For M-WC Vols' Past President

Plaques listing deceased members of Malden-West Camp Fire Company will be placed in both fire stations in the district as memorials to the company's late president, John J. Helfert who died March 14.

Arrangements for the purchase of the plaques were announced at the Tuesday night meeting of the volunteers held at West Camp fire station. Company Vice President Franklin P. Clum, presided.

The fund for the memorial plaques was initiated by a donation received from employes of Saks Fifth Avenue, New York City. Mr. Helfert's sister, Mrs. Ann Mittler of Jackson Heights, L. I., is employed at Saks.

After the plaques have been purchased and installed, special dedicatory services will be held. The plaque at Malden fire station will list all deceased members from that unit and the one at West Camp will similiarly note all deceased members of that station.

Mr. Helfert was the first honorary life member of the company and earlier this year was elected to his sixth term as president of the company.

He also served as an alternate delegate to Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association and was a fire commissioner of the district serving as secretary.

During the regular business session Vice President Clum announced that Fred Pesce of Katsbaan was appointed to fill the vacancy on the Board of Fire Commissioners.

Henry J. Auer of Malden was accepted as an active member.

It was voted that a $10 prize be presented to a high school graduate in the name of the club, and $5 was also sent to St. Mary of the Snow School to be used for graduation prizes. A $5 donation was also sent to Camp Fire Girls of Saugerties to be used for any of their worthwhile projects.

Miss Margaret Gippert, Kings Highway, was awarded a dress donated by Maranda Inc.

It was announced the June meeting will be held at Brinnler's Camp Finger Hill. Mrs. Sally Brinnier will be the hostess. Members were requested to arrive at 8 p. m. and dress suitably.

3 Republican Contenders Plead by Proxy for Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Three Republican presidential contenders make final pleas by proxy for Oregon primary votes today while Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller winds up his nonstop campaign asking: "What do the absent advocate."

That was the New York governor's theme as the six way presidential primary battle boiled toward a showdown at the polls Tuesday.

He drummed it as public opinion pollsters reported other candidates are narrowing the Oregon margin they credit to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in South Viet Nam.

Rocky Encouraged

"I'm very encouraged," Rockefeller said Wednesday. "Lodge is down in the polls. I'm optimistic. Things are getting better."

George Cabot Lodge, son of the favored ambassador who was the 1960 Republican choice for vice president, hurried to Oregon to declare his father would answer "with force and clarity" if the party called upon him to head its 1964 ticket.

Oregon allies of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater talked optimisticallly of their men's chances.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine also are on the GOP ballot. They have staged no campaigns.

Works Whole Month

Rockefeller has spent a month courting Oregon Republicans. With the primary a few hours away, two of his children—Ann Pierson and Rodman C. Rockefeller, both of New York City, came to Portland Wednesday night.

Goldwater's sons Barry Jr. and Michael have been the anchor men of his campaign here. The senator himself has not been in Oregon since April 7. He canceled later campaign trips, saying he had to stay in Washington because the Senate was busy with the civil rights bill.

In a nationwide television address beamed to six Oregon channels Wednesday night, Goldwater said the United States should take the lead in applying economic and political pressure "to change the Communist plan."

"I think we ought to use every peaceful means available for calling freedom's tune," he said.

Eyes Second Ballot

Goldwater said in Philadelphia earlier he sees "a surge now for Nixon" in the battle for the GOP nomination. But the Arizona senator said he expects to win it on the second ballot at San Francisco.

Nixon's Oregon supporters were buoyed by the 1960 nominee's write-in showing in the Nebraska primary Tuesday.

Nixon captured 31 per cent of the Republican vote in Nebraska. Goldwater, alone on the ballot, won that primary with 50 per cent of the turnout.

Rockefeller aimed his strongest words at Goldwater.

He told a cheering crowd of 900 at the University of Portland Wednesday night he fears the Republican party "is in serious danger of being dominated by a narrow, doctrinaire, radical extremism outside of the mainstream of American political thought and action."

He coupled that with a slap at his absent opponents. "Where do the silent stand?" he asked. "Is the primary being replaced by the poll—the public opinion poll?"

Dozen Cars Derailed

WEST DEERFIELD, Mass. (AP)—A dozen cars of a 125-car Boston & Maine Railroad freight train were derailed Wednesday night. No injuries were reported.

The train was bound from Mechanicville, N.Y., to Boston.

Divorced Couple Honored - in Hollywood Style

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Where but in Hollywood would they give a party for a divorced couple?

Universal Studios Tuesday night honored Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, co-stars in the movie thriller, "The Night Walker."

Although divorced a dozen years, "Barbara and I have remained good friends," says Taylor.

Miss Stanwyck, 56, said she was asked "if I would have any objection if Bob appeared in the picture. I said, 'Of course not — but you'd better ask Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.'"

Taylor, 52, said, "It's all right with me if it's all right with her."

The present Mrs. Taylor, actress Ursula Thiess, was asked if it was all right with her.

"Not necessarily," she said, smiling enigmatically.

Cleric Halts His 18-day Hunger Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —The Rev. Clayton K. Hewett, a white Episcopalian rector, has ended an 18-day hunger strike.

The Right Rev. Rober L. De Witt, bishop of the Pennsylvania Episcopal diocese, announced the end of the fast shortly after the Rev. Mr. Hewett, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Atonement in suburban Morton, was discharged from a hospital.

The bishop told newsmen the 37-year-old rector had agreed to end the fast because Gov. William W. Scranton's intervention has been responsible for the apparent beginning of real progress in the racial situation at Chester. The bishop wants the Rev. Mr. Hewett to have training to prepare him for additional ministry in civil rights work.

The Rev. Mr. Hewett had been taking only water, juices and vitamin capsules since his arrest in the April 24 demonstrations in Chester.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Confidence is pushing business orders and plans ahead without waiting for consumer sales to catch fire.

Many executives have their eyes on the autumn when they think the consumers will join the parade. This spring the flag is being carried by business itself.

Some firms are starting to build up inventories.

Orders Nicely Ahead

Many factories report new orders nicely ahead of a year ago. And some $50.7 billion of unfilled orders at the end of March assure busy weeks ahead.

Even the steel industry is doing some second guessing. In April it found the big late winter spurt in orders leveling off. Now it reports orders for June delivery above earlier expectations. Many mills now anticipate a much smaller dip in shipments next month than they did a few weeks back.

The auto industry will go into its usual summer slowdown for model changeovers, complicated this year by what could be more than normally heated labor negotiations.

New strength in steel orders is coming from the railroads, appliances, farm implements and construction. The metalworking weekly Iron Age says that some mills are lengthening their delivery promises because of this, although a steel shortage isn't in the picture by any means.

Acts as Drag

Also helping the steel outlook for summer is a change in imports—some are being priced higher and some foreign mills are finding larger markets at home and less urge to sell here.

Lagging retail volume in March acted as a drag on total business sales, the Department of Commerce reports. The total of manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade in March was put at $70.9 billion, compared with February's record $71 billion.

The final days of April showed a pickup, attributable in large part to better weather. And most merchants are looking for good figures in May.

It's the autumn, though, on which their expectations are being built. By then, the retail spokesmen figure, consumers will really be spending that additional $8 billion which the cut in federal income taxes was designed to give them.

Slabsides Open House May 23

The spring Open House Day at Slabsides, rustic cabin of the naturalist John Burroughs at West Park, will be Saturday, May 23 this year. This is an opportunity to see the cabin and to take part in a nature walk conducted by Henry Dunbar to see birds and wild flowers in the area.

The program will begin at 11 with a talk by Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley. All are invited to bring a picnic lunch and join members of the John Burroughs Natural History Society in this spring-time outing.

To reach Slabsides, turn west from 9-W at West Park, cross the railroad tracks, and follow the paved road to the top of the hill, about a half mile. Park where Burroughs Drive begins and walk the rest of the way to the cabin. Do not drive all the way in as there is room for only one car to park by the cabin. The cabin will be open rain or shine on May 23.

Cookie pans should be an inch smaller than your oven space so the heat can circulate.

MYF held its meeting at the Kripplebush Church Sunday evening with 14 members present.

Natural Sculpture

The profile of the "Old Man" (also called the "Great Stone Face") in the White Mountains at Franconia, N. H., was carved by nature and not by man. It is formed on the side of a mountain by five separate ledges, the planes of which create the most noted of natural profiles.

4-H Members Start Pheasant Raising Program

Twenty-one Ulster County 4-H Club members are participating in this year's annual pheasant program in cooperation with the New York State Conservation Department.

A total of 910 day-old pheasant chicks were distributed to members on Monday at a training school conducted at the home of Larry Larsen, Stone Ridge. Al Roberts, game protector from Highland presented instruction on the proper care, feeding and management of pheasants and record sheets and reference materials were also given.

Under the cooperative pheasant agreement, each 4-H Club member agrees to raise and care for the chicks for a period of seven weeks. At the conclusion of the period the local game protector releases the birds on unposted land and the member receives one dollar for each bird released.

The purpose of the program is to provide for the 4-H member an opportunity to gain experience in raising and caring for small animals. The member assumes full responsibility for the management of the pheasant chicks. Through this program, the Conservation Department is able to increase the game in local areas. Thus the cooperative agreement provides a worthwhile program for both 4-H members and the Conservation Department according to Carlton M. Conklin, County 4-H Club agent.

Those receiving pheasants are: Frederick M. Bouton, Shokan; Kristin Countryman, High Falls; Gary Owen Halstead, Highland; Dolores Hofler, Hurley; Barbara, Marilyn and David Hanson, Olive Bridge; Larry Larsen, Stone Ridge; Elaine and Loretta Martin, Wallkill; Pat Matteson, New Paltz; Carol Muller, Lucia Wojcio and Linda Wojcio, Lake Katrine; Arthur, Fred and Marie Michel, New Paltz, Robert and Donald Tuthill, Wallkill, Anthony and Stephen Wittek, Flatbush.

Donovan Says N.Y., U.S. Must Share in Integration Costs

NEW YORK (AP) — Higher quality, better integrated education in New York City will cost a lot more money and the state and nation should help pay for it, says James B. Donovan, president of the board of education.

To Ask Special Session

The school system has been sharply criticized by a state advisory committee that said nothing the board has done or planned can halt the trend of increasing de facto segregation in the public schools.

Donovan said Wednesday it will take "several hundred millions of dollars" to put into effect the committee's recommendations and to carry out other, similar programs.

He said he intends to ask Gov. Rockefeller to call a special session of the Legislature this summer to vote additional school aid.

And he said he has talked with Sargent Shriver, head of President Johnson's anti-poverty campaign, who promised that requests for funds "will receive fair and prompt consideration."

The advisory committee recommended a top-to-bottom reorganization of the school system. It indicated that at least $250 million would have to be added to the annual operating budget of $800 million.

Total Plan Impossible

It said total desegregation is impossible and that 131 elementary schools and 25 junior high schools are 90 per cent or more Negro and Puerto Rican—twice the number five years ago.

New York has no legal segregation, but neighborhood racial patterns have led to schools that are predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican or white.

Donovan noted that the state report said more than 700,000 Negroes and Puerto Ricans had moved into the city and 800,000 whites had left since World War II.

It would be just as unfair to expect the city to cope with this problem alone, he said.

Poor Plumbing In Soviet Hotel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Visitors to one of the Soviet Union's newest hotels better bring their own wash basin stoppers and a little extra plumbing.

At least that was the experience of Dr. Leland J. Haworth, director of the National Science Foundation.

Haworth and some traveling companions were the first guests in a new hotel in Dubna, near Moscow.

"We were told," he related in congressional testimony made public today, "that if we wanted water in a tub or basin, we should take sink stoppers."

They got the stoppers, used the wash basin and jerked out the stoppers.

"The water went all over the floor," Haworth said. "The pipe ended without connecting to the pipe below it."

Kerhonkson Man Unhurt

At 1:30 a. m. today a car operated by Martin Somers, 35, of Highland Avenue, Kerhonkson, failed to negotiate a curve on Route 209, Main Street, Accord, as it was being operated south on Route 209. The car struck an embankment, state troopers from the Ellenville station reported, and overturned in a private driveway. Somers was reported uninjured.

Parked Car Struck

On Wednesday the car of David Rososky of Ellenville was parked on Route 209, about a half mile south of Route 55 in the Town of Wawarsing, when it was struck by a car operated by Veronica Terwilliger, Continental Road, Napanoch, which was also headed north. State police from Ellenville who investigated reported no injuries.

Still Lag Behind Many

Teacher Pay Nearly Doubles 50-51 Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teacher salaries have nearly doubled since the 1950-51 school year, but they still lag far behind most other professional workers, the National Education Association reports.

$5,963 Average Pay

The NEA said the national average salary of classroom teachers this year is $5,963, an increase of $231 over 1962-63.

This year's figure is 97.2 per cent higher than in 1950-51. In that 13-year period, the average salary of elementary-school teachers rose by 106.6 per cent, secondary-school teachers by 81.4 per cent.

Secondary-school teachers this year are making an average of $6,214, elementary-school teachers $5,797.

According to 1960 census figures, the NEA said the average salary for all teachers ranked 15th in a list of 20 professions. Only social and welfare workers, librarians, elementary school teachers, clergymen and dieticians ranked below them.

Salaries of secondary-school teachers ranked slightly higher than the average for all teachers. Physicians and surgeons led the list, with average annual income three times that of teachers. No dollar figures were given

Start at $4,700

The NEA report, "Economic Status of Teachers in 1963-64," said the typical beginning teacher in the largest cities, where the highest salaries are paid, starts at an annual salary of $4,700.

This is estimated to be at least $1,000 less than a male college graduate could expect as a starting wage in virtually any other profession.

The report did not include a state-by-state breakdown of average teacher salaries.

Johnson Aid Bill May Come Out of House Unit Intact

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's $3.4-billion foreign aid bill may come out of the House Foreign Affairs Committee today intact.

If so, this will be the first time that a President's foreign aid request has passed the first barrier on the long congressional road without being sliced at least a little bit.

This would not mean, however, that Johnson is sure to end up with the $3.4 billion he wants.

Only Authorization

The bill now in the committee only authorizes the money. After Congress is finished with that bill, it starts work on another to appropriate the money. The big cuts—if any—would come then.

But Johnson's hopes received a firm boost Wednesday when the committee, in executive session, rejected all attempts to cut the bill. This represented a major victory in the Johnson strategy of giving Congress a bill that he said already was bare to the bone.

Not for Money

And the controversies that lie ahead today do not center on money cuts at all.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said that the committee will take up three money items today—military assistance, the contingency fund and administration costs of foreign aid.

The big amendment pending calls for an increase of $250 million in military assistance and not a decrease. This has been proposed by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., who says that the $1 billion in the bill for military assistance is not enough.

Morgan expects less of a fight over military assistance than over a provision that gives David E. Bell, director of the Agency for International Development, authority to dismiss what he considers "marginal people" from AID's Washington headquarters.

The chairman said there is a dispute between his committee and the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee about which group should have jurisdiction over this problem.

Judge Dismisses Murder Charge Against Girl, 17

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A judge has dismissed a double murder charge against Theresa Robichaud, 17, of Fresno, Calif., on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

Superior Court Judge Warren L. McCarthy overruled Wednesday a justice of the peace who recently ordered Miss Robichaud to stand trial for the slayings of John and Mildred Bertella of Sherrill, N.Y.

Miss Robichaud returned to Fresno two weeks ago after being released on $5,000 bond.

Ex-convict Herbert Shockey, 30, reportedly admitted the killings to Maricopa County Sheriff L. C. (Cal) Boies, but did not implicate the girl.

The Bertellas were found beaten and stabbed in the desert about 40 miles east of Phoenix, near the Superstition Mountains, on Feb. 23.

Shockey and Miss Robichaud were arrested near Austin, Nev., in the slain couple's camper truck. Shockey is to go on trial June 8.

FUN AT NURSERY SCHOOL—Enjoying outdoor play at Fair Street Nursery School are Holly Prentice of Kingston and Mark Thompson of Woodstock who are among the 85 children enrolled at the school this year. Children come to the school from as far away as Saugerties, Stone Ridge, Woodstock and Rhinebeck although the bulk of the enrollment is from the Kingston area. Registration for next fall's term will be held at the school May 26 and 27. Early registration of three and four year olds is necessary to insure a place in next fall's classes. TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Thursday, May 14, the 135th day of 1964. There are 231 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1804, Capt. Meriwether Lewis and Capt. William Clark, after a winter spent on the east bank of the Missouri River, set out on their expedition to get firsthand knowledge of the territory the United States had acquired in the Louisiana purchase.

On this date

In 1814, Paraguay gained its independence from Spain.

In 1913, the Rockefeller Foundation was established.

In 1940, Nazi planes poured death and destruction on Rotterdam as the armies of the Netherlands were about to capitulate.

In 1942, Congress authorized the establishment of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

In 1945, American forces on Okinawa made fresh gains with the capture of two key points—Conical Hill and the Yonabaru Airfield.

Ten years ago — The Grand National Assembly of Turkey reelected pro-Western Celal Bayar president.

Five years ago—Secretary of State Christian Herter presented a Western plan to the Big Four foreign Ministers at Geneva, calling for the uniting of East and West Berlin through free elections.

One year ago—The General Assembly voted to admit Kuwait as the 111th member of the United Nations.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In all the dust kicked up by the three-cornered battle of words over the television Emmy, an important television move has been obscured.

The producer of two of television's five dramatic series which are shot in New York, has picked up his staff and cast and moved to California. The shows are CBS' "The Defenders" and "The Nurses." The emergency move was forced by a strike of a local independent union of scenic and costume designers, making it impossible to continue shooting fall episodes on schedule.

Could Be End for New York

The strike also halted production of CBS' new series, "The Reporter." Two other New York based series were unaffected simply because they were not in production, CBS' "Mr. Broadway," and ABC's "Patty Duke Show."

Michael Dann, CBS programming vice president, said he believed that if the New York made shows were forced to go to California to make their programs on schedule, "it will be the end of New York production of dramatic shows."

"I think that if they have once moved out there, and get their standing sets built, it will be too expensive for them to pick up and move back again," he said.

Chuck Connors, who had contracts with Universal and Revue studios, has terminated both "by mutual agreement," as they always say.

Connors was under Revue contract for "Arrest and Trial," which recently died miserably and undeservedly in a bad Sunday night ABC time spot, and was under a seven-year contract to make one theater film a year.

Connors is an attractive, popular performer and already has interesting offers from David Susskind and Goodson-Todman, the game show people who apparently have not been discouraged by two tenative steps into the dramatic field — "The Rebel," a half-hour Western that didn't last long, and "The Richard Boone Show," an expensive casualty of this season.

Levitt Issues 1963 Data

School Taxes Jump Faster in Upstate

School taxes in New York State districts outside of New York City — including Ulster, Greene, Delaware, Orange, Dutchess and Columbia Counties — have been rising twice as fast as those for the City of New York.

This was noted in a compilation of 1963 school data issued by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The data, part of the Financial Data for School Districts in New York State, for the year ending June 30, 1963, indicates that New York City school taxes rose to $493 million in 1963 from a level of $266 million in 1954.

Wide Spread

The total school property in the rest of the state rose from $245 million to $660 million during this same period.

Full value, the reports shows, of taxable property per student, for instance, varies from $11,903 in Tioga County to $64,653 in Hamilton County. Another important factor shown in Levitt's report is the variation in the number of enrolled students per 1,000 population.

Levitt's compilation gives key data per enrolled pupil for area counties as follows: (figures in order are—real property taxes, state aid, full value, current operations)—

Ulster - $369 - $338 - $28,688 - $603; Greene - $244 - $402 - $26,756 - $606; Delaware - $186 - $503 - $16,432 - $610; Columbia - $206 - $409 - $19,106 - $583; Dutchess - $345 - $323 - $25,387 - $580; Orange - $290 - $370 - $21,949 - $621.

Just Slight Increase

Although state aid for education increased more rapidly upstate during this same period, this increase—at 231 per cent—was only slightly higher than the New York City increase of 210 per cent. "These school tax increases," Comptroller Levitt said, "are in addition to other increases required for county, city, village and town purposes. The problem of these burgeoning property taxes require close study by leaders in every community of our state."

A new feature introduced in this edition of this annual publication is an analysis for each county and each major school district of fiscal data per enrolled pupil reveals important differences among the various counties.

Variations Inevitable

Property taxes per pupil varied in 1963 from a low of $140 in Schuyler County to a high of $702 per pupil in Hamilton County. State aid was lowest in Westchester County, at $251, and highest in Lewis County, at $526. Current operating expenditures per pupil ranged from $502 in Chemung County to $991 in Hamilton County.

Levitt pointed out that these variations were inevitable in any system which attempted to produce uniform and high level educational facilities in communities with varying levels of need for public education and different abilities to support this need through local resources.

Izvestia Raps Wrappings

MOSCOW (AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia criticized Soviet factories Wednesday night for putting so many of their products in unattractive wrappings.

For example:

1. Candy in wrappers showing two chickens fighting over a worm.

2. Wrist watches in boxes with decorations similar to those on insect powder containers.

"To sell under conditions of shortages is easy," said Izvestia, "but now we have more and more goods and it is clear to us that selling today is not a simple business."

NATO . . .

President Makarios of Cyprus.

The agreement avoided a major crisis in the alliance. The festering quarrel between threatened to undermine the alliance's whole southeastern flank.

The agreement was reached after several ministers, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Paul Martin of Canada, urged Greece and Turkey to permit NATO to act under a December, 1956, resolution covering the alliance's internal affairs.

Rusk Warns Both

Rusk warned the two nations an armed conflict between them over Cyprus must not be allowed to happen.

Secretary - General Dirk U. Stikker was authorized to contact the Greek and Turkish governments to promote better relations between Athens and Ankara. He is to keep NATO's permanent council informed.

This work will be continued by Stikker's successor, Mnalio Brosio of Italy, who takes office Aug. 1.

The Greek-Turkish agreement provided the only major accomplishment of the spring meeting revealed thus far. On other major political problems facing the 15 allied powers in Europe, America and Asia, the foreign ministers succeeded only in defining their differences.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Margaret T. Quackenbush of Herkimer has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the State University's Board of Trustees, Gov. Rockefeller's office announced today.

Mrs. Quackenbush, a Republican, was named to succeed Boyd E. Golder, a former Democratic mayor of Utica, who retired from the university board Dec. 31, 1962.

VIKING ON THE ROCKS—Joergen Waring, 28-year-old Danish sculptor, stands with steel statue of a comic Viking on harbor rocks where Copenhagen's Little Mermaid perched until she recently lost her head. A police patrol spotted the figure soon after dawn and hauled it away. The head of the Little Mermaid was sawed off by a vandal and is being fitted with a new head. "I felt sorry for all the tourists who came down to the harbor looking for a ghost who isn't here," said Waring. (AP Wirephoto)

Texas Town Is Jittery After Rattlers Escape

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Residents of this lower Rio Grande Valley town were jittery today at the thought of 10 to 20 hungry rattlesnakes wandering near schools in town.

An estimated 25 to 35 of the reptiles were released from a box Wednesday — apparently as a joke — and only 15 were killed in a massive snake hunt which lasted until 1 a.m. and was resumed at dawn.

Roger Miller, an Edinburg mechanic, was collecting the snakes to sell to a Laredo firm which pays 75 cents a pound.

Miller kept the snakes in a wood box placed in an old car body. He discovered when he returned from work Wednesday someone had pried the top off the box. The snakes had escaped out a window of the car he left cracked for ventilation.

"One was crawling out the window, and another was wrapped around the headlight when I came out," he said. "I killed them, but the rest of them were gone."

Police, volunteer firemen and area residents joined the hunt. By 10 p.m., more than 150 persons were searching, with flashlights, guns, sticks and two-way radios.

Police Chief Leroy Easton expressed concern for students. Miller's home is across the street from Pan American College, and is near two public schools.

Denies Part in Raid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department denied today any United States involvement in the anti-Castro raid Wednesday on a sugar mill in Cuba.

A department spokesman also denied that any CIA money was used to finance the raid.

Some officials, obviously seeking to dissociate the Washington government from the new anti-Castro refugee activity, said authorities here generally disapproved use of U.S. teritory for announcement and discussion of the action by its

Capital News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

TURNABOUT: The Johnson administration has the International Development Association bill it wants today, thanks to a sharp turn-around in the House.

The House passed the measure Wednesday, authorizing a $312-million U.S. participation in the 17-nation pool of capital to lend to underdeveloped countries.

Passage was by voice vote, but a motion to kill the bill by sending it back to committee was knocked down by a 115-vote margin. The last time the House voted on IDA, Feb. 26, a similar motion carried by 20 votes.

But President Johnson and key Cabinet members worked hard in the interim to reverse the decision and Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was President when the United States helped set up IDA, helped with a letter to Republicans.

DRAFT: The Defense Department has ordered that 8,000 men be drafted in July for the Army.

The quota is 2,000 more than June's but 4,000 less than the April and May draft calls.

The Marine Corps, the Navy and the Air Force will not dip into the Selective Service pool for their manpower needs in July, the Pentagon said.

SHOT DELAYED: The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has ordered another delay in the trouble-plagued Ranger moon program.

It set back until the July-September period the launching of the seventh Ranger craft, Ranger B, whose mission will be to take television pictures of the moon's surface and relay them back to earth.

NASA said the postponement, from a hoped-for June date, was based on "the desire to assure the most careful possible check and review of the many tests being made on the Ranger B space craft."

The delay was recommended by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory Pasadena, Calif., which manages the Ranger program.

ICC Is Petitioned To Abandon Rail Line in Delaware

News from Washington reveals a petition by the New York Central Railroad to the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon 20 miles of railroad between Bloomville and Oneonta.

This 20 miles is a portion of the former Ulster & Delaware Railroad, now officially known as the Catskill Mountain Branch of the New York Central System, located in Delaware County.

Present rail traffic on the line, running from Kingston to Oneonta, is a freight train up one day and down the next, with no Sunday service. The railroad claims an operating loss on this portion from Bloomville to Oneonta.

The former Ulster & Delaware Railroad operated a total of 103 miles from Kingston Point to Oneonta where it connected with the Delaware & Hudson Railroad. In days past, many coal trains from the coal fields in Pennsylvania were hauled over the Delaware & Hudson Railroad to Oneonta where they were transferred to the Ulster & Delaware tracks and brought down to tidewater at Kingston —there to have the coal loaded on barges and taken up and down the Hudson River. This business was very extensive in bygone days, along with carloads of milk destined for New York City which came over the Ulster & Delaware into Kingston and down the West Shore line to New York.

In recent years this coal and milk business has ceased to exist as rail traffic, and most of the freight business has been on-line traffic going to or from small communities along the 103 miles of rail line up through the Catskills. Passenger traffic ceased some years ago.

Decision on the abandonment of the 20 miles from Bloomville into Oneonta has not been made by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Pa. Solons Eye Funds

HARRISBURG (AP)— Money to run most Pennsylvania state government programs in the fiscal year beginning July 1 was the chief object of attention in the Legislature today.

The $1.067 billion general appropriation bill and $58 million worth of state grants to private colleges, universities and hospitals were ready for final action in the House. The Senate was in position to give final consideration to $20 million in government housekeeping appropriations.

To Meet on Compact

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Interstate Advisory Committee on the Susquehanna River Basin will meet Monday in Cooperstown, N.Y., to start work on an interstate-federal compact.

Major item on the agenda is the creation of a special task force of specialists from New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland to start preparing the compact.

"This compact is important," said Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania secretary of forests and waters and chairman of the advisory committee.

Covers Resignation

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — Patrolman Alexander Adams Jr. "covered" his own resignation from the police force. He submitted the resignation to the City Commission then wrote the story for his new employer, the Evensville, Ind., Courier.

Official's Son, Coed Arrested in College Drug Case

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The son of a college official and a 20-year-old coed are free in bail after their arrest in what police say is a continuing probe of narcotics traffic in this college community.

Charged Wednesday with giving or selling marijuana were Gordon Light, 23, of Ithaca, son of Ben Light, Ithaca College secretary, and Mona A. Silverman, 20, of The Bronx.

The younger Light and Miss Freeman are students at Ithaca College.

Miss Silverman appeared before City Judge Edward J. Casey who ordered the case presented to a grand jury.

Light appeared before Justice of the Peace Richard LaFave and asked, through his attorney, for a dismissal. LaFave reserved decision on the motion.

Light and Miss Silverman posted bail.

Police said they were arrested on the Ithaca campus after they allegedly sold or gave marijuana to Detective Edward Manet of the New York City Police Department's Narcotics Bureau. Manet is on special assignment to the Ithaca police.

A large quantity of marijuana was seized, police said. They declined to say where or how much.

Dear Abby . . .

One Mother's Heartache!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please print this. Maybe it will spare some other mother the heartbreak I suffered. I am the mother of a retarded son. When he was very young, my family and my doctor tried to get me to put the boy in an institution, but I loved him so dearly I could not bear the thought of putting him away. I thought I could give him the care he needed, so I kept him at home. I didn't know how wrong it was. As the years passed, he developed normally physically, and he began to take notice of the girls. One day he grabbed a little 11-year-old neighbor girl and tried to rape her. The outcome was so terrible for our family. My boy is now in an institution, branded as a "rapist." If I had only listened to my family, this would not have happened. Please advise mothers of retarded children to learn all they can about their problem.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Thank you for your letter. If it helps just one mother, it will be well worth the space it is given in this newspaper. For information regarding the problems of retarded children, write to: National Association for Retarded Children: Dep't. TW, 386 Park Avenue South, N. Y. 16, N. Y.

DEAR ABBY: How many times should you invite a couple to dinner when they have never had you back? I invited a certain couple to my home for small dinner parties on three separate occasions in this past year, and they never invited us back. I am planning another party and my husband suggested I invite this couple. I told him I would not invite them again until they returned the invitation. My husband says I shouldn't be so "touchy." Abby, these people have entertained many times that I know about, and my intuition tells me they could have invited us if they had wanted to. What do you say?

"TOUCHY"

DEAR "TOUCHY": I'll go along with your woman's intuition. Don't invite them again until they have invited you.

DEAR ABBY: Unfortunately I go to the same beauty shop as the woman who owns and manages the apartment building I live in. My problem is that this woman tells the beauty operator all my business while she gets her wash and set. It's a neighborhood shop, and many of my friends go there, too, and they all listen in while this landlady blabs all my personal business and especially about the family arguments she hears. The beauty operator not only eats it up, but pumps her for more. What can be done about this?

ANTI-BUSYBODIES

DEAR ANTI: You can't shut up your landlady, but you can move. You can also find a beauty shop where the operator doesn't feast on the domestic scraps of others.

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO F. G. B.: Your letter was a dandy, but too long to print. I agree with you. To sum it up: "What we don't spend on education today we will spend on penal institutions tomorrow!"

Chyrel Remains Silent on Charge, So Judge Pleads

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Chyrel Jolls, accused of killing a 3-year-old boy, refused to enter a plea to a charge of first-degree murder, so a judge pleaded innocent on her behalf.

Judge Frederick M. Marshall of Erie County Court also pleaded innocent Wednesday for her to a charge of kidnaping another boy.

Chyrel, 18, remained silent before Marshall on the advice of her lawyer, who contends the court lacks jurisdiction in the case.

She is accused of kidnaping and drowning Andrew Ashley and kidnaping five - year old Richard Edgington. The Ashley boy's bound body was pulled from a park lake on June 25, 1961. Richard was found bound and gagged, but otherwise unharmed, later that month.

Chyrel was judged by psychiatrists in March as being capable of standing trial after spending more than two years in a mental hospital.

Deaths

LONDON (AP) — Diana Wynyard, 58, one of Britain's greatest actresses and a top movie star in Hollywood in the 1930s, died Wednesday of a kidney ailment.

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Josephine Sugden Murphy, 77, widow of Frederick Duncan Murphy, who was founder and president of the Art Gravure Corp., died Tuesday of a heart attack. Mrs. Murphy was the mother of Mrs. Herman Henry Ridder of Long Beach, Calif., president of Ridder Publications.

Javits Suggests Impact Hearings On Base Closings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., has asked the joint economic committee to evaluate the economic impact on communities when military bases are closed.

He made public today a letter to Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of both the full committee and the defense procurement subcommittee, urging such a study.

Javits urged hearings by the subcommittee in the near future "to get first hand information from the affected communities' point of view" by interviewing community leaders.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

OES Observes Mothers Day

ELLENVILLE — At a recent meeting of the Ellenville Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star held at the Undercroft of the Episcopal Church, Ellenville, Mothers Day was commemorated with appropriate ceremonies.

The program was opened by the reading of a poem in honor of mothers by Worthy Matron Clara Eck.

The worthy matron called to the attention of the members that one of the present officers who had become a member of the Star in 1920 was also the oldest mother of a Star member present that night. She chose her to represent all mothers of the Star for the evening's program. She directed Conductress Gertrude Phillips and Associate Conductress Dorothy Billquist to conduct the Chapter Chaplain, Mabel C. Schoonmaker to the East for a seat of honor.

A degree was then presented by the rest of the officers entitled, Lighting the Way for Mothers.

Associate Matron, Christine Gobel presented Sister Schoonmaker with a basket of pink and white carnations. Each member was also presented with a begonia plant. Miss Debbie Geary, daughter of Sister Gladys Geary sang a solo dedicated to mothers.

The junior choir of the Episcopal Church, under the direction of Mrs. Donald Bradford presented several choral selections.

After the business meeting had been resumed, it was announced that anyone desiring to give a gift for the annual pilgrimage day to Oriskany, July 25, should leave it with Conductress Gertrude Phillips on or before June 1 so that she could prepare the gifts for presentation.

The Eastern Star members will be guests of honor at the annual ladies night of the Master Masons Thursday at the undercroft of the Episcopal Church.

Following the meeting refreshments were served and a social hour was held. Decorations for the Mothers Day celebration were arranged under the supervision of Miss Frances Eck.

The next meeting of the Eastern Star will be held Monday evening, May 18, at which time the annual ceremony of the Draping of the Altar will be observed.

Tough Jackrabbits Near Texas Air Base

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —Southwesterners boast about the size and strength of jackrabbits like other people talk about big fish. At least one bunny turned battler.

A jackrabbit attacked a sentry dog guarding Sheppard Air Force Base here a few days ago. The marksmanship of the guard accompanying the dog broke up the fight.

Air base officials said they feared the bunny was rabid and had tests run. The reply today was "not rabid."

"Just a tough jackrabbit," commented an air base official.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Wednesday, May 20, from 9 to 10 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diptheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

Corny Bonanza

In 1963 more than 25 million corncobs turned up as the result of the harvest. Taking advantage of a large number of these is a manufacturer in Decatur, Ill. He is now marketing a face powder made primarily of microporous cellulose derived from the ground inner core of the cob. According to the company's tests, women say they like it because it is smooth and less irritating to hypersensitive skins.

Local Lions Hear About Hospital Expansion Here

Robert M. Schnitzer, administrator of Kingston Hospital, spoke of the tremendous growth of Kingston Hospital, its accomplishments and its future goals at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of Kingston Lions Club at Governor Clinton Hotel.

He said the three-phase construction program in recent years totals $4 million, half of which was contributed by the public. The remainder came from federal grants, Ford Foundation and bequests.

Program Chairman Dr. Jeremiah Sachs introduced the speaker. A large number of members attended.

A period of fellowship and group singing was part of the program. President Joseph D. Scholar Jr., presided. A Chinese buffet luncheon was served.

'Torch' Orders Pour In

Kennedy Books Top Best-Seller Lists

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The biggest and best sellers in the publishing industry are books about the life, times and assassination of John F. Kennedy.

They range from a thesis he wrote as an undergraduate at Harvard to the book that won him a Pulitzer Prize. One runs only several hundred words and sells by the tens of thousands. Some sell by the millinos.

How many of the Kennedy books have been sold is hard to determine. The publishers aren't releasing sales figures. It's against their policy, they say.

Largest Not on List

But the largest seller is one that hasn't made the best seller lists, The Associated Press book on the assassination, "The Torch Is Passed." By early May it had sold 3,612,000 copies and orders were still coming in for about 35,000 volumes a week. Almost all have been sold through member newspapers of the news cooperative rather than book stores, which is why the volume is not at the top on best seller lists. Slightly more than 300,000 copies have also been sold overseas in Spanish, Korean, Japanese, Italian, Dutch, Danish and Swedish editions.

Western Publishing Co., which printed "The Torch Is Passed," says the press run is the largest they know of in terms of units produced and sold in so short a period.

Another multimillion seller is "Four Days," a joint effort of United Press International and American Heritage. "Four Days" has also been distributed in book stores through Simon and Schuster. Sales total just over two million through UPI papers and broadcasting stations and an additional 350,000 to date via book stores. The latter figure has put "Four Days" atop the nonfiction best seller list for a number of weeks. A press run of 40,000 in a Dutch version has been ordered.

Life magazine printed three million copies of a memorial Kennedy edition combining their issues of the assassination and funeral of the late president. A total of 2.85 million copies has sold.

Look Mum on Sales

Look magainze also put out a memorial Kennedy edition but declined to disclose sales.

Two Kennedy books were high among sales totals for 1963. One was "Profiles in Courage," Kennedy's own Pulitzer Prize winner. Long a top selller after publication in the 1950s it had gone through 30 printings. It sold "fantastically well" after the assassination in November, according to Harper & Row, the publishers.

Harper is not releasing figures but Publisher's Weekly notes "Profiles" was third behind "Security Is a Thumb and a Blanket" for 1963 which sold 356,000 copies. Harold Lasky's "JFK-the Man and the Myth," a critical book on the late president, was No. 4 for the year in nonfiction even though it was withheld for a time after the assassination.

Random House is one of the publishing firms that has released sales figures. Within a month of publication it has sold 105,565 copies of Jim Bishop's "A Day in the Life of President Kennedy."

"Why England Slept," written by Kennedy in 1940 as an enlarged version of a thesis he did at Harvard, has sold 43,943 copies since its original publication by Wilfred Funk and 8,022 of those were sold during the first four months of 1964. Sales of a paperback version put out by Doubleday totalled 18,000 in November and early December.

Farrar Straus & Co. has printed 130,000 copies of "The John F. Kennedys-a Family Portrait" by photographer Mark Shaw.

Second Printing in Works

Benjamin Bradlee wrote a memorial of Kennedy in Newsweek of several hundred words which Lippincott has illustrated with photographs. The short booklet, titled "That Special Grace," has sold over 100,000 copies since April 27. A second printing is in the works.

One author of a Kennedy book, William Manchester, has been named by the president's widow to write an account of the days surrounding the assassination. Jacqueline Kennedy selected him on the basis of his "Portrait of a President," a book about her husband published by Little, Brown & Co. in 1962. They are not disclosing sales other than to say "there was a spurt" after the assassination.

50 Club Honors Juanita Worf For Hospitality

The 50 Club Tuesday night authorized a resolution honoring Mrs. Juanita Worf for her continued hospitality toward the downtown organization which has met in the John Worf restaurant, 97 Abeel Street since 1947.

The resolution of thanks said the late John Worf was one of the seven organizers of the 50 Club and was offered by the five remaining members, who started the club in March 1947.

They include Thomas Coughlin, Peter Murphy, Jack Sass, Richard Smith and Tibor Tomshaw.

President Murphy presented Mrs. Worf with a bouquet of roses and the membership responded with a three minute standing ovation.

Thomas Coughlin, perennial chairman of the Children's July 4th Field Day said plans are progressing for the 15th annual affair. He cautioned however that much work remains to be accomplished in the form of ads and donations to insure a successful program. The "50" Club sponsored basketball team was also honored and invited to the roast beef dinner after the conclusion of the business meeting. A committee was appointed to investigate and report at the June meeting the suggestion of sponsoring a bus trip to Palisade Park for the children.

Attendance at this meeting was the highest in the 17 year history of the club.

Jaycees Announce Teen-Age Talent Contest Audition

School's Special Service Is Topic for Social Group

Special Service programs in the Kingston Consolidated School Systems was the topic of Dr. Wendell W .Hoover, superintendent of schools, when he addressed the business-luncheon meeting of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies Tuesday at the YWCA.

An important phase the trainable classes for the Mental Handicapped children, he said. There are three of these classes held at the Emma Wygant School, Flatbush, with 39 children attending. These classes specialize in making useful citizens, self-care and social adjustments and physical co-ordination, the curriculum must be educational and simple, the speaker added.

There also is a program for the physical handicapped children in the community, there are 21 physical handicapped children enrolled in this class, 3 of them in wheelchair and for children who can not come to school there are home-study courses available and also a classroom to home telephone instructions where the child participates with the children in the classroom at school. One of these home study students will graduate with high honors from Kingston High School class of 1964, Dr. Hoover said.

There are special classes for children with an I.Q. of 50 to 75. In this group there are enrolled at present 132 with not more than 15 to each class.

There also is a special curriculum for the children who are slow in the learning. These children need a special program and teachers who have the patience so they will not become drop-outs and from drop-outs to juvenile delinquents.

There is another program for the special gifted children, preparing them for college. Dr. Hoover's talk followed with a question and answer period.

Dr. Hoover was introduced to the group by Mrs. Charlotte Peck. Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Jr., Council president, presided for the business and she announced that the June meeting will be the annual meeting at which time the nominating committee will bring in the new slate of officers. Serving on this committee are Chairman Miss Rosemary Feeney, Miss Kathrine Murphy and Albert Kurdt.

Guest speaker for the June meeting will be Dr. Dale B. Lake from the Ulster County Community College.

YMCA Announces Swim Classes for Women and Girls

The YMCA will offer two evenings a week for women's swimming, starting Wednesday, June 17, and continuing until Sept. 2, Louis H. Schafer, executive secretary said today.

Women who cannot swim will have two instruction classes every Wednesday at 7 and 8 p. m. Women who know how to swim will use the pool Friday night. Besides recreation swimming on Friday, advanced strokes will be demonstrated and taught along with spring board diving. Friday classes also will be at 7 and 8 p. m. Instructions will only be given according to the desire of the swimmer. Women interested in the Wednesday night beginners class or the Friday night recreation swim should sign as soon as possible. The pool is small and the first come will be the first served. Those interested may call the YMCA or stop in at the main office on Broadway.

The grammar school vacation swim will be held every Wednesday and Friday, both morning and afternoon, starting Wednesday morning June 24. This first morning will be a registration and class placement session. All girls who do not know how to swim should be at the YMCA at 9 a. m. for the registration session.

Girls who know how to swim will have recreation swimming Wednesday and Friday from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m. Advanced swimming strokes and water safety will be taught from 2:30 to 3:15 p. m.

Special honor awards and merit cards will be given all girls who learn to swim. The beginners are called pollywags and they will work on water adjustment, floating face down before they advance to the minnow class, which has 10 swimming skills, ending with a 40-foot swim the length of the YMCA pool in water from three to 7½ feet deep. There are three other swimming skill groups, namely: the Fish, Flying Fish and the Shark. Each of them have nine stroke skills and water safety ideas besides ending with a long distance swim. The Fish group must swim 100 yards, the Flying Fish group must swim 220 yards and the Sharks must swim 440 yards, (¼ mile).

Ninety-two girls were taught to swim in the YMCA pool last summer and it is the desire of secretary Shafer and Bud Sims that well over 100 will be taught this year. There were close to 275 different girls who took advantage of this swimming service offered by the local YMCA. The YMCA could handle more girls, as well as boys if they had the proper facilities and a larger swimming pool.

Parents interested in the YMCA swimming program for girls or for boys may contact the YMCA by phone or call at the Y office.

Judge Disallows Trusteeship for Lakes Race Track

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A government request that a court trusteeship be allowed to oversee the operation of the bankrupt Finger Lakes Race Track has been turned down by a federal judge.

In ruling Wednesday against the Securities & Exchange Commission, Judge Harold P. Burke said the track could operate under the present management.

Finger Lakes, the only thoroughbred horse-racing track in Western New York, lost $2,855,000 in its first two seasons.

Last Dec. 19, the track and its creditors petitioned, in a bankruptcy suit, for permission to continue in business under present management while trying to pay its debts.

The track, at Canandaigua, is scheduled to operate this year from May 27 through Oct. 19.

Artist Jailed By Reds After Escape to West

BERLIN (AP)—An East German trapeze artist who crawled a high tension line to West Berlin 17 months ago was lured back by his wife and is now in a Red prison, a close relative said today.

The wife has divorced him and married another man.

The relative said the circus performer, Horst Klein, went back to East Berlin last July, after receiving letters from his wife, Sylvia, who said she could not go on living without him.

"As soon as Horst got back, he was arrested and last December he was sentenced to 30 months at hard labor," the relative, who asked not to be named, said in an interview.

"The worst thing is, Horst's wife obtained a divorce in February and last month she remarried."

Klein, who was 38 Wednesday, escaped to West Berlin in December 1962, after he was forbidden to work in a circus because he was too outspokenly anti-Communist.

Kline climbed a pylon supporting power cables spanning the barbed wire barricades and the Teltow Canal.

He did not know that the 110,000 volt line no longer was in use. Fearful of being electrocuted, he used his acrobatic agility to leap from the pylon to insulators and then from the insulators to the cable.

Named Treasurer

WILLIAM V. MILLER

At a recent meeting of the directors of Joe E. O'Connor Inc., 30 Grand Street, Kingston, William V. Miller was elected treasurer of that corporation.

Miller resides with his wife, Thelma, and daughter, Deborah, at Halcyon Park, Lake Katrine. He has been employed by Joe E. O'Connor Inc., for the past 10 years and for the past five years has been manager of that company.

Face Task of Getting Support on Amendments To Crack CR Stalemate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders face the task today of winning support for a batch of compromise amendments aimed at cracking the long civil rights stalemate.

Key Republican and Democratic senators agreed on the compromise package Wednesday after their sixth meeting with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The next step willl be an effort by the leaders to sell the proposed changes to their rank-and-file members at party caucuses—on Tuesday for the Republicans, and probably for the Democrats, too.

The big question is whether the amendments, which restrict the scope of the House bill, will make it possible to win over enough senators to invoke cloture and thus shut off the Southern oratory blocking action on the measure.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen appears to have the tougher task since he conceded he must produce 25 of the 33 Republican senators if cloture is to be achieved.

The Democratic leaders must produce either 41 or 42 of their 67 members. There are 18 Southern Democrats and one Republican—Texan John C. Tower—in the group oppposed to the bill.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, the bill's floor manager, pointed out that cloture could be achieved with 41 from his side if only 99 senators vote, as seems likely. Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., is ill and is not expected to be on hand.

To impose cloture requires the votes of two-thirds of the senators present.

Humphrey said that, even if the package wins wide acceptance at the conference next week, an attempt will not be made to invoke cloture immediately.

"We will first have to take the floor and explain the amendments carefully," he said.

Humphrey said he now believes that the amendments would be offered in the form of a substitute for the entire House-passed bill. This would have the advantage of acting on them with one vote.

The Southerners have demonstrated their ability to prevent any votes they do not agree to. And today—the 55th day of debate—they had orators ready to continue on a team led by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala.

Dirksen declined to go into details of the final agreements on the package.

U. N. Will Hear Cambodia Case On Violations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council is expected to meet Monday to take up charges by Cambodia that its territory has been violated by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Cambodia's request for a council meeting gave details of two alleged crossings of the border. Foreign Minister Hout Sambath also charged that the United States and South Viet Nam had repeatedly violated Cambodian territory, murdered civilians, and threatened peace and stability in Southeast Asia.

The Cambodians asked that a U.N. inquiry group be sent to Cambodia.

South Vietnamese and U.S. officials say the Viet Cong guerrillas regularly find sanctuary in Cambodia. South Viet Nam admitted that one armored personnel carrier crossed the border May 8 but said it was a mistake. The Vietnamese government apologized.

Rudd Clears Name

NEW YORK (AP) — Wealthy manufacturer Louis Rudd has won a court decree clearing his name after 37 years.

Rudd, 62, broke into tears Wednesday as U.S. Dist. Judge Jacob Mishler set aside a 1927 mail fraud conviction for which Rudd served a year in jail. He also dismissed the indictment.

Sen. Bush, Wife Honored Locally On Anniversary

Sen. and Mrs. E. Ogden Bush of DeLancey were honored on the occasion of their wedding anniversary last week at the annual spring dance of Town of Ulster Republican Club at Ang-Els Restaurant, East Chester Street by-pass.

Mrs. Bush is the former Ella Vitt and they are the parents of four children. Sen. Bush, who represents the 34th Senatorial District (Ulster, Greene, Sullivan and Delaware) was named Legislator of the Year this week by the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley.

More than 300 attended the dance and the guests of honor were introduced by Ulster Supervisor Alexander Banyo. Mrs. Bush received an orchid corsage and the senator a boutonniere.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Jack Smith, chairman; Ralph Hayner, Joseph Lohmaier, Tim Troyan, Nick Marino, co-chairman, and Ted Musialkewiecz, publicity.

Hoyle Gets Six Months

NEW YORK (AP)—James O. Hoyle, legislative aide to the State Senate, today was sentenced to six months in the city penitentiary.

Hoyle, who had been accused of taking a $2,000 bribe to influence legislation, had pleaded guilty to a charge of criminal contempt in connection with a grand jury investigation.

U.S. Places Embargo on Cuba Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department announced today it is placing an embargo on the sale of food and medicine to Cuba.

The order means that every item sent to Cuba from the United States will have to receive government approval. The only exception will be gift parcels.

It was disclosed Wednesday that Cubans have approached U.S. companies about the possible purchase of millions of dollars worth of drugs.

The department said the order requiring specific export licenses for shipments of food and medicines "does not mean that such shipments are precluded, but that the department wishes to be informed of all intended trade with Cuba and thereby be in a position to act according to the national interest of the United States. Each decision will be made in the light of all relevant circumstances."

3rd Showdown Ends Tensely In Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — The third showdown in three days between racial demonstrators and National Guard troops in Cambridge ended tensely but without violence or arrests.

More than 100 integrationists marched through the streets singing freedom songs Wednesday night. They dispersed 20 minutes later after twice meeting with guardsmen poised with bayoneted rifles.

Several hours later, however, tension grew as about 150 Negroes and 300 white residents gathered on opposite sides of a phalanx of troops at an intersection.

A dozen or so bottles were thrown, breaking in the street. No one was injured. Eventually, both crowds drifted away—the Negroes urged to disperse by their leaders, the whites by the guardsmen.

Heightening the tension was the death Tuesday night of a 2-month-old Negro child, Rudolph A. Perry Jr. The infant lived in a house within 100 yards of the spot where troops put down a demonstration Monday night with tear gas.

One Negro leader blamed the gas for the death.

BERRY'S WORLD

". . . But Honey, there must be lots of 'women doers' who have not been invited to Lady Bird's luncheons!"

Nile Diverted As NIK, Nasser Press Button

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — Triumphantly pushing a button, Premier Khrushchev and President Nasser altered the course of the Nile today and sent it surging into a diversion channel around the site of the Soviet-financed Aswan High Dam.

Joining the leaders in the ceremony marking completion of the first stage of the $1.3-billion irrigation and hydroelectric project were Presidents Abdel Salam Aref of Iraq and Abdullah Sallal of Yemen.

Khrushchev jubilantly joined hands with the Arab leaders as they gazed down on the rushing waters from a richly carpeted pavilion.

The button set off a 352-pound dynamite charge that blew out a plug of rock and earth and allowed the Nile to flow into the channel cut through granite. Fireworks shot into the sky. Some of them formed the flags of the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic.

The ceremony, before more than 35,000 spectators, marked a milestone in the project begun four years ago and for which the Soviet Union has loaned more than $270 million in credits and supplied several thousand engineers and technicians. It is Moscow's greatest aid venture in Africa.

Diversion of the Nile will permit work to go forward on the dam itself, a rock fill structure 2.6 miles long and 436 feet. To be completed in another five years, it will harness the Nile for power development, flood control and increased irrigation.

Laidlaws Present Travelogue at Kingston Rotary

A travelogue of a Mediterranean cruise and an extended visit to Greece, Israel and Rome by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw was enjoyed by members of Kingston Rotary Club and their Rotary Anns Wednesday following the regular luncheon-meeting.

Laidlaw, a former superintendent of Kingston Schools, who has a profound interest in history, was the photographer and Mrs. Laidlaw, who has a predilection for languages, was the narrator. The result was a professional presentation of colored slides portraying the ageless, historical wonders of the Old World together with the modern achievements as exemplified in the State of Israel.

Special guests at the luncheon were former school administrative associates of the educator. The Laidlaws reside in Orlando, Florida.

Man Loses Life As Boat Tips in Choppy Waters

ROUSES POINT, N.Y. (AP)—One man perished and two others were rescued early today after clinging to their overturned boat for about an hour in choppy waters of Lake Champlain.

Amid heavy rain and high winds, State Police dragged the lake for the body of Donald Murray, about 40, of Rouses Point.

Troopers rescued his companions, Frederick P. Martin, 21, and John J. Pelkey, 24, also of Rouses Point.

The three had been camping near Cooperville, south of here, near the mouth of the Great Chazy River. Police said the men went out late Wednesday night in a 14-foot, plywood boat with an outboard motor.

The survivors told police that they decided to return to shore when they discovered how rough the lake was but that the boat was swamped as they turned it around.

They said that they hung onto the boat but that Murray made several attempts to swim to shore and they hauled him back. Murray finally went down. The survivors said they did not know whether he had suffered a heart attack or simply lost his grip.

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton is making a strong bid to project himself as the Upstate Democrats' choice to run for U.S. senator this year.

The 47-year-old congressman from Amsterdam maintains publicly that he is not a candidate, but privately he is in hot pursuit of the nomination to oppose the incumbent Republican, Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester.

Group Hard at Work

Stratton's organization has been hard at work—with an occasional direct assist from Stratton himself — lining up pledges of support from Upstate Democratic leaders.

During the last three weeks, the Stratton camp has announced commitments from 22 county organizations. Stratton personally lined up at least two of them.

These commitments include some populous counties, such as Onondaga (Syracuse), Oneida (Utica) and Schenectady.

According to Stratton's unofficial campaign manager George V. Palmer of Schenectady, the 22 pledges will be good for 127 votes at the Democratic nominating convention to be held Aug. 31 or Sept. 1.

This is far short of the 573 votes needed to nominate a candidate. But it is 127 more votes than any other Senate hopeful is claiming at this stage.

Trying to Avoid Rebuff

Stratton has withheld an announcement of his candidacy because he does not want to risk the kind of open rebuff he suffered at the hands of party leaders when he sought the nomination for governor in 1962.

He has said only that he might be willing to run if the party can agree on his candidacy well before the convention and give him time to mount a strong campaign against Keating.

Whether Stratton will get the nod is much in doubt.

So far two other men have declared themselves available —Anthony B. Akers, former ambassador to New Zealand, and Louis B. Nizer, the lawyer who wrote the best-selling book "My Life in Court."

Other Possibilities

Among others who have been considered possible nominees are New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner, U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and former Gov. W. Averell Harriman, now an undersecretary of state.

Wagner and Stevenson have declared themselves unwilling to run. Harriman is believed available on a "draft" basis.

There have been recent reports also that U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy might move into the state in order to run against Keating. Apparently there is nothing in the law that would bar such a maneuver.

Aside from the possible competition, Stratton faces the handicap of having displeased the New York City power bloc that dominates the Democratic Party of New York State.

See Poor N.Y. Run

Wagner is said to be still smarting from "bossism" charges leveled by Stratton two years ago when Wagner virtually handpicked Robert Morgenthau to run for governor. Other party "regulars" have been irked by Stratton's flirtation with reform Democrats in the city.

Those who would deny Stratton the nomination contend that he would run poorly in New York City—the principal source of Democratic votes—because he is almost unknown there.

The Stratton camp's answer is to point to his reputation as a buzz-saw campaigner and to his winning record in heavily Republican territory Upstate.

They say he would make himself known in New York City in short order and pull a big vote Upstate, to boot.

Come Early and Sin

MOUNT VERNON, Wash. (AP)—A prospective jury received a summons to appear for memo:

"Come a little early and sin duty in Skagit County Superior Court, and with it was this (sic) up at the clerk's office."

All the embarrassed deputy clerk who made the typographical error could say was: "Oh, gee."

Brazil Severs Ties With Cuba

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's new government has severed diplomatic relations with Cuba, accusing the Castro regime of trying to spread communism in Latin America's biggest nation.

The break had been expected since rightist military and political leaders ousted left-wing President Joao Goulart April 1. Goulart's government had warmed up to Cuba and other Communist countries.

The action Wednesday left only four Latin-American nations—Bolivia, Chile, Mexico and Uruguay—with diplomatic ties with Cuba.

The arquebus, or harquebus, was the first hand gun.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —"How come you ran the red light?" motorist Charles Tinker asked motorcycle Patrolman Clyde Ingle after their vehicles had collided. "I had the green."

Tinker, 26, of Americus, Ga., was charged with drunken driving.

There was no traffic light at the intersection.

"Cash"

The word "cash" originated in France, where the old French word "casse" meant "a little box where money was kept." Gradually the money took on the name of the box and "cash" came to us as an important word today.

Board to Weigh Need for Extra Police Patrol

The question of extra police protection and a midnight to dawn patrol for Woodstock was taken under advisement by the Town Board, following Tuesday night's special meeting at town hall.

The board took no definite action after listening to arguments pro and con from a group of about 50 persons. The meeting was the outgrowth of one held several days ago in which a group headed by Joseph Holdridge met with Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux and requested that a midnight to dawn patrol be instituted for the saturated part of the township from the Bearville post office to the Town House.

In opening the meeting, Holdridge reminded Supervisor Mollyneaux that the supervisor had indicated that something would have to be done and that he would take up the matter with the town board.

While the pros and cons of the patrol were debated, Supervisor Molyneaux said there is now a night patrol and the local constabulary is working in close harmony with state police and the sheriff's office.

Cites Statistics

The supervisor also claimed that the incidence of crime in the township is not excessive and is lower than in other areas of the county. He said published reports of a crime wave in Woodstock were not supported by the statistics.

A check of the local police blotter for a two-year period, Molyneaux said, revealed the following statistics: robberies and attempts, 52; obscene phone calls, 5; suicide attempts, 2; vandalism, 15; missing persons, 7; stolen cars, 11; public intoxication, 13; narcotics, 1; sexual deviates, 6. Fourteen of the robbery cases are still "open," he said.

Board members generally expressed doubt that even a midnight to dawn patrol would curb crime to any appreciable degree.

Two board members—Councilmen Gottlob Wagner and William West—taking note that institution of the patrol would cost between $8,000 and $10,000 took firm stands against it. Gottlob said he felt the plan would not work and it would be impossible to cover the whole township. Councilman West said he would be in favor of spending the extra money if he felt the patrol would do the work, but he seriously doubted it would provide that much extra protection.

Holdridge, Hand Firm

Holdridge and William Hand, the two most outspoken advocates of the midnight to dawn patrol, vigorously defended their position. They insisted that the patrol was an absolute necessity and would be worth whatever the cost of operation. Both also insisted the patrol would be a very strong deterrent against crime in the community.

Warren Hutty, local real estate broker, injected an interesting statistics, claiming that over the past four years every third house on the Glasco Turnpike had been "hit" by vandals and burglars. He said that insurance policies have been cancelled on many homes, since the home owners policy are not available to summer residences.

The bulk of the crime in Woodstock are committed by outsiders, largely adults, Molyneaux said. The statement was corroborated by Justice of the Peace Rudi Baumgarten. The statement was designed to refute the popular belief that teenagers are the worst offenders.

In conclusion, Supervisor Molyneaux said the police department was doing a good job and had been augmented when state police reduced coverage of the area. He said the patrol works to midnight and often much later, often on a volunteer basis.

Attorney Franklin P. Gavin also had high praise for the police department, which he said was doing a good job. He also singled out Justices of the Peace Baumgarten and Farley for the exemplary conduct of their offices.

Library Fair Has New Date and Several Changes

The 37th annual Woodstock Library Fair is bursting with all the promise and excitement of a huge surprise party. It will be more colorful, more brilliant and the mood of gaiety the highest in many years.

The most immediate change in the Library Fair policy is, of course, the change in date. Traditionally it has been held on the last Thursday in July. This year it will be held on the last Saturday in July and will open one hour earlier—10 a. m.—and continue until 5 p. m.

There will be a new department called "Attic Antiques" that that will feature all the items in a family house from boots to earrings and tools to tea pots. Here the items will be marked from $3 down and contributors are asked to pay the suggested price on clean and usable clothing donated for the sale.

Then there will be a treasure department where the word "junk" is strictly taboo and one will find items such as furs, jewelry, clothing, antiques and many other delights including a second hand television set in excellent condition. This new department is entitled "Gifts" and here items will be marked specifically for prices. These treasures that will offer the buyer exceptional finds are made possible by those who wish to contribute to their library by donating items of value. These sought after contributions will be registered and here, too, the contributor will have a suggested price.

Old Items Retained

However, fair goers are not to get the impression that there will be no items in the dime and quarter bracket, for always the library fair is a place where one dollar will buy items happily brought home.

The fair is made possible by Woodstockers who annually contribute saleable items to the library for its annual fund and fun day. This has been going on for 37 years and all kinds of articles are still needed. There is also a need for volunteers who could spare some time to help in preparation and work of the fair. Volunteers should contact Verner L. May, fair chairman.

Persons who have articles they wish to donate to the fair are asked to either contact Special Office Services for pickup or may leave their contributions at the fair building starting June 1, from 10 a. m. to noon and from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

The overall committee of the fair consists of approximately 20 separate commmittees who are in constant contact with the 1964 chairman, May and co-chairman, Michael Boyle. Other committee chairmen will be announced this week.

Parades Among Meeting Topics For Firemen

Parades, parade uniforms, house numbering, and plans for a fund drive were discussed at the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 serving the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady area.

The subject of participation in the Memorial Day parade in Woodstock, with four units sponsored by the fire company, was explored, with Firemen A. Smith and C. McCleary in charge of the final arrangements. One or two members signified their intentions of participation in the county and valley parades during the summer.

A discussion was heard on the matter of parade uniforms, with the company deciding to set aside the sum of $75 each year for parade uniforms or service equipment, depending upon the demand for either type of clothing.

The house numbering program, which was instituted a year ago, was found to be in need of revisions, due to new residences being built in the territory and some changes in the current dwellings. Captain Alfred Ostrander stated that the necessary revisions would be made to bring the system up-to-date.

The fund drive, in charge of Lieutenant Paul Shultis, was scheduled to get underway in the near future. This is the first appeal for funds that Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 has made in several years. Necessary equipment and the cost of operation makes it necessary to conduct such a drive, said Lieutenant Shultis, who pointed out that the last such drive had culminated in the acquision of a portable pump and a tank truck for increased fire protection for the district.

Confirmation Rite Set at Christ Lutheran

The rite of Confirmation will be observed at Christ Lutheran Church in Woodstock Sunday. Seven young adults will rectify baptismal vows and receive the Sacrament of Holy Communion for the first time. Their names are: Steve Bryant, Deborah Deede, Joseph Dunn, David Holumzer, Susan Moseman, Rita Stonehouse and Dawn Tyler.

Certificates of recognition will be given to the following young adults who have completed the first year of catechetical instruction: Ellen Fuchs, Peter Gerdts, Cindy Peterson, Carol Ann Schussler, Kevin Tyler, James Weider and Jessie Wolf.

A special meeting of the congregation will be held Tuesday, May 19, at 8 p. m. at the church and will have as its purpose the consideration of the next step in the building program.

Wiltwyck Steel Band OnJohnnyCarsonShow

On Monday night, May 11, the Wiltwyck Steel Drum Band, under the direction of Barbara Moncure of Woodstock, performed on the Johnny Carson show, along with guest stars Patti Page and Harry Belafonte.

Belafonte expressed keen interest in the Wiltwyck School and is helping to raise money for the new Wiltwyck School which is under construction in Yorktown Heights.

The band played "The Happy Wanderer" and the calypso number "Mathilda" in honor of Belafonte, who is probably most widely known for his calypso singing.

The Wiltwyck African band, under the direction of Godwin Oyewole of Nigeria, will be performing in a very exciting scene in the Coach House Players sixth annual production "The Secret of Sordan", to be given at the George Washington School on May 22 and May 23.

Important Topic For CC Meeting

The Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce has alerted its membership to an important meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at Deanie's.

The meeting notice states that the reduction of peddlers fees to $2.00 from an original $25.00 is detrimental to the merchants and residents of the town. It urges a large attendance of Chamber members to plan Chamber action. A public hearing on the peddlers ordinance has been set for May 20 by the Town Board.

Other matters to be discussed are operating policies for the new information center and a proposal to publish a regular Chamber newsletter.

Senior Citizens

The monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens of Woodstock will be held Tuesday evening, May 19, at the Overlook Methodist Church hall. All persons 60 years and over are welcome.

Christian Science: Mortal, Immortals

Mortality is a dream from which we need to be awakened. This is the theme of the Bible Lesson to be heard at Christian Science churches on Sunday. The subject will be "Mortals and Immortals," and the Golden Text is from Ephesians (5:14): "Awake thou that sleepest and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this: "Mortal existence is a dream; mortal existence has no real entity, but saith 'It is I.' Spirit is the Ego which never dreams, but understands all things; which never errs, and is ever conscious; which never believes, but knows; which is never born and never dies" (p. 250).

Five Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Pennsylvania counties have been designated by the Department of Agriculture as disaster areas eligible for emergency conservation aid because of March floods and heavy rains.

They are Armstrong, Bradford, Clinton, Susquehanna and Wyoming.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who made the announcement Wednesday, also reported that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has approved a $70,000 payment to the Pennsylvania Stabilization Conservation Committee to help farmers in the five counties.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Ninety Kentucky teenagers in this area dedicate as much time to playing classical music as many of their peers do listening to rock'n'roll. The Central Kentucky Youth Symphony is now in its 16th year.

Sees Moon Trip Before 1970 If Funds Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — This country still has a fighting chance to explore the moon before 1970, if Congress provides enough money, says James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Webb made the statement in testimony to a House Appropriations subcommittee April 7. It was released today.

Webb said NASA had to make revisions in its timetable after cuts in its proposed budget last year. But, he said, with approval of funds NASA now is asking, it can still set important target dates and have a fighting chance to complete the manned space flights planned and proceed to the lunar exploration in this decade.

"We hope that Congress will give us this fighting chance," he said.

Later, Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y., asked Webb if he honestly felt there was a reasonable chance of making the moon target in this decade.

"Yes, sir," Webb replied. "If it takes more than 15 Saturn flights we will not make it in this decade. Our judgment is that we can do it within the 15 and we can do the 15 flights within this decade."

The Saturn is the rocket planned to launch the moon flight.

NASA has asked $2.67 billion in the coming year for its moon program, known as Apollo.

Population Called Primary Factor In Representation

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—The New York State League of Women Voters contends that population should be a primary consideration in representation in the State Legislature, but other factors should be weighed.

Mrs. Robert Richman of Scarsdale, chairman of the league's apportionment committee, said in a consensus report Wednesday the league believed that "population should be the only basis of representation in one house."

"In the second house," she said, "population should be a factor, but we have not determined as yet what weight should be given it, or what other factors should be included."

About 300 delegates attended the two-day meeting, which ended Wednesday.

The report did not indicate which house—Senate or Assembly—should be apportioned solely on the basis of population.

Both houses currently are apportioned in accordance with a 70-year-old formula that employs a combination of geographical and population factors to determine the representation of each county.

Army Removing Last of Creaky Viet Choppers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has virtually completed withdrawal of creaky, old "flying banana" helicopters from South Viet Nam and has replaced them with new turbine powered choppers.

Informed sources told The Associated Press today that the last of the old and combat-battered CH21 helicopters, called flying bananas because of their shape, should be out of Viet Nam within 60 days.

The changeover has been in progress quietly for months and more than 100 of the UH-1 turbine engine helicopters already are in South Viet Nam.

It was understood that the old choppers no longer were being flown on combat missions.

Pentagon sources said the more dependable, more maneuverable UH-1 machines have been shipped to South Viet Nam brand new and that a significant portion of the Army's helicopter buy is earmarked for that war.

This information became available as controversy swirled about the Pentagon. Congressional critics contend obsolete equipment is being used by U.S. forces supporting the South Vietnamese in their war against the Communist guerrillas.

Only a Few Minutes from Wherever You Live

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The wild shock of hair is thinner, the frame seems slighter than it did when covered by satin robes. But the hands of Blackstone the magician remains as supple and steady as when they baffled audiences from coast to coast.

At 78, Harry Blackstone lives in Hollywood and still keeps in touch with his magical art.

Noe Retired—Just Tired

"I'm not retired—just tired," he cracks.

Blackstone is the sole survivor of the great era of American magic that also produced such names as Houdini, Keller and Thurston. All mounted big shows that played theaters and vaudeville houses in the first few decades of this century. Blackstone was the last to leave the field.

"I quit eight years ago," he said. "I lost $35,000 one year, $60,000 the next and $90,000 the next.

"I just couldn't buck television. People didn't want to pay $5.50 a seat to watch magic when they could stay at home for nothing and watch television and drink beer."

His 200 major tricks were put into storage in Hollywood, New York City, Philadelphia, York, Pa., and his longtime home at Colon, Mich.

Many are major productions; he figures his girl-in-levitation stunt cost $17,008 to conceive. Of late he has been selling the tricks to professional and amateur magicians—one famous Hollywood figure has bought several.

Split-Second Timing

Blackstone timed those tricks to the split-second and cherished each one, yet he parts with them without regret. He looks cheerfully back on a life and career that were full and gratifying.

He was infected with the magic virus in 1898, when he saw a performance of the great Keller in Chicago. The boy sneaked out his bedroom window to see the show again and his return was discovered by his father. When young Harry confessed where he had gone, his father said, "Why didn't you tell me? I'd have gone with you."

Father and son saw the show every night for a week, and Harry met Keller backstage. The trouper's advice on how to be a magician: "By using that part of your anatomy from your neck up."

Blackstone began in amateur shows, then was able to leave his steel foundry job for his first professional date: playing a St. Paul hotel with a brand-new movie, "The Great Train Robbery."

In his prime he traveled with a troupe of 37 and earned as much as $6,600 a day during a Norfolk date in the 1920s.

He lives with his cheery wife in a Hollywood apartment containing mementoes of his past. He often appears at the nearby Magic Castle, club for magic men and their guests, and will make appearances "for anyone foolish enough to hire me."

Methodists Confer

GOUVERNEUR, N.Y. (AP)—The First Methodist Church here was the scene today for the opening of the 92nd annual meeting of the Northern New York Conference of the Methodist Church.

About 300 delegates, representing 46,600 Methodists and 265 churches, were scheduled to attend the four-day session.

Bishop W. Ralph Ward of the Syracuse area of the Methodist Church was to preside.

Included on today's agenda was the election of conference officers.

When Staying in Someone's House, Rise Early

Q—When I do not have to go to the office, I like to sleep late. Would it be proper to do this when a guest in someone else's house?

A—Unless you are staying with very close relatives or friends who do not mind your sleeping late and getting your own breakfast when you arise, a guest is expected to conform to the schedule of the family with which he or she is staying—rising when they do and taking his or her meals at their hour.

Wife Excluded in Note of Sympathy

Q—My husband received a note of sympathy from a couple who are friends of both my husband and me; yet this note was addresses to him alone and began, "Dear John . . ." I think is should have read, "Dear John and Sue" and should have been addresses to Mr. and Mrs. Am I right? The deceased was my husband's brother.

A—The death of your husband's brother was essentially your husband's loss and addressing the note of sympathy to him alone was not wrong and in no way slighting to you.

A Widow Announces Her Engagement

Q—I am a widow and will soon become engaged to a man who was also married before. I was planning to send an announcement of my engagement to the newspaper but have been told that this is not in good taste when the parties involved have been married before. Is this so?

A—The engagement of a widow is generally and properly announced by both her and her fiance telling friends and relatives shortly before the wedding. However, she may, if she chooses, give the announcement to the newspaper.

Pinch Home Run Ignites Rally In 6th Inning

John Eccleston led off with a pinch hit home run to right field to trigger a three-run sixth inning rally, as Kingston High defeated Saugerties High, 8-5, in a non-league baseball game Wednesday at Dietz Stadium.

Eccleston's liner over the right fielder's head broke a 5-5 tie Saugerties had created with two runs in the top half of the sixth.

Vince Fisher, the winning pitcher, Lou Perry and Nick Berardi followed Eccleston's slam with singles. Paul Gruner flied deep to center and Jack Schatzel singled to complete the three-run rally.

The win was the seventh in nine decisions for Coach Al Gruner's Maroons, who had a crucial DUSO League engagement today at Port Jervis.

Fisher, who pitched the last 5 innings for Kingston, was the winner. Joe Schabot was relieved after yielding three runs in the first two innings. Art Sperl and Bruce Owens pitched for Saugerties, the latter getting tagged with the loss.

Walks Help Maroons

Five bases on balls figured in Kingston's first five runs. With one out in the second, Sperl loaded the bases on successive walks to Ed Mills, Marshall Suskie and Gary Johnson. Schabot's single up the middle scored Mills and Suskie.

In the Kingston fourth, Sperl loaded the bases with none out on Mike Canning's double and walks to Mills and Suskie. Owens came in and got Johnson and Fisher on popups. He seemed to be out of the woods but Perry slashed a single scoring Canning and Mills and Berardi's hit delivered Suskie.

A double by Martin and Bonack's single behind a walk to leadoff Mike Brady gave Saugerties a temporary 2-0 lead in the first inning. With two out in the second, Sperl singled to right, reached second on a passed ball and scored on Brady's single to put the Sawyers ahead, 3-2.

Ronnie Maye tripled Steve Bonack home in the Saugerties sixth and scored the tying run when Gruner miscued on Ed Hurley's liner to left.

Perry and Berardi collected two hits each for Kingston. Bonack hit two singles for the Sawyers.

Joe Louis Is 50; Rates Conn Bout His Toughest

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "How does it feel to be 50?," a man asked Joe Louis. He got a typical Louis answer.

"I don't know. This is the first time I've been 50."

The old Brown Bomber wasn't being a wise guy. He was in character. Just like the night he said "He can run, but he can't hide" before his second fight with Billy Conn after the war.

"I feel pretty good," Louis said at a birthday party held appropriately enough on the 50th floor of a hotel in midtown. "If I feel half as good at 100 I'll feel fine."

Louis lives in Los Angeles most of the time with his third wife, Martha, a lawyer. He has two children by his first wife. They live in Chicago. His daughter, Jacqueline Louis Barrow, is 21 and his son, Joe Louis Barrow, will be 18 this month and getting rready to go to college next fall in Pennsylvania or Connecticut.

Likes Golf

The Brown Bomber of old keeps himself busy making personal appearances, doing public relations work, refereeing and doing a little promoting.

Still reasonably fit at 235 pounds, 22 more than he weighed for his last fight in 1951 with Rocky Marciano, Louis plays golf as often as possible. They say he is a five-handicap golfer.

"My toughest fight was the first Billy Conn fight," he told newsmen. That was in 1941.

"Billy Conn was the best man I ever fought. The fighters of those days — Jersey Joe Walcott, Jimmy Bivins, Abe Simon —about 15 of them could beat today's crop."

Of the present crop, Louis still rates Sonny Liston the best.

"He got whipped fighting a guy with one arm," said Louis of the Liston-Cassius Clay fight. "I still think Liston is the best fighter in the world today. I think, if he gets a chance, he'll win it back. Clay is a good enough fighter, but unfortunately he belongs to the Black Muslims. A heavyweight champion represents all the people."

Rosendale Ski Club Set to Host State Meet Feb. 7

The Rosendale Nordic Ski Club Inc. has been tentatively awarded the New York State championship cross country race, a sanctioned cross country meet and junior cross country competition, it was announced today.

William P. Curran, club president, said the club was tentatively awarded the state 15 kilometer cross country championship race—scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 7, 1965 at Rosendale—at the 43rd Annual Convention of the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association over the past weekend at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake. He also announced at a special meeting of the club this week at Williams Lake Hotel, Rosendale, that the Rosendale Ski Club will host and sponsor the championship race, at which more than 60 of the best cross country skiers in the eastern part of the country will compete. He said that a day earlier the Eastern Championship will be held in Salisbury, Conn.

Rosendale has also been selected as the tentative site for a sanctioned cross country meet on Jan. 24, 1965 for a 15 kilometer men's Class A and B competition and women's 5-7 kilometers to be sponsored by the Rip Van Winkle Council at the Rosendale Cross Country Course on Feb. 22, 1965.

Curran and Walter E. Williams, delegate to the U.S.E.A.S.A. convention, said that the championship meet will be held at the Rosendale Cross Country Trail at Williams Lake.

They said that C. Allison Merrill, ski coach at Dartmouth University, past winter coach of the U. S. Olympic skiing team and newly-elected president of the U.S.E.A.S.A., assured them that he would make every effort to have the various college competitors skiing in the Feb. 6 Eastern championship competition at Salisbury to participate the following day in the state championship competition at Rosendale. They said that the only Eastern college skiers who will possibly miss the Rosendale tournament will be the combined cross country participants who will be jumping the following day at the Salisbury tourney for the Eastern combined championship.

Indian Triples Edge Yanks 10-9

A bases-loaded triple by Tony Baptiste followed by a game-winning three bagger by Dan Sonnenberg gave the Indians a dramatic 10-9 victory over the Yankees in the Woodstock Little League.

Ironically, the fifth and final inning in which they lost the ball game, was the only frame in which the home team Yanks failed to score.

The Indians came up with two tallies in the opening inning but the Yankees bounced back with five. The home nine racked up two more in the bottom of the second. The Indians had four-run splurge in the third but the Yanks added single runs in their half of both the third and fourth for a 9-6 advantage. After Baptiste cleared the bags and scored on back-to-back triples by himself and Sonnenberg, who took over the pitching chores, Sonnenberg held the Yanks scoreless in the final frame and sewed up the game.

Sonnenberg shared the pitching duty with Baptiste and was credited with the win. They gave up 13 hits to the Yanks. The losers' T. Graham and F. Turck allowed only five hits to the Braves. Turck and P. Johnson slammed 3-for-4 each for the Yanks while teammates C. Horsey slammed a triple and Turck and W. Jameson rapped a two-bagger, each.

Texas Pro Fires Seven Under Par In Okie City Open

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A Texas golf professional served notice to Arnold Palmer and other top pros in the $40,000 Oklahoma City Open, which got under way with a field of 158 Thursday, that he is to be reckoned with.

Chunky Miller Barber, 33, of San Antonio, carded a seven-under-par 65 over Quail Creek Country Club's water-soaked 7,042-yard course Wednesday for individual honors in the pro-amateur event.

Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., finished second to Barber with a 66.

There are nine amateurs in the 72-hole competition.

A windy, dry and warm day was forecast. Players carried cards listing the Times Air Force jets will break the sound barrier overhead, setting off loud booms that could prove costly. The sonic booms are part of the Federal Aviation Agency program to learn their effects on people and property.

Defending champion Don Fairfield, who tied for fourth place in the Tournament of Champions two weeks ago at Las Vegas, is back this year seeking first prize money of $5,800.

Other strong contenders include Mike Souchak, Art Wall Jr., Tommy Jacobs, Bruce Devlin, Al Besselink and Bruce Crampton. Other big money winners entered include Dave Marr Gay Brewer Jr., Lionel Hebert, Johnny Pott, Bob Rosburg, Tommy Aaron, Jay Hebert, Ray Floyd, Kel Nagle and Bob Goalby.

Indians were outhit 9-7 but took a 10-4 win over the Braves in an Esopus Legion Little League game at the Braves' home diamond.

The visitors held a 4-2 margin until the top of the fifth when they erupted with four tallies. They added two more in their half of the final frame, when the Braves came up with two runs but fell short of a chance for victory.

Rick Albright belted a double and two singles out of four trips to the plate for the winners while teammates Ralph Deve had a double and single in four trips and Gary Leone slammed a triple. Pete Wenzel, Ron White and Billy Gray each rapped a double for the losers. Catcher Gray and teammate Vince Provenzano went 2-for-3 for the Braves, Russ McElrath the winning pitcher, and Jim Wood, the loser each went the distance.

No-Hit Ace Is Finally A Winner

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ken Johnson has given everyone the no-hit Willies again, including Mays.

Johnson, the hard-luck Houston right-hander who hadn't won in a month despite pitching a no-hitter, found the ball bouncing his way for a change Wednesday night and wound up the winner as the Colts made the most of two bad-hop hits in a 2-1 victory over National League leading San Francisco.

For six innings, Johnson was even better than he was April 23 when he set the Cincinnati Reds down without a hit but lost 1-0 on two errors in the ninth inning. This time, Johnson was leading 1-0 and working on a perfect game.

So perfect, in fact, that Willie Mays hadn't hit the ball fair in two trips to the plate, fouling out and striking out. Then, in the seventh, Jesus Alou smacked Johnson's first pitch for a double and Matty Alou followed with a single—bringing up Mays.

Mays Handcuffed

Mays, however, couldn't get it out of the infield this time either, hitting a grounder as Jesus Alou was trapped in a rundown between second and third. Johnson then got out of the jam and got a couple of breaks in the bottom of the inning.

With two out, a shot by Bob Aspromonte ricocheted past first baseman Orlando Cepeda for a double and Rusty Staub sent him to third by lining a drive that skipped past shortstop Jose Pagan. Ron Herbel came on in relief of Bob Hendley at this point and proceeded to wild-pitch the decisive run across.

Johnson left in the eighth, but eventually wound up with his first victory since April 18.

And Mays, faced with his first hitless performance since the third game of the season, eventually wound up with his only hit in four trips, singling off Hal Woodeshick in the ninth. That extended his hitting streak to 20 games, although his batting average dropped 10 points to .468.

Mets Top Braves

Only one other National League game was played, the New York Mets defeating Milwaukee 5-2. Three games were rained out—Los Angeles at Chicago, St. Louis at Philadelphia and Cincinnati at Pittsburgh.

In American League action, the Chicago White Sox whipped Minnesota 5-1, Cleveland defeated Boston 3-0 in a game held to six innings by rain and in a twi-nighter the Los Angeles Angels won the opener from Kansas City 9-0 before the A's took the nightcap 2-0.

The New York Yankees and Detroit were locked in a 1-1 tie after six innings when rain postponed their game. Baltimore and Washington also were washed out.

Diehards Can't Ignore Mays; Willie Do It?

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays has wiped out all remaining doubt concerning his place among the all-time baseball greats. He is the acknowledged king of center fielders today. There is hardly a dissenting voice.

Even the diehards among the veteran coterie, always loyal to their contemporaries, agree that the San Francisco Special rates high among the all-time great center fielders.

This was put into greater focus by Mays' tremendous getaway this season, a scorching start that promises to bring new and greater honors to the player who has been the heartbeat of the Giants through 12 brilliant seasons.

At his current pace, Willie, ever the spectacular fielder and base runner, threatens not only to become baseball's first .400 hitter in 23 years but has an outside chance to surpass the home run records of Babe Ruth and Roger Maris.

Septuagenarian Casey Stengel, who has seen all the great center fielders of the last 50 years, speaks of Mays in the same breath with Tris Speaker and Joe DiMaggio.

"I had Mickey Mantle," said Stengel, "but I've got to say who is better than Mays today?

"Next to DiMaggio and Speaker, Mays has got to be the best center fielder and I've seen some 15 good ones. Fellows like Edd Roush, Max Carey, Terry Moore, Happy Felsch and Jigger Statz.

"Mays has a chance to wind up with DiMaggio and Speaker. He's got all the points. He can field, throw, run, hit and hit with power. . . and he makes it look easy. There was never a player who made it look easier than DiMaggio.

"Mantle belongs with those fellows, too. He might even be better than Mays if he could keep from getting hurt. I would like to have seen how far Mantle could go without those injuries."

Frankie Frisch, a staunch defender of the past, said he found it difficult to choose between DiMaggio and Mays for top rating among the center fielders.

"I can't make a choice between them," he said. "DiMaggio could do everything. So can Mays. Joe had that something extra. So does Mays. I'd break my neck to have either one on my team."

Hubbell also called it a photo finish between DiMaggio and Mays.

Ticket Demand Heavy To Hear Negro Soprano

EDITOR'S NOTE — Racial lines have been erased in much of Atlanta's cultural life — the theater, movies, art galleries and concerts — as well as in governmental and business affairs. Underscoring these changes is an appearance by Leontyne Price, the Negro opera star, before an integrated audience.

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Ticket demands have been overwhelming for tonight's Metropolitan Opera performance of "Don Giovanni," starring Leontyne Price, the Negro soprano.

Everybody, it seems, selected tonight and the seats have been sold out for a long, long time," said Alfred D. Kennedy, president of the Atlanta Music Festival Association Inc.

Warm Home Reception

Miss Price, who started her climb to stardom as Bess in the 1952 revival of "Porgy and Bess," got warm receptions from integrated audiences in her hometown of Laurel, Miss., in two appearances there — the latest about a year and one-half ago.

Integration of cast and audience here is not one of Kennedy's worries. He moans over the ticket crush and the one-week Atlanta opera season. All performances have been sold out.

He said special arrangements were made for Dr. and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. for the performance. King is head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a civil rights organization.

No Trouble Yet

Opera audiences in Atlanta were desegregated three years ago and there has been no trouble.

Concerts, theaters, art galleries, all major moviehouses and some nightclubs—including clubs operated by Negroes—have removed segregation bars in the past few years.

White patrons often dine with Negroes in many restaurants. Major hotels and motels downtown also are integrated.

All city-owned facilities, including recreational facilities, are desegregated.

"There are so many cultural activities that have opened up —and so many Negroes are not taking advantage of them," said Mrs. King. "It just takes time.

"But Atlanta is making progress."

Two Are Accused In Frying-Pan Death of Woman

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Two unemployed laborers are accused of first-degree murder in the frying-pan beating of a woman 17 months ago.

The body of Mrs. Zelma W. Moore, 60, was found Nov. 21, 1962, in her living room in an apartment house she owned.

Police said she had been beaten on the head and killed with a skillet that was found broken under a kitchen table.

Roy Williams, 27, and Frank E. Christon, 38, both of Syracuse, were arrested Wednesday and charged with the crime.

Police said the two had been questioned frequently and kept under surveillance since discovery of the body.

Robbery appeared to be the motive, police said. A fur coat and wrist watch, believed missing from the apartment have not been located, they said, and it has not been determined whether any money was taken.

Christon and Williams are Negroes, as was Mrs. Moore.

Past and Future of Paltz College

units on a two-semester plan, the college's full-time enrollment totaled 2,563.

Payment to Help

It was noted by speakers at the luncheon that the monies to be spent on the expansion program, will be reimbursed in a large measure by tuitions and dormitory payments from students over the course of years.

Dr. Haggerty pointed out that year-round operation seeks to raise full-time enrollment through increased utilization of existing facilities. He noted that the construction total announced Wednesday afternoon does not include the cost of three other buildings which are also part of the master plan program. Occupancy of the new Fine Arts Building, which cost $2.5 million, was begun in January, 1963. Under construction are a health and physical education building costing $1,885,000, and a new science building, costing $2,422,000.

Big Change by 1970

The college president stated that in 1970, the campus of the College at New Paltz, will bear little resemblance to the one now in use.

The fine arts building and the science building under construction will be important segments of a greatly expanded academic core, which will be constructed in a generally rectanguler form on a north-to-south line from Plattekill Avenue. Dr. Haggerty reported.

Other buildings comprising the core will be the humanities-social science building, lecture hall, library, a second science building connecting to one under construction, and the Student Union, Dr. Haggerty said.

Invocation at the luncheon was given by the Rev. Joseph W. Hickey, and the program concluded with benediction by the Rev. Frederick S. Wandall.

Members of Board

Among members of the college board introduced were Mrs. Vincent Connelly (Bertha Herwig) president of the Alumni Association; George V. D. Hutton and Lawrence A. Quilty, all of Kingston, Senator Ogden E. Bush was presented to the luncheon audience of about 300 persons.

After the luncheon, about 2,500 students faculty and guests gathered for a college convocation in a large tent. President Haggerty presided and Mrs. Connelly brought greetings from the Alumni.

Other speakers at yesterday's event were, Clifton Flather, of the State Dormitory Authority, and David W. Traub, general manager of State University Construction Fund.

Miss Jane Little, associate dean of students, conducted the ceremonies for the filling of cornerstone boxes for three domitories—Scudder, Bliss and Gage Halls. Dr. Loren D. Campbell, chairman of the physical education division was in charge of cornerstone ceremonies for Elting gymnasium, and Dr. James C. Gray, chairman of the science and mathematics division, conducted similar activities related to the Coykendall science building.

Representing the faculty at the ceremonies was Dr. Roland Will, professor of education who has been a member of the faculty for 32 years. Judge Schwartz presented and extended greetings from the Council of the College.

Secretary 30 Years

College Council Secretary LeFevre, who has held that office the past 30 years and is chairman of the council's committee on naming buildings, announced the names for the gymnasium, science building and the five new dormitories and dining hall being planned.

He explained that Elting gymnasium was named after the Elting family, one member of whom served on the Board of Trustees of the New Paltz Academy, the institution that preceeded the State Normal School in 1885. The Coykendall science building, LeFevre said, was named for Edward Coykendall who served on the College Board of Visitors from 1938 until his death in 1949. The Coykendall family, he pointed out, is also the donor of a large set of prints and pictures which are now a part of the College Art Collection.

Following the convocation, the audience was invited to participate in the laying of cornerstones for the five buildings. The Smiley Building, College Theatre, College Art Gallery and Elting Gymnasium were then opened for inspection by the visitors.

The invocation at the Convocation was given by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom. Greetings were extended on behalf of the students of the college by John Wirchansky, president of the Student Government Association.

Filling of the cornerstone boxes for Scudder, Bliss and Gage Halls was in charge of Miss Jane Little, associate dean of students. Dr. Loren D. Campbell, chairman of the physical education division, presided at the Elting gymnasium cornerstone box filling event, and Dr. James C. Gray, chairman of the science and mathematics division, was in charge of the cornerstone box filling ceremony at the Coykendall science building.

Greetings by Dr. Will

Greetings on behalf of the college faculty were extended by Dr. Roland Will, professor of education, and Judge Schwartz spoke for the College council.

Laying of the cornerstones was followed by benediction by the Rev. Gerret J. Wullschleger.

The College Art Gallery will be open to visitors today from 7 to 8 p. m., and a faculty music recital will be presented in the College theatre at 8 p. m. This will be the inauguration of the College Theatre for music.

On Friday the college art gallery will be open from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., and a student presentation of Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing, is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the College Theatre. This will mark the inauguration of the College Theatre for drama.

Saturday Program

Saturday's program will include visitations at the College Art Gallery from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m., and the second student presentation about Much Ado About Nothing, is slated for 2:30 in the theater. An all-college dance is scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Parker Dining hall, and at 8:30 p. m. the third presentation of Much Ado About Nothing is scheduled.

Long, Hard

Before leaving Saigon, McNamara said marked progress had been made in implementing plans to increase the strength and firepower of the Vietnamese air force.

But in Honolulu he sidestepped a question of whether structural failure had led to the losses of some planes used in the war—a possibility, Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert conceded in a letter to Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee released in Washington Wednesday.

The war effort will be long and drawn out, "we should not delude ourselves on this score," McNamara said. At the same time he said he had never estimated the possible length of the war.

Some earlier reports from Saigon (not Associated Press) quoted him as saying the war would last five to 10 years.

"I was misquoted in Saigon," McNamara declared at Pearl Harbor.

Gotham May Send

zations interested in conducting local Pageants and sending a contestant to the State Pageant. To date 23 contestants are assured but the number may reach 26 or 27. A limit of 28 contestants can be accommodated in the 1964 Miss New York State Pageant. The final date for accepting contestants in the State Pageant is June 6. Three local groups who now hold territory franchise contracts are not certain at the present time, if they will send a contestant to the state competition this year.

Final plans for the state pageant are now taking shape. The plans to finance the cost of staging the 3-day show, through the sale of patron tickets at a nominal price, will be announced shortly.

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A 16-year-old high school boy must report to police headquarters Saturday to work out a sentence imposed because he took the keys from an idling police car as a "joke."

He must wax and polish the police ambulance and then report to the police chief for "a little talk."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

Retired, Family Grown, Should He Invest More?

Q) "I retired early with pension, annuity and Social Security totaling about $8,500 annually. My family consists of a wife and 4 children. The two oldest are college graduates, third in college, and fourth in private school. I own 800 Sperry Rand 50 Chase Manhattan, 60 Armour, 60 Hugoton Production, 200 Panhandle/Eastern Pipe Line, and have $40,000 in savings bank. Do you think I should put some of my savings in the stock market? What would you advise?" — C. W.

A) I should like first to commend you for the excellent way in which you've managed your finances and educated your family.

In view of the relatively high level of the market and your present stake in it, I would withdraw no more than $10,000 out of savings to put into stocks.

I suggest strong growth issues of the caliber of Corn Products and Texaco, both of which have a consistent record of increasing dividends annually in recent years.

Q) "At present I hold shares of General Electric and some mutual funds. I would like to sell my stocks and with the proceeds and some other funds purchase $4,500 in municipal or state tax-exempts. My tax bracket is low, but I want to have less headaches with income tax. I also want to plan a future for my children. What do you advise?" — J. B.

A) Much as I like tax-exempts, I don't believe that in your position I would sell my few stocks to buy them. Furthermore, tax-exempts in blocks of less than $5,000 are sometimes difficult to market—except at a discount from the normal price — if you need to raise funds.

Tax-exempts, like all fixed income securities, cannot grow in principal but your stocks can and I believe will — to provide you with inflation protection and to benefit your children in later years.

"I have enjoyed the work all these years," he worte, "although sometimes the going was rough. But I tried to please the public, so they would leave the office or hang up the receiver with some kind of smile. It has been a great pleasure working with you all, and I thank you."

The board directed Mayor John J. Schwenk, as board president, to express its regrets, and he wrote:

"The commissioners of the Board of Public Works have directed me to express their sincere regret that you will be leaving the board as of June nineteenth, 1964, and to extend to you their deepest gratitude for the 30 years of outstanding service you have given our city.

"Since your appointment in 1933 as auditor, your promotion to assistant secretary in 1936, and your appointment in 1938 as administrative assistant, you have played a part in most of the important steps toward progress in the City of Kingston.

"And, in addition to your service as a key civic official, your devotion to the city's fire protection, culminating in your present position as Deputy Fire Chief of the volunteers, serves as a testimony to your extraordinary sense of civic responsibility.

"I am sure that the other mayors under whom you have served, namely Mayors Carey, Walker, Heiselman, Edelmuth, Newkirk, Stang, and Radel, join me in my conviction that Kingston has been fortunate to have such a devoted civil servant as you for more than three decades.

"In closing, may I express the best wishes of the commissioners, your fellow municipal employees, and the people of Kingston, as well as my own hope that you will enjoy many happy and fruitful years of retirement."

Pauline Frazier was hanging clothes when the doomed plane whined in, its nose high. "When I saw it go through the telephone lines, I ran in the house and screamed for my husband," she said.

Six other houses suffered minor damage from the shower of flaming debris.

Police first reported seven killed. Later Chief Nick Janise said two bodies proved to be those of animals, presumably pets.

Storms Hit Upstate

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains and high winds raked parts of New York State today, knocking out electricity in a broad area, hampering travel, and contributing to the death toll.

Two persons perished during the overnight storm, which came on top of a stiff storm last weekend.

Nearly an inch of rain had fallen and the storm continued.

Near Liverpool, a suburb of Syracuse, 2,400 homes were without power for nearly two hours today when heavy rain caused a short in a high voltage transmission line. Tree limbs blown down by winds knocked out power to hundreds of homes in Rome and the Madison County community of Chittenango.

McNamara Now

Lodge Employs Escort Plan He Used for Nikita

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge escorted Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara safely into Saigon from the airport Tuesday with a technique he used in getting Soviet Premier Khrushchev from the United Nations building in New York in 1960.

This was the reason, informed sources said today, that the vehicle bringing McNamara and Lodge into Saigon left the main convoy at an intersection and made its way into town along a crowded, unguarded thoroughfare.

Lodge reportedly made the choice because of the successs of such tactics in getting Khrushchev safely to his residence from the United Nations after his widely reported shoe-banging episode there.

"It worked with Khrushchev. So why not with McNamara?" Lodge was reported as saying as he directed his driver away from the heavily guarded motorcade. Many American security men were unaware that Lodge was taking the unguarded route.

Prior to McNamara's arrival, American security had selected three routes into Saigon, two of them heavily secured. Two days prior to the McNamara visit three Communist Viet Cong agents had been surprised mining a bridge on the main route.

By selecting the unguarded thoroughfare, Lodge figured that Viet Cong agents planning anything would be caught off guard, informed sources said.

New Paltz Man Held Following 'Cycle Accident

David Burger, 23, of RD 3, Box 154, New Paltz, was booked on two charges after a motorcycle he rode veered across Pearl Street Wednesday and struck a shrub tree on the property of Mrs. John Ward, 119 Pearl Street.

Burger, who indicated he was living temporarily at 37 Elmendorf Street, was charged with lacking proof of insurance and operating an unregistered vehicle. He suffered an injury of the right leg and was taken by A & A ambulance to Kingston Hospital where his condition was reported satisfactory today. He is due in city court after he leaves the hospital.

Police were notified of the mishap at 5:27 p. m. Their report said the driver "lost control" of the cycle while it was in a driveway at 116 Pearl Street. Officers Anthony Turck and Weston Hoffay investigated.

Handbills Hit Vote

PANAMA (AP) — Handbills circulated in Panama City Wednesday night charging fraud in the presidential election and calling for a general strike.

The unsigned leaflets reported a charge by supporters of ex-President Arnulfo Arias that returns had been rigged in Sunday's vote to elect government candidate Marco Robles.

The National Electoral Tribunal announced Wednesday night that final returns gave Robles 134,627 votes and Arias 123,186.

There was no public response Wednesday night to the anonymous strike call. The National Guard remained on the alert and searched cars of Arias supporters, apparently for arms.

Won't Dictate Choice for GOP, Eisenhower Says

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today he will not attempt to dictate a choice for the Republican presidential nomination, nor try to block any of the most prominently mentioned candidates.

"I, by no means, believe that it is proper for me to say 'This is the man,' and expect all the Republicans, just like a herd of sheep, to run that way," Eisenhower said.

"I just don't think that is either practical or wise," he told a trainside news conference after returning from a five-month vacation in Southern California.

Eisenhower, talking freely and apparently enjoying the session with the newsmen, refused to be pinned down on his personal choice, or be budged from his position of neutrality.
